

INDIANA STATE LIBRARY

WELCOME

Serving Indiana residents, leading and supporting the library community and preserving Indiana history.

The Indiana State Library has served the citizens of Indiana since 1825. A few steps away from the Indiana Statehouse, the State Library is open to the public for a variety of needs, including but not limited to: genealogy, Indiana history, preservation, rare books and manuscripts, reference and government services, Talking Book and Braille Library, as well as the State Data Center. It also serves as a free facility for meetings and special events available to state agencies and the community; some fees apply for non-agency events.

The magnificent limestone building housing the Indiana State Library and the Indiana Historical Bureau was dedicated in 1934. Within the building are beautiful stained glass windows, colorful murals, walnut-paneled walls, brass accents and wood carvings. The building is a showcase in itself, an incredible example of early 1930s American architecture constructed with Indiana limestone, sandstone and walnut.
