I&M RATE CASE

Indiana Michigan Power (I&M) is seeking a $104 million rate increase in a newly filed case. The OUCC will be using its technical and legal resources to review the request, with testimony expected this fall. Public input is invited, as it is in all IURC cases. We will be posting updates as the case proceeds. A general utility rate case in Indiana is typically a 10-month process; the OUCC's new rate case timeline walks through the steps.

NIPSCO ELECTRIC INFRASTRUCTURE

OUCC analysts and attorneys are reviewing Northern Indiana Public Service Company's (NIPSCO's) proposed $1.64 billion electric infrastructure plan. The proposed plan would include rate increases through a Transmission, Distribution, and Storage System Improvement Charge (TDSIC), and would replace the utility's current plan that received Commission approval in 2016. Key components in the proposed plan include installation of advanced metering infrastructure (AMI), pole replacements, and upgrades and replacements to transformers, substations, steel transmission line structures, and additional projects to be built through 2026. OUCC testimony is due by Aug. 30 with a Commission order expected by the end of the year.

CENTERPOINT ENERGY CASES

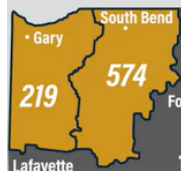

Settlement agreements are now pending in both of CenterPoint Energy's Indiana natural gas rate cases. The agreement for the utility's North territory would reduce rates while the South territory's agreement would allow for a smaller increase than initially requested. The IURC is considering both settlements and may approve, deny, or modify any agreement in its final orders.

In an unrelated docket, CenterPoint Energy is seeking IURC approval of a new $323 million gas-fired electric generation project. OUCC testimony is due on Oct. 15.

BE READY!

Does your phone number start with the 219 or 574 area code? Do you have a medical life alert or home alarm system? If you answered both questions with a "yes," contact your service provider now to make sure it is ready for 10-digit dialing. All local calls in the 219 and 574 areas must include the area code starting Oct. 24. A 6-month grace period continues until then, allowing local calls to be completed with 7 or 10 digits.

DO YOU WATER THE LAWN?

If so, make sure you're not over-watering. And take some time during July - Smart Irrigation Month - to learn about technology that can help you get it done more efficiently. Weather-based controllers and soil moisture sensors can help both residential and commercial systems.
