KINGS FEAST SYMPOSIUM

About Kings Feast 2K15

The objective of this event is to provide male youth with greater exposure to a variety of career and educational institutions so they can network and obtain information. They will have the opportunity to meet various professionals from a range of industries such as law, medicine, engineering, trade professions, and more!

During this event we will host workshops that the young men will attend that will focus on leadership, goal planning, character development for the next step academically. The purpose of this day is to make sure that the young men walk away with greater knowledge, networks, and resources necessary for their professional development, whether that be going to college or studying a trade. We are setting out to have over 100 professional males help provide networking conversations for all the youth in attendance. These conversations will further spark the dialogue on what each young male should be focusing on as it relates to their next step academically or professionally.
