

PROBLEM SOLVING COURTS

DRUG COURT & VETERANS TREATMENT COURT

Hon. Jonathan N. Cleary, Dearborn Superior Court

THE FACTS ON DRUGS AND CRIME IN AMERICA

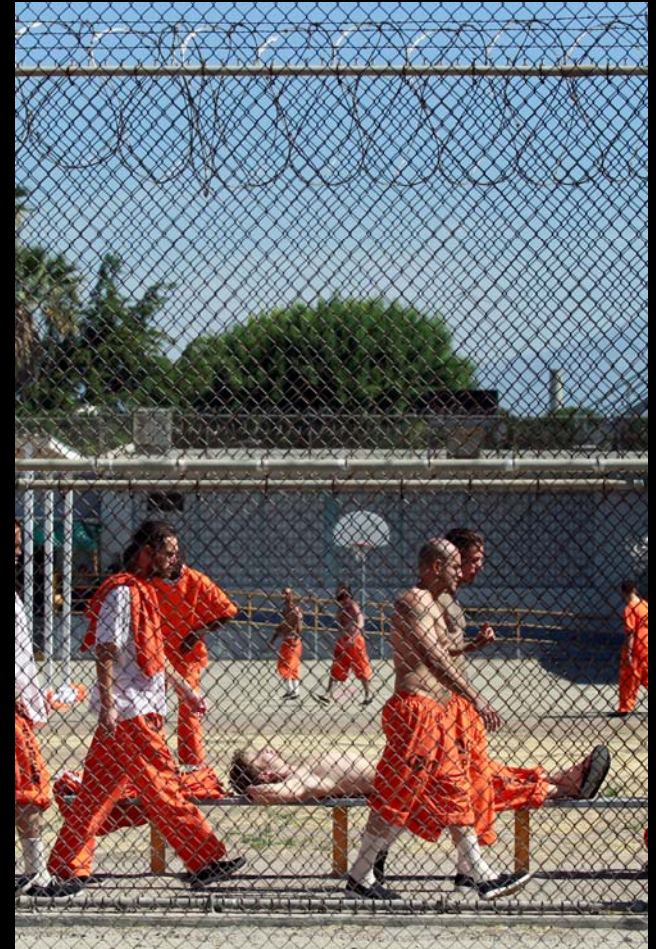

1 in 100 U.S. citizens is now confined in jail or prison

80% of offenders abuse drugs or alcohol

50% percent of jail and prison inmates are clinically addicted

60 to 80% of drug abusers commit a new crime after release

95% percent of offenders return to drug abuse after release

CRIMINAL COURT DOCKETS ARE OVERWHELMED

DRUG COURTS

Judicially supervised court dockets that strike the balance between:

Community Safety v. Improve Public Health and Well Being

Need to Hold People Accountable for Their Actions v. Need for Treatment

Good Citizenship v. Hope & Redemption

DRUG COURTS

Close supervision to keep individuals in treatment for long periods of time (6 times more likely to do so than other approaches)

Significantly reduce crime and do it cheaper than any other justice strategy. Reduced prison costs, victimization, and other trial costs of $4,000 to $12,000 per individual who enters drug court

For every $1 invested in drug courts, taxpayers save as much as $3.36 in avoided criminal justice costs

Success of drug courts has spawned new generations of problem solving courts – Veterans Courts, Re-entry Courts, Mental Health Courts, Family Courts, etc.

OTHER MISCONCEPTIONS

“Net widening” – fill slots to justify funding

See poverty, unemployment, drug use patterns, other non-EBDM drug policies

“Wishful thinking” – addicts will seek and remain in treatment of their own volition if given the chance

Treatment is often the last resort
hopefully 1 short of overdose or suicide

94 year old Jean Marie Crocker, mother of a soldier killed in action in Vietnam recently stated:

She had her son, Denton, buried in Arlington because she knew if he had been buried near her, she would have clawed the ground until she could see him again, because she missed him so much.
