

District Activities Celebrate Work Zone Awareness Week

INDOT districts spread the word about safe driving through work zones during Work Zone Awareness Week, April 15-19. Proactive actions such as school visits, videos and posts on INDOT's social media sites, and messages at press conferences reinforced the need for Hoosiers to drive safely through work zones. Thanks to all for their many efforts — check out the photos below and on the following pages.

Fort Wayne District employees were decked out in orange for “Wear Orange” Day, April 16. The district’s favorite mascot, Coney, made three appearances in this photo ... can you find him?

Work Zone Awareness Week was “saluted” with a special banner signed by Seymour District employees.

Inside  INDOT

www.in.gov/indot

Vincennes District employees displayed their “orange-wear” April 16 to commemorate Work Zone Awareness Week.

The Greenfield District held a press event at the I-70 eastbound Greenfield Rest Area on April 16. This mock work zone was set up as part of the event to show various components, like signs, as seen in an actual work zone.

Greenfield Subdistrict (Unit 1) employees talk with Greenfield District Highway Maintenance Director J.D. Brooks (second from right) after equipment is put in place in the mock work zone.

LaPorte District employees hold posters to remind everyone that “We’re All In This Together” while driving through work zones.

Employees in the Crawfordsville District pose for their photo in front of a safety message on a floor mat — “Safety Starts Here.”

Children from Cornerstone Christian College Prep School in Fort Wayne learned about work zone safety April 19 from Fort Wayne District Media Relations Director Mary Foster (back row, left), and Fort Wayne District Communications Director Toni Mayo (back row, right). Foster and Mayo introduced the children to work zone safety apparel, along with the importance of safety colors and reflective stripes. The students also participated in simulated work zones with students acting as workers and flaggers.