

Listening Sessions 2013

Please join the newly appointed Executive Director and Deputy Executive Director/Chief Counsel of the Indiana Housing and Community Development Authority (IHCDA) for a community listening session. The purpose of these events is to share what is happening at the state level in affordable housing and community development, and more importantly to hear feedback from Hoosiers about how IHCDA can help address needs in your community.

Specifically, we are seeking input about what is happening in the housing market, what are the current community development issues in your region, what are the most urgent needs and issues for housing and economic development, and changes you wish to see in IHCDA.

Jacob Sipe (Executive Director) and Mark Wuellner (Dep. Director and Chief Counsel) will be touring the state holding listening sessions with our partners in communities across the state, and are excited to meet with you.
