How have Indiana's fireworks laws changed since 2006?

- In addition to Section 8(a) (i.e. sparklers, ground spinners, cone fountains, wheels, cylindrical fountains), consumer fireworks (i.e. bottle rockets, roman candles, and fire crackers) are legal to discharge in the state.
- Only individuals 18 years of age or older may purchase fireworks.
- Anyone under the age of 18 may possess or use a firework only in the presence of an adult.
- On Memorial Day, the Fourth of July, Labor Day, and New Year's Eve, fireworks may be discharged from 9am to 12am. Any other day of the year, fireworks may be discharged from 9am to 11pm. It is important, however, to check with local officials as local ordinances may restrict usage.
- Fireworks may be discharged only on your property, the property of someone who has granted permission to discharge fireworks, or at special discharge locations.
- Fireworks retailers must have a permit from the Indiana State Fire Marshal to sell consumer fireworks. All firework retail locations must undergo an inspection by either a representative of the Indiana State Fire Marshal or the local fire department
- The five-percent public safety fee now assessed on the sale of fireworks funds the Indiana Disaster Relief Fund and the Indiana Firefighter Training System.
- Penalties are now in place for violation of Indiana's fireworks laws.
