INDIANA AGRITOURISM GUIDE

TAKING THE MYSTERY OUT OF MEALS

In our fast-food world, we sometimes forget that food doesn't just come packaged and prepped for consumption. That's why the popularity of agritourism is growing as high as those rows of corn. When children—and adults for that matter—take the time to learn how their food is grown and raised, they are more inclined to make healthy choices for life.

From large multi-family farming operations to smaller U-pick orchards and Christmas tree farms, Indiana's agritourism destinations offer you the opportunity for hands-on adventure. And the best part? Fresh produce, meats, cheeses, dairy products, holiday decor and more that you got directly from the source.

Adventure ripe for the picking.
That's Honest-to-Goodness Indiana.
