Certified Levy History by Unit, 2006-2010

Prepared by the Department of Local Government Finance
April 5, 2010

Key Findings

After a 30.7% decline in total statewide levy from 2008 to 2009, attributable to the state assumption of school general fund, school pre-school special education, and county welfare levies, the overall statewide levy in the counties reporting to date is up by 3.3% from 2009 to 2010. This is just under the statewide maximum levy growth factor of 3.8% for 2010. 35 of 87 counties reporting to date show a total countywide levy growth that meets or exceeds the 2010 maximum levy growth factor of 3.8%. Nine counties have shown an increase in total levy greater than 10% from 2009 to 2010 – they are Carroll, Clark, Decatur, Greene, Harrison, Montgomery, Newton, Putnam, and Starke. These large increases are primarily due to increases in fund levies that are outside maximum levy controls, like school debt service funds, emergency fire loans and other debt service funds. By contrast, two counties have shown a double-digit percentage decrease in their total levies: Ohio and Brown. By unit type, the largest percentage increases in levies are found in conservancy districts (6.3% increase), municipalities (3.7% increase), and libraries (3.6% increase).

Data and Methodology

Certified levies represent the portion of each unit of government's budget that is funded by property taxes. This total levy is then divided by the total base net assessed value for each fund in the unit to arrive at the gross tax rate. The figures used in this report are taken from each county's Department-certified budget order; if a county has not yet received a certified budget order for 2010, their units are listed as "Not Yet Available" for 2010 levies. For this analysis, we include all units that were active during any portion of the time series of the report. Thus, units who no longer levy property taxes are considered part of the historical totals and comparisons. This analysis does not include any state property tax levies (State Forestry Fund and State Fair levies) for any of the budget years included, even though such levies were in effect through budget year 2008.

Special units encompass a wide range of units levying property taxes, but that do not necessarily fit under other categories. They include airport authorities, solid waste districts, fire protection districts, public transportation districts, and consolidated city-county units.

It is important to note that beginning in pay 2009, there are substantial changes to the levies reflecting the state assumption of selected local expenditures, including county welfare funds, school pre-school special education and general funds, and a portion of municipal pre-1977 police and fire funds. This report reflects the actual levies for each unit in each year, so a large decrease from 2008 to 2009, especially in county and school units, is therefore expected.
