DEAR FRIENDS,

The arts are never more important than they are today for the quality of life and prosperity of the people of the State of Indiana. Last year the attendance at Indiana Arts Commission supported programs and organizations topped nine million, approximately one and a half times the population of our state. This number is quite a testament to the enthusiastic participation of our citizenry in something that increases the value and success of their lives and their communities.

Never before have the arts been more important to our prosperity. Not only is the arts sector of our state's economy significant, currently generating over 47,000 full time jobs in 11,000 arts-related businesses, but the arts make our state a preferred location for business and employee relocation and retention. The arts make Indiana a choice for workers who think and live creatively, those who are the most sought after workers in the world. According to US employers, creativity is one of the top three traits for career success, and the biggest indicator of creativity is education and participation in the arts.

Never before have the arts been more important to our quality of life. The arts not only bring to people's lives the inherent value of the art itself, but the arts are increasingly employed to creatively tackle issues in other vital areas such as healthcare, public safety, education and rural and urban development and revitalization.

Never before have the arts been more important to our building of community vision and values. The arts continue to be on the vanguard of increasing social understanding, embracing diversity, navigating community change, and engineering community development. They help us see and understand ourselves and others, and come together in positive ways that celebrate the Hoosier experience.

Indeed, you will find that all of the IAC's grants and programs have these three objectives at their heart: to advance the state's prosperity, to create a foundation for citizen quality of life, and to build inclusive and rich communities.

We invite you to enjoy this publication which starts with an overview of the IAC's investment and its effect on a state level, then breaks down this information by region, and then on a county level. As you look at the organizations and communities which have benefitted from IAC grants and services, We are sure you will find that you know neighbors, colleagues, artists, teachers, students, volunteers, leaders, businesses and citizens who are involved in them all. You, yourself, are quite likely to be a key participant in more than one outstanding arts opportunity documented in the report. For this, we and your fellow citizens thank you.

Keep up the good work and thank you for making the decision to invest in the arts! You will have to agree that the return on investment is staggering.

EVOLUTION OF THE INDIANA ARTS COMMISSION LOGO

1965-1999

Our first logo was a true testament to the pop art and minimalism movements that were so prevalent in the 1960's. The gorgeous geometric shapes spelling out IAC served us well for almost 50 years but nearing the new millennium we felt a need to modernize our logo to maintain a strong presence among our fellow Hoosiers.

1999-2005

Our second logo lasted us a little over half a decade. We loved the new emphasis on our great State of Indiana however, we felt that it now lacked emphasis on the arts.

2005-present

“Art” is the name of the man in our logo. We've been using the current “Art” logo since 2005. In early 2014, we made the decision that it was time to give “Art” a makeover, and we have to say, he's never looked better.

LET US INTRODUCE YOU TO THE NEW “ART”

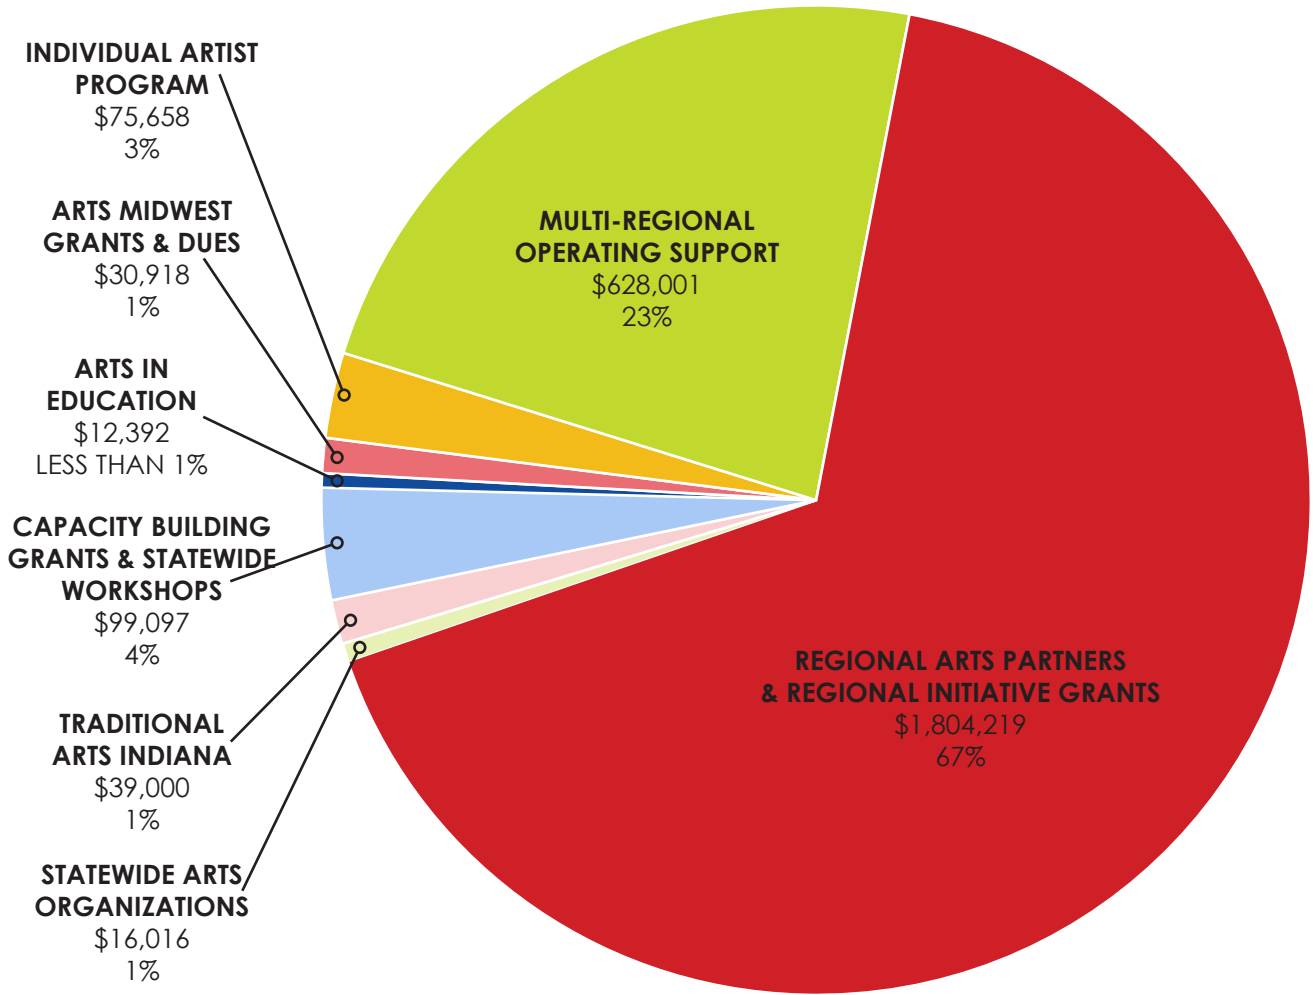

The Indiana Arts Commission strives to positively impact Indiana's citizens through the arts. We feel confident that the introduction of the new “Art” will help us in achieving that goal. The new “Art” is more progressive and animated. We feel he will be instrumental in engaging our fellow citizens in the arts. He is familiar enough to incite recognition of the commission yet different enough to promote the ever progressing nature of the State of Indiana.

INDIANA ARTS COMMISSION GRANT PROGRAMS

ARTS IN EDUCATION (AIE)

Funded primarily through interest income from revenue generated by the Celebrate the Arts license plate, this program was developed to help support in-classroom, arts-related learning projects. These projects partner schools and teaching artists to develop activities that impact student engagement and performance, and develop long-term commitment to the arts in Indiana schools at the primary and secondary level.

INDIVIDUAL ARTIST PROGRAM (IAP)

This program is designed to provide individual artists with grant assistance for specific projects that will help further their career development. Grants have been used to meet the artists' needs in promotion, business development, and developing and reaching new markets for their work. The program also encourages artists to develop projects that have a positive impact on their communities where they live and work.

CAPACITY BUILDING PROGRAM

Capacity Building Program grants assist established and emerging institutions and artists by building effective leadership, sound management practices, diverse financial resources, and successful partnerships. Applicants must be a private, nonprofit, tax-exempt agency, or Indiana public entity. Applicants scores are based on three key criteria: educational value; community participation and accessibility; and planning and evaluation.

MULTI-REGION ARTS OPERATING SUPPORT (AOS III)

Formerly known as Multi-regional Major Institutions, or Majors, this grant is for Indiana's largest arts organizations. Recipients must have a budget in excess of $1 million and a multi-regional service area with a focus on underserved communities and educational opportunities. These organizations provide significant economic and employment impact in the communities where they are located, and contribute to the economic and cultural tourism development of the entire state.

STATEWIDE ARTS SERVICE ORGANIZATIONS (SWASO)

This grant program helps strengthen the capacity of arts organizations offering training and or technical assistance services on a statewide basis. Such projects may include seminars, conferences, workshops and training sessions.

REGIONAL INITIATIVE GRANTS (RIG)

In most regions, there are three primary grant categories awarded for cultural programming providers. Grant amounts vary depending on a variety of factors.

Large Operating Support (AOS II)

This category is for organizations with annual cash incomes of $250,000 or more.

Small Operating Support (AOS I)

This category is for organizations with annual cash incomes of $249,999 or less.

Project Support (APS)

Arts Project Support grants are designed for cultural program providers that do not have a primary arts-focused mission. Many libraries, universities, public schools, and community centers qualify for this grant category.

OTHER STATEWIDE EFFORTS

TRADITIONAL ARTS INDIANA (TAI)

This partnership between the IAC and Indiana University's Folklore & Ethnomusicology Department documents, promotes, and presents Indiana's traditional arts and artists, particularly those practicing art forms handed down through generations reflecting ethnic, cultural, and geographically unique customs. Each year, TAI and the Indiana Arts Commission present Traditional Arts Master awards at the Indiana State Fair.

POETRY OUT LOUD

Each year, the IAC hosts the state Poetry Out Loud competition, a poetry recitation contest for high school students supported by the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) and the Poetry Foundation. Students first compete at a local level to determine which students will represent their respective schools in the state final competition. The state champion represents Indiana at the National Finals in Washington, D.C.

INDIANA STATE POET LAUREATE

Created by legislative directive, the Indiana State Poet Laureate program brings poetry and the power of the written and spoken word to Hoosiers of all ages. The program provides a framework for the development of specific educational programming coordinated between the Indiana Arts Commission and the State Poet Laureate. It also charges the IAC with coordinating the selection process for the State Poet Laureate. The Poet Laureate serves a two-year term and is provided with a small stipend. The current Poet Laureate is George Kalamaras.

CULTURAL DISTRICT CERTIFICATION PROGRAM

A cultural district is a well-recognized, labeled, mixed-use area of a community in which a high concentration of cultural assets serve as the anchor. This legislatively enabled program, administered by the IAC, establishes criteria and a selection process to identify such districts. The program helps certified cultural districts promote the exploration of and participation in the arts and humanities through cultural experiences that are unique to their communities.

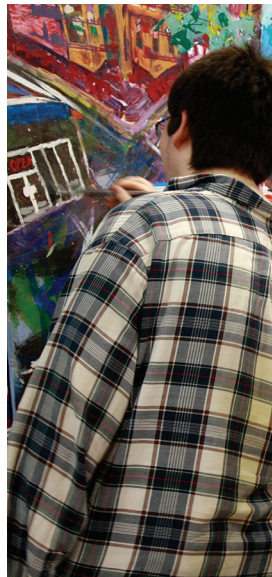

CULTURAL TRUST FUND

Created by legislation in 1997, the Indiana Cultural Trust was established as a vehicle to enhance and stabilize funding for the arts, encouraging, promoting, and expanding the arts for future generations of Hoosiers. For each purchase and renewal of the Indiana Celebrate the Arts special-issue license plate, a $25 donation goes to the Cultural Trust Fund. Interest income from the Trust Fund investment annually supports the Indiana Arts Commission's Arts in Education program.

CAPACITY BUILDING WORKSHOPS

Capacity Building Workshops help connect educational opportunities to constituents. The first such workshops were held in 2010 and have continued each year since, providing professionally-led training and focused discussion on a broad range of subjects related to fundraising, building stronger communities and partnerships, and organizational leadership.

REGIONAL ARTS PARTNERSHIP

A key IAC partnership program, the Regional Arts Partnership is the cornerstone of the IAC's efforts to enhance service delivery and cultural decision-making at the local level. Through this partnership, arts providers have better access to IAC services and increased public awareness and advocacy for the arts at the community level. A significant portion of the IAC's granting budget goes to the Regional Arts Partnership. Each region receives administrative funds to provide services and a Regional Initiative Block Grant for regranting to cultural providers within their region.

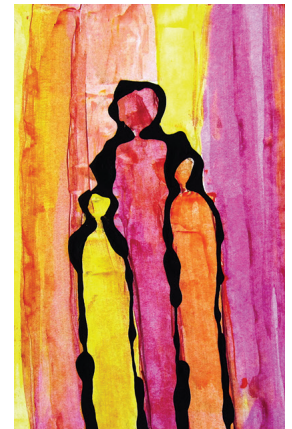

GOVERNOR'S ARTS AWARDS

This biennial awards program, conceived in partnership with the Office of the Governor, is administered by the IAC. The purpose of the awards is to honor significant contributions to and achievements in the arts, which have had a profound positive impact on the State of Indiana. The IAC also commissions the creation of new artwork by an Indiana artist which serves as the award piece. In this way, the awards also encourage the creation of new works of art by contemporary Hoosier artists.

ARTS MIDWEST

Arts Midwest, one of six regional arts organizations in the U.S., serves audiences, arts organizations, and artists throughout Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin. The IAC annually provides a grant to Arts Midwest which, coupled with other Arts Midwest support, re-grants to presenters and performing touring artists from Indiana, allowing them to tour throughout the Midwest. This also provides greater opportunities for Indiana presenters to showcase the best of Indiana and Midwest artists.

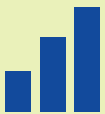

ARTSWORK INDIANA

ArtsWORK Indiana is an informal, statewide group of people interested in improving arts-related professional opportunities and careers for people with disabilities. This statewide network of artists, educators, vocational professionals, and cultural organizations provides career-related information and networking, peer-to-peer encouragement, and increased awareness of Hoosier artists with disabilities and their contributions.

The above photo comes to us from the South Bend Youth Symphony Orchestra (SBYSO). The funds received from the IAC enable the SBYSO to provide an extremely high quality orchestral experience to 130 families of the Michiana community for less than one-third the cost of similarly sized program across the state. Their students perform under top-rate conductors, and have weekly sectionals with professional musicians from our community, thereby supporting the arts in South Bend as well.

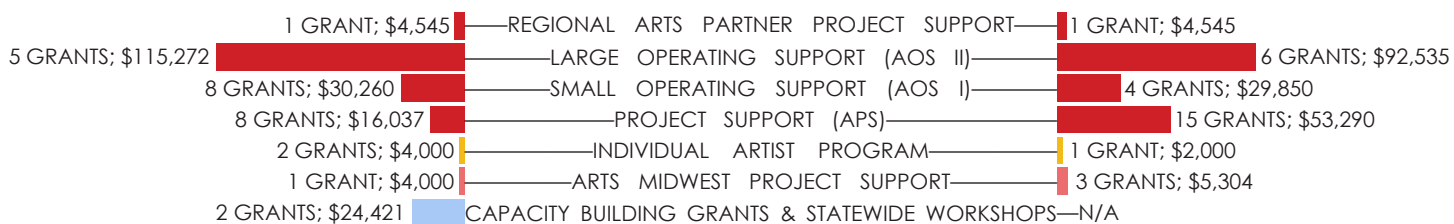

The photo to the right is from the Fischhoff National Chamber Music Association. Justin Polyblank of the Barkada Quartet, grand prize winners, had this to say about Fischhoff. "It's difficult to capture in a simple statement just how profoundly the Fischhoff National Chamber Music Association has impacted the culture of chamber music in schools and universities across the globe! We cannot speak for other alumni of the Competition, but for Barkada Quartet, the Fischhoff was the end-of-year goal that allowed the four of us to discover a personal and artistic bond unlike anything we had ever experienced before; a bond that will last a lifetime."

Region three had two fantastic years. The top photo shows a project that merges a public art gallery with work created by the Jestors program at the University of Saint Francis for people with intellectual and physical disabilities. This year's theme was "I am Beautiful—You are Beautiful" and in that theme they created a series of self portraits. The collection of these images created a moving sequence and commentary on art and self-image of people living with mental and physical disabilities. (Top photo by Colleen Huddleson).

The other two photo's are from Fort Wayne's Artlink Gallery's Wet Paint auction. The artwork was auctioned off at Ribfest and benefited both Artlink and the artists! More than 20 artists participated in the event where people were able to have the unique experience of watching artists create masterpieces.

Petera Nyendick, Director of the ISU Community School of the Arts said, "Funding for Fusion Theater allowed Indiana State University's Community School of the Arts to offer an outreach program at Sarah Scott, the only Title 1 middle school in Terre Haute, Nyendick said. "Twenty-five students participated in after-school theater programming during the 15-week spring semester. The program culminated with three performances in May: at the school, at a professional theater, and at a community center. Indiana Arts Commission grants have real impact on the lives of kids enrolled in Community School of the Arts programming. The CSA staff and instructors bear witness to significant changes in children that participate in the arts. Kids gain self-confidence, have greater ease in social situations that require team participation, and feel pride in accomplishment."

The Greensburg Chautauqua is mirrored after the great Chautauqua movement so popular some 100 years ago.

Greensburg, Indiana is a town of 10,000 people in southeastern Indiana. Greensburg High School has an enrollment of 700 students. "The high school strives to not only educate their students but also to instill a confidence within them that they can achieve greatness, even if they are from a small town nestled between the corn fields of the Hoosier state," says event organizer John Pratt. "It is a benefit for our community to have history's great lecturers and musicians travel to a small town provide their unique enlightenment.

Day one of Chautauqua was about the Civil War. Day two of Chautauqua had a theme of music. Musicians were recruited to tell their inspirational stories to students throughout the day. At night they all assembled for an evening concert that was very well received. Musicians that joined them on day two were Rodney Dillard (Bluegrass Hall of Fame), Liz Calloway (Tony nominated Broadway star), Nancy Nevins (lead singer of Sweetwater-opening band at Woodstock), Lance Hoppen (Orleans) who is pictured above, and Brian O'Neal (The Busboys).
