Calderon currently has experience serving hundreds of clients with one or more products of various sizes and multiple shipping locations. In our 40 years of service, Calderon has developed an efficient and effective system for managing the logistics and supply chain of these products and custom customer textile programs.

1. Standardized packaging and labeling: developed a standardized packaging and labeling system for our products to make it easy to identify the product size and destination. This can help streamline the shipping process and reduce the risk of errors.
2. Centralized inventory management: Calderon Textiles has a centralized inventory management system that tracks the location and quantity of each product size. This can help ensure that the right products are shipped to the right locations and that there is always enough inventory available to meet client demand.

Overall, Calderon Textiles' experience serving similar clients like Majestic Care, American Senior Communities, Hospital Laundry Service, Camp Atterbury, and Indiana State Parks makes us a perfect partner to the IDOC. We have extensive experience executing multiyear contracts that lock pricing into time periods of 24+ months, require safety stock levels for the duration of the contract, and require us to always hold x months' worth of inventory in any of our 5 distribution centers. All the clients listed above are great examples of similar customers that we have contracted pricing on linen products that have various sizes and forecasts during the contract period. We are in great standing with all those customers and at different stages of awarded business with all of them as well.

Calderon Textiles is able to accept all forms of payment, including wires, ACH, checks and by credit card. Calderon processes over $3 million per year in credit card payments, and absorbs the related costs associated with accepting the various types of credit card payments. While we prefer payment to be made electronically, so as to lower our costs, we would be able to accept a debit or credit card payment from the state of Indiana.
