

New Harmony was the site of two early American utopian communities. The Harmonie Society, a group of German dissenters led by George Rapp, arrived in the United States in 1804, settling in Pennsylvania. 10 years later the Harmonists purchased 20,000 acres on the Wabash River, and moved to Indiana in 1814.

Today New Harmony is a vibrant community where festivals, concerts and plays are held throughout the year. The town is also a popular location for weddings, conferences and retreats.

Historic New Harmony is a unified program of the University of Southern Indiana and the Indiana State Museum and Historic Sites.

Spaces available for use

Thrall's Opera House

- 160 maximum occupants inside
- Exterior space also available (yard and brick patio)

Community House 2 (Interior & exterior spaces available)

Exterior only spaces

- Labyrinth
- Fautleroy Home
- Redbud Park

Rental guesthouse is available for artists. (3 bedrooms, 2 bathrooms)

Hours

The Atheneum/Visitors Center is open from March 15 through December 30

- Daily 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.
- Closed on Easter, Thanksgiving, Christmas Eve, Christmas, New Year's Eve & Day

Please note: New Harmony observes Central Daylight Savings Time.

Contact

New Harmony State Historic Site
P.O. Box 602
New Harmony, IN 47631

P 812.682.3702

F N/A

E abryden@indianamuseum.org

W indianamuseum.org/new-harmony-state-historic-site