ADD: "or if the residences larger than 4,000 sf".
REASON AND FISCAL IMPACT
Reason: Residences this large tend to have spans larger than most span charts will allow, or they have complicated load patterns that require calculations that can only be done by design professionals. Projects this large generally have clients who understand this and consider this to be part of the process. Larger cities in neighboring states require this for ALL residences.  Fiscal impact: If the design professional is doing the construction drawings, there is no additional charge. Savings includes more efficient use of materials and lower cost of construction & finish-work to accommodate unnecessarily large structural members.
