
TITLE 329 SOLID WASTE MANAGEMENT DIVISIONSECOND NOTICE OF COMMENT PERIOD

LSA Document #14-254

RESTRICTIVE COVENANTSPURPOSE OF NOTICE

The Indiana Department of Environmental Management (IDEM) is soliciting public comment on amendments to 329 IAC 1 concerning requests for restrictive covenant modifications and associated cost recovery measures for remediation projects described in IC 13-23, IC 13-24, IC 13-25-4, and IC 13-25-5. IDEM seeks comment on the affected citations listed and any other provisions of Title 329 that may be affected by this rulemaking.

HISTORY

First Notice of Comment Period: July 16, 2014, Indiana Register (DIN: 20140716-IR-329140254FNA).

CITATIONS AFFECTED: 329 IAC 1.

AUTHORITY: IC 4-22-2; IC 13-14-2-9; IC 13-14-9.

SUBJECT MATTER AND BASIC PURPOSE OF RULEMAKINGBasic Purpose and Background

A restrictive covenant (RC), often referred to as an environmental restrictive covenant or ERC, may be used as the remedy or part of the remedy for remediation of contaminated land. An RC, defined in IC 13-11-2-193.5, limits the use of the land or the activities that may be performed on or at the land, or requires the maintenance of any engineering control on the land that is designed to protect human health or the environment. An RC runs with the land, binds successors, is recorded by the recorder of the county in which the land is located, and includes provisions for modifications or termination. An RC can be used in remediation projects that deal with remediation of the following:

- A release from an underground storage tank, as described in IC 13-23;
- A release of petroleum at a petroleum facility, as described in IC 13-24;
- A site that is or was listed on the comprehensive environmental response, compensation and liability information system (CERCLIS), in accordance with Section 116 of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA), 42 U.S.C. 9616, as described in IC 13-25-4; or
- A release or threatened release of a hazardous substance or petroleum that is handled voluntarily under the voluntary remediation program (VRP), as described in IC 13-25-5.

Modification of an RC may be needed for a variety of reasons, including a change in site conditions or proposed use, property subdivision, or an advancement in science and technology. Before the Commissioner of IDEM may approve a modification request, IDEM must review the request and reassess the status of the site to ensure the modification will not increase the potential hazards to human health or the environment. IC 13-14-2-9 describes how to request a modification of an RC, when a modification is appropriate, and directs the Environmental Rules Board (ERB) to adopt rules providing for the recovery of administrative and personnel expenses incurred by IDEM in evaluating modifications of RCs. For consistency, IDEM is proposing to use similar cost recovery measures to those used in the related VRP. This includes using actual costs and accounting for IDEM staff hours worked based on a fixed amount per hour. The hourly rate will be based upon and adjusted by the Midwest region urban zone consumer price index (CPI) obtained at <http://www.bls.gov/cpi/>.

IC 13-14-9-4 Identification of Restrictions and Requirements Not Imposed under Federal Law

There are currently no federal laws that cover this same subject matter. Since this is a state specific requirement, every restriction or requirement on persons to whom the draft rule applies is "not imposed under federal law" (NIFL element or elements).

The following information is provided with each NIFL element:

- (1) The environmental circumstance or hazard dictating the imposition of the NIFL element in order to protect human health and the environment in Indiana and examples in which federal law is inadequate to provide this protection for Indiana.
- (2) The estimated fiscal impact and expected benefits of the NIFL element, based on the extent to which the NIFL element exceeds the requirements of federal law.
- (3) The availability for public inspection of all materials relied on by IDEM in the development of the NIFL element including, if applicable, health criteria, analytical methods, treatment technology, economic impact data, environmental assessment data, analyses of methods to effectively implement the proposed rule, and other background data.

RCs are placed on property for a variety of reasons to protect human health and the environment. This rule will not affect how RCs are placed on property; this rule allows an already established RC to be modified or terminated and allows IDEM to recover costs incurred while reviewing these requests. There is no environmental hazard or circumstance that dictates the imposition of this rule.

There are no federal laws applicable to the subject matter of this rule. The costs associated with requesting a modification or termination are highly individualized and dependent upon numerous factors, such as complexity of the request, availability of data for IDEM review, and the amount of time needed for IDEM to review. However, any costs associated with modifying or terminating the RC could be offset by the potential gains in property use and value.

IDEM relied upon the expertise and experience of its technical staff when developing the rule and estimating the associated fiscal impact. IDEM administers similar cost recovery measures in the VRP and used that program as a template for establishing this rule. The following resources were found to be applicable and were relied on during the development of the draft rule and associated fiscal impact:

Bureau of Labor Statistics, Consumer Price Index available online at: <http://www.bls.gov/cpi/>

Indiana Code, IC 13-14-2-9 available online at: <https://iga.in.gov/>

Potential Fiscal Impact

This rule would impose a fiscal impact, as authorized through IC 13-14-2-9, if a person requests a modification of an RC from IDEM and IDEM then incurs administrative and personnel expenses. IDEM's administrative expenses will be based on actual expenditures, and personnel expenses will be based on hours worked on the project. The hourly rate will be set and adjusted by the Midwest region urban zone CPI obtained at <http://www.bls.gov/cpi/>. Expenses are highly individualized and are dependent upon the specifics of the request. Only services rendered by IDEM are governed by this rule. Beyond the fiscal impact of cost recovery measures, this would not impose any costs not already imposed through the authorizing legislation. Specifically, IC 13-14-2-9 requires the submission of certain materials before the commissioner may authorize the filing of a supplemental recording, such as a written request for the modification, a copy of the proposed modification of the RC, and information indicating why the covenant should be modified. Preparing and providing these materials to IDEM will have an associated cost. This could include consultant fees, environmental sampling fees, or attorney fees; these are not incorporated into cost recovery measures for IDEM nor are there any specific requirements in this rule. Modifying or terminating an RC on a property will likely increase the value of the property and its earning potential by allowing less restrictive use of the property. This potential gain could be used to offset any costs associated with preparing the request and any costs paid to IDEM.
