(b) This article is not meant to unduly restrict or limit the behavior of the officers and employees of the commission during the time when they are not on duty. Each commission officer and employee retains his lawful rights and privileges as a private citizen to interests of a personal or private economic nature. These rights and privileges will be honored by the commission to the extent that they are compatible with an individual's office or employment; provided, however, that no actions, transactions, or involvements shall be performed or engaged in by an officer or employee which might serve to raise the questions of possible “conflict of interest” in the minds of the general public.

(b) This section shall not prohibit political contributions which are reported in accordance with applicable law. In addition, this section shall not prohibit contributions which are accepted by the commission in accordance with applicable law.

(c) Gifts, favors, services, entertainment, food, or drink that exceed an aggregate value in excess of one hundred dollars ($100) received by an employee or officer in a calendar year from a person desiring to do business or who is doing business with the commission shall be disclosed to the state fair commission on February 1 of the following year.

(B) shall not be individually designated as to recipient;

(C) shall be disbursed by the executive director or commission officer as they deem appropriate.
