Permits

The DNR Division of Fish & Wildlife will not be held responsible for any accidents or deaths occurring from the use of these facilities.

Responsibility

Violations of any law, rule or regulation governing this property may result in forfeiture of the offender's hunting, fishing or visiting privileges for this area.

Safety zones, refuges, contaminated areas and other restricted areas are marked with appropriate signs. PLEASE READ AND OBEY ALL SIGNS.

Posted Areas

In addition to state Fish & Wildlife laws, this property is governed by posted regulations affecting the public use of lands and facilities owned, leased or licensed by the Department of Natural Resources.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Kingsbury is a remnant of the old Kingsbury Ordinance Plant, which produced shells, cartridges and mortar rounds for World War II and the Korean conflict. Wildlife management on the property began in 1965, when the land was deeded to the state of Indiana by the federal General Services Administration.

HISTORY

Kingsbury Fish & Wildlife Area is dedicated to providing quality hunting and fishing, while maintaining 7,200 acres of grasslands, crop fields, thick brush, marsh areas and a 20-acre lake. The Kankakee River forms Kingsbury's south boundary.

FUNDING FOR FISH AND WILDLIFE

The DNR Division of Fish & Wildlife sells hunting, fishing, and trapping licenses. All revenue is used for managing fish and wildlife resources in Indiana. No license money goes into the state general fund.

The DNR Division of Fish & Wildlife sections also receive money through the Sport Fish and Wildlife Restoration Program administered by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Indiana receives approximately $11 for every person that purchases a fishing license and $22 for every person that purchases a hunting license. Currently, Indiana receives approximately $8 million in federal reimbursement. This money is used to manage fish and wildlife resources in Indiana. So, even if you don't hunt or fish, you can buy a combination license at $25/year and Indiana will receive an additional $33 in federal funds to be used for fish and wildlife conservation.
