Taxpayer protests the Department's proposed assessments on its purchases of eight vehicles and accessories, claiming that it was not liable for use tax because it already paid tax when it registered and titled them.

STATEMENT OF FACTS

Taxpayer is an out-of-state company doing business in Indiana. The Indiana Department of Revenue ("Department") conducted a sales/use tax audit of Taxpayer's business records for the tax years 2010, 2011, and 2012. Pursuant to the audit, the Department determined that Taxpayer purchased various items to be used for its business activities in Indiana but it did not pay sales tax, nor did it self-assess use tax. The Department's audit thus assessed additional use tax, interest, and penalty.

Taxpayer protested the Department's assessment and submitted additional documents to support its protest. A hearing was held. Letter of Findings 04-20140252 (August 2015) ("LOF") sustained Taxpayer's protest in part and denied it in part. Taxpayer subsequently submitted additional documentation to support its rehearing request. This Supplemental Letter of Findings ensues. Additional facts will be provided as necessary.

I. Sales/Use Tax - Imposition.

DISCUSSION

Taxpayer disagrees with the LOF which found that Taxpayer remains liable for the tax on purchases regarding Vendor H. In its request for a rehearing, Taxpayer submitted additional supporting documentation regarding the audit assessment on its purchases of eight vehicles from Vendor H. Taxpayer claimed that it paid sales/use tax at the time when it registered and titled the eight vehicles.

As a threshold issue, all tax assessments are prima facie evidence that the Department's claim for the unpaid tax is valid; the taxpayer bears the burden of proving that any assessment is incorrect. IC § 6-8.1-5-1(c); Lafayette Square Amoco, Inc. v. Indiana Dep't of State Revenue, 867 N.E.2d 289, 292 (Ind. Tax Ct. 2007); Indiana Dep't of State Revenue v. Rent-A-Center East, Inc., 963 N.E.2d 463, 466 (Ind. 2012). Thus, the taxpayer is required to provide documentation explaining and supporting its challenge that the Department's assessment is wrong.

Poorly developed and non-cogent arguments are subject to waiver. Scopelite v. Indiana Dep't of Local Gov't Fin., 939 N.E.2d 1138, 1145 (Ind. Tax Ct. 2010); Wendt LLP v. Indiana Dep't of State Revenue, 977 N.E.2d 480, 486 n.9 (Ind. Tax Ct. 2012).

Indiana imposes an excise tax called "the state gross retail tax" (or "sales tax") on retail transactions made in Indiana. IC § 6-2.5-2-1(a). A person who acquires property in a retail transaction (a "retail purchaser") is liable for the sales tax on the transaction. IC § 6-2.5-2-1(b). Indiana also imposes a complementary excise tax called "the use tax" on "the storage, use, or consumption of tangible personal property in Indiana if the property was acquired in a retail transaction, regardless of the location of that transaction or of the retail merchant making that transaction." IC § 6-2.5-3-2(a). "Use" means the "exercise of any right or power of ownership over tangible personal property." IC § 6-2.5-3-1(a). The use tax is functionally equivalent to the sales tax. See Rhoades v. Indiana Dep't of State Revenue, 774 N.E.2d 1044, 1047 (Ind. Tax Ct. 2002).

By complementing the sales tax, the use tax ensures that non-exempt retail transactions (particularly out-of-state retail transactions) that escape sales tax liability are nevertheless taxed. Rhoades, 774 N.E.2d at 1048; USAir, Inc. v. Indiana Dep't of State Revenue, 623 N.E.2d 466, 468 - 69 (Ind. Tax Ct. 1993). The use tax ensures that, after such goods arrive in Indiana, the retail purchasers of the goods bear their fair share of the tax burden. Rhoades, 774 N.E.2d at 1047 - 1050 (explaining that, generally, states impose a use tax to prevent the erosion of the state's tax base when its residents make purchases in other states). To trigger imposition of Indiana's use tax, tangible personal property must (as a threshold matter) be acquired in a retail transaction. IC § 6-2.5-3-2(a); USAir, Inc., 623 N.E.2d at 468. A taxable retail transaction occurs when (1) a party acquires tangible personal property as part of its ordinary business for the purpose of reselling the property; (2) that property is then exchanged between parties for consideration; and (3) the property is used in Indiana. See IC § 6-2.5-1-2; IC § 6-2.5-4-1(b) and (c); IC § 6-2.5-3-2(a) and (b).

An exemption from the use tax is granted for transactions where the sales tax was paid at the time of purchase pursuant to IC § 6-2.5-3-4 and 45 IAC 2.2-3-4. There are various tax exemptions available outlined in IC § 6-2.5-5. A statute which provides a tax exemption, however, is strictly construed against the taxpayer. Indiana Dep't of State Revenue, Sales Tax Division v. RCA Corp., 310 N.E.2d 96, 97 (Ind. Ct. App. 1974). "[W]here such an exemption is claimed, the party claiming the same must show a case, by sufficient evidence, which is clearly within the exact letter of the law." Id. at 101 (internal citations omitted). In applying any tax exemption, the general rule is that "tax exemptions are strictly construed in favor of taxation and against the exemption." Indiana Dep't of State Revenue v. Kimball Int'l Inc., 520 N.E.2d 454, 456 (Ind. Ct. App. 1988).

In this instance, Taxpayer purchased eight vehicles with special features from an out-of-state manufacturer. The manufacturer delivered the vehicles to Taxpayer at its designated Indiana location but did not collect Indiana sales tax. Taxpayer claimed that it engaged a third party title processing company to handle the logistics of registering the vehicles, including paying the applicable federal and state excise taxes and fees. Taxpayer, referencing the copies of the processing company's invoices, asserted that it paid sales/use tax at the time when the processing company titled the vehicles. The Department previously was not able to agree that use tax was remitted because Taxpayer's supporting documents could not be verified.

Taxpayer subsequently offered additional supporting documents which include title registrations at the Indiana Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Upon reviewing Taxpayer's additional supporting documentation, the Department is prepared to agree that Taxpayer met its burden to demonstrate that it was not responsible for the use tax on the eight vehicles and accessories.

In short, Taxpayer's protest of Vendor H is sustained. The Department will remove the assessment on the transactions concerning Vendor H in a supplemental audit review.

FINDING

Taxpayer's protest of Vendor H is sustained.
