

Healthy Women, Healthy Hoosiers

Healthcare Practice across the Lifecourse

Save the Date!

Friday, October 7th, 2011

The Indiana State Department of Health's Office of Women's Health and Maternal and Child Health are proud to invite you to a 1-day Regional Conference for providers, healthcare practitioners, social workers, nurses, substance abuse counselors, and other public health professionals. Topics will include:

- Cultural competency in patient practice
- Education on gender-specific mental health and emotional wellness issues
- Prevention and treatment of prenatal substance use / abuse
- Best methods to engage women of childbearing age during preconception and interconception periods of life
- Addressing domestic violence

Conference will be held at Marten House Hotel and Lilly Conference Center

The first-of-its-kind collaboration is designed to foster discussion around health promotion and prevention for women of childbearing age, with a focus on gender disparities and health equity. This conference will provide the latest information, best practices, and evidence-based models on each of the topic areas. The day will end with idea-sharing and networking.

Call for Proposals for conference speakers, presentations, and posters & Online Registration coming soon!

We thank you for your past participation in our programs and initiatives. Please feel free to forward this information to your colleagues and networks.

*Funding for this activity was made possible in part by the Department of Health and Human Services' National Office on Women's Health. The views expressed in written materials or publications and by speakers or moderators at HHS-sponsored conferences, do not necessarily reflect the official policies of the Department of Health and Human Services; nor does the mention of trade names, commercial practices, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government.

Indiana State
Department of Health