
HIGHWALLS...

...which can exceed 100 feet in height, are the unexcavated faces of overburden and coal in a surface mine. Left in place without re-grading, abandoned highwalls pose a falling hazard to users (e.g., dirt bikers, hikers, mountain bikers) of the site.