Featuring sixty-six workshops, two keynote speakers and three plenary sessions, we will elevate the national discussion of the need for pretrial services and the incredible work being done by pretrial professionals at the local, state and federal levels.

Indiana pretrial professionals, law enforcement, prosecutors, defense counsel and others working at all levels of the justice system can take advantage of a discounted rate of $325 to attend the full conference. Single-day registrations are also available and workshops have been strategically placed on the agenda to accommodate single-day registrations for various pretrial disciplines:

The Fundamentals Track is designed as a training curriculum for junior level pretrial release and diversion practitioners. It is a sequential, 11-part program that starts with the basic concepts of bail and diversion and then moves on to follow several cases from start to finish, beginning with the initial interview with defendants and ending with their supervision through case disposition. A final session will focus outcomes and performance measures. The curriculum includes a mix of instruction, exercises, quizzes and discussions designed to reinforce for practitioners the basic skills needed to be effective pretrial officers.
