Return to the Wild is a 501C(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to the rescue of injured or orphaned wild birds, their rehabilitation and their return to the wild.

Our officers, board, and volunteers are a community of human supports who actively promote education of the public on the importance of habitat preservation and the appropriate care of injured birds.

Our mission is comprised of a triad of objectives, none of which may be effectively achieved without the others:

Rehabilitation
Education
Conservation
