

Multicultural Indiana: Teaching About Hoosier Diversity

Friday, June 25, 2010
at the Indiana State Museum
9 a.m. – 4 p.m.

Registration Deadline: Friday June 11, 2010

Cost: $20

Call 317.232.1637 to register

Indiana history has been shaped by the presence and dedication of racially, economically and culturally diverse groups of men and women. This workshop will introduce educators to the state's diverse history and its impact on Indiana's development and architecture. Educators will also be introduced to classroom techniques that provide opportunities to teach inclusivity in the classroom. Educators may receive CRU credit through Indiana University School of Education in Bloomington.

This workshop is presented by the Indiana Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology, the Indiana Historical Bureau, IUPUI and the Indiana State Museum.

For more information, please contact:

Joanna Hahn

Indiana State Museum
317.232.8293

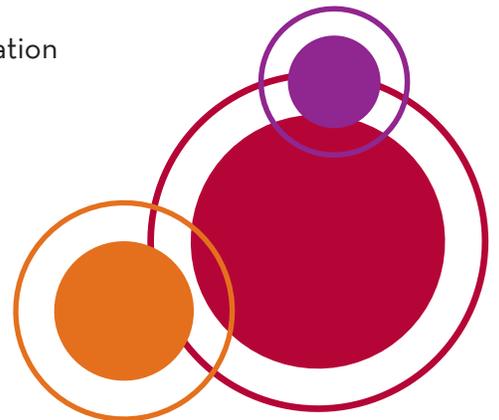

or

Jeannie Regan-Dinius

Division for Historic Preservation and Archaeology
317.234.1268

IUPUI

650 W. Washington St.
Indianapolis, IN 46204
317.232.1637
indianamuseum.org

INDIANA STATE MUSEUM
CENTER FOR SCIENCE AND CULTURE