MEETING MINUTES¹

Meeting Date: September 20, 2010
Meeting Time: 4:00 P.M.
Meeting Place: State House, 200 W. Washington St., Room 404
Meeting City: Indianapolis, Indiana
Meeting Number: 1

Members Present: Rep. Terry Goodin, Co-Chairperson; Rep. Terri Austin; Rep. Gail Riecken; Rep. Robert Cherry; Rep. Sean Eberhart; Rep. Jack Lutz; Sen. Brent Steele, Co-Chairperson; Sen. Luke Kenley; Sen. Ron Alting; Sen. Timothy Lanane; Sen. Lindel Hume.

Members Absent: Sen. John Broden.

Rep. Goodin called the meeting to order at 4:00 p.m. The meeting consisted of a presentation from the Indiana Horse Racing Commission (IHRC) and public testimony.

I. Indiana Horse Racing Commission

IHRC Chairperson Sarah McNaught, presented a status report for the IHRC (Exhibit A). Ms. McNaught cited favorable news coverage of the IHRC's leadership in the horse racing industry's response to issues of racing integrity and drug testing.

Ms. McNaught described the process through which the IHRC recently approved a quality of racing initiative. Mr. Joe Gorajec, Executive Director of the IHRC, expanded upon Ms. McNaught's remarks with a review of the rulemaking process in general.

Mr. Gorajec summarized the revenues available for purses and breed development in 2009 and described the 2010 racing meets.

The Committee questioned Mr. Gorajec and Ms. Jessica Barnes, the IHRC's Director of Racing and Breed Development, about the breed development programs, including:

- (1) award payment schedules;
- (2) revenue sources;
- (3) the proportion of money available for breed development
- (4) the proportion of restricted races;
- (5) the role of the breed associations; and
- (6) the programs of other states.

The Committee also questioned Mr. Gorajec about the quality of racing initiative and its impact on economic development. The underlying concern of many of the questions was that the initiative would encourage out-of-state thoroughbred racers to ship in for Indiana races without providing sufficient incentives to expand Indiana farms or to attract more thoroughbred operations to Indiana. Mr. Gorajec assured the Committee that the initiative would serve to increase operations in Indiana. He stated that because Indiana has the largest percentage of restricted racing, with 37% of all races being restricted to Indiana horses, horsemen will want to have horses eligible to compete in restricted races.

II. Public Testimony

Mr. Michael Brown, Executive Director of the Indiana Horsemen's Benevolent & Protective Association (IHBPA), presented to the Committee a letter supporting the quality of racing initiative (Exhibit B). The letter is signed by the presidents of IHBPA and the associations representing quarter horses and standardbreds. Mr. Brown described the IHBPA's role in the development of the initiative.

Mr. Eddie Martin, Executive Director of the Indiana Thoroughbred Owners and Breeders Association (ITOBA), submitted an information packet (Exhibit C) to the Committee comparing the Indiana thoroughbred industry to Kentucky, Louisiana, and Florida.

Mr. Tom Mosley is a member of the board of directors of the Quarter Horse Racing Association of Indiana (QHRAI). Mr. Mosley described the growing reputation of the Indiana quarter horse racing industry. Mr. Mosley expressed his confidence that the stakes based quarter horse breed development program is developing an industry that anybody would be proud of.

Mr. Jack Kieninger, President of the Indiana Standardbred Association (ISA), compared the Indiana standardbred program very favorably to the programs in other states. Mr. Kieninger noted that the Indiana standardbred industry has both quantity and quality.

The Committee questioned the horsemen about several issues, including:

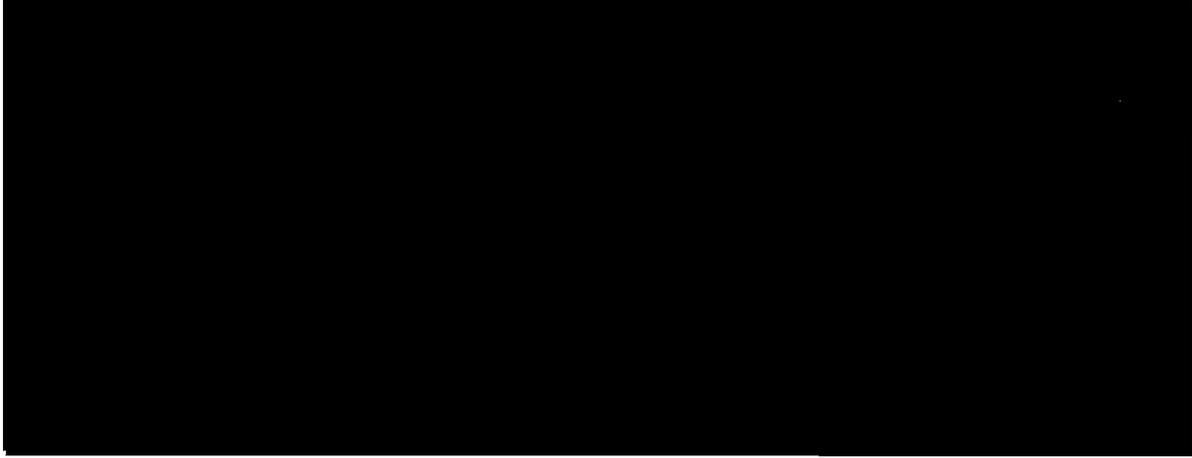

- (1) stall allocations at the race tracks;
- (2) the membership of their respective associations; and
- (3) the usual manner in which the policy positions taken by the associations are determined.

Mr. Jon Schuster, General Manager of Indiana Downs, briefly commented on a number of issues that had arisen during the course of the meeting. He acknowledged the complexity of developing horse racing in Indiana. He urged the Committee to avoid stipulating too much by statute.

Mr. Jeff Smith, General Manager for Racing at Hoosier Park, testified that many of the issues facing horse racing in Indiana are success issues. He praised the work of the IHRC. Mr. Smith also described the racing operations at Hoosier Park.

Rep. Goodin adjourned the meeting at 7:00 p.m.

The Indiana Downs meet went out with a bang July 14 with a new total handle record for one program.

Total handle for the 13-race card was $2,667,917, track officials reported. The previous record of $2,140,490, for 10 races, was set June 30.

Officials said the June 30 mark was passed after nine races July 14.

"It was a wonderful card, and it was a great night to be out at the races," Indiana Downs director of racing Butch Cook said in a statement. "I'm not surprised at all that the betting record was broken again. I knew when we took the entries it was going to be a huge night. The horsemen really stepped up and delivered."

"When all the dust settles, our 2010 single-day wagering record beats the 2009 record by about 45%," Indiana Downs general manager Jon Schuster said. "That is an amazing feat in our industry. This just proves that increased quality, a balanced racing program, and the proper exposure will motivate horsemen and horseplayers alike—and it moves the entire Indiana horse racing industry forward."

Indiana Downs has slot machines that contribute revenue to purses and breed development programs. This year's meet was heavily patronized by Kentucky-based horses, particularly those at the higher levels, because of the track's purse structure.

Thoroughbred purses averaged $200,018 a day over 60 days, up 37.9% from $145,019 over 62 days in 2009, according to The Jockey Club Information Systems. Field size held steady at 8.75 horses per race, down a tick from 8.78 last year.

Complete meet handle figures weren't immediately available.

Mike Hunt was leading owner, and Richard Kohnhorst, who trains for Hunt, took leading trainer honors. Leandro Goncalves edged Victor Lebron for the riding title.

Indiana Downs begins its harness meet July 23. Indiana Thoroughbred racing moves to Hoosier Park beginning July 30.

On the rise with higher bar

Indiana Downs sets handle records while surpassing quality of racing guidelines

WHILE REGISTERING several handle records, Indiana Downs also exceeded new guidelines that the Indiana Horse Racing Commission put in place to encourage better quality in the state's racing product.

The commission established targets in January for Indiana's two tracks, Indiana Downs and Hoosier Park, to devote at least 20% of their open Thoroughbred races to stakes competition, allowance races, and claiming races for a price of $25,000 or more. Indiana Downs reached the guideline at 21.8%.

The track also conducted 27.4% of its races for a claiming price of $6,250 or less. The commission's guideline was no more than 30%.

"This was the second year in a row that Indiana Downs improved the quality of [its] racing program," said Joe Gorajec, the commission's executive director. "I believe it is no coincidence that Indiana Downs has bucked the national trend with handle increases in each of the past two years."

During its 60-day spring-summer meeting that ended on July 14, Indiana Downs posted an average daily handle of $1,017,355, a 3.4% increase from an average of $983,848 over 62 dates in 2009. The track set two single-day handle records this year, including a closing-day card that attracted $2,667,917 in wagers on July 14, up 24.6% from the previous record of $2,140,490 on June 30, just two weeks earlier.

The track's average daily purse distribution, bolstered by revenue from a permanent slot machine facility that opened in March 2009, rose 41% to $200,018. The two record programs both featured stakes races with full fields—the $214,000 Oliver Stakes for three-year-olds on turf on June 30 and the $74,650 A. J. Foyt Stakes for Indiana-breds on turf on July 14.

Added measures

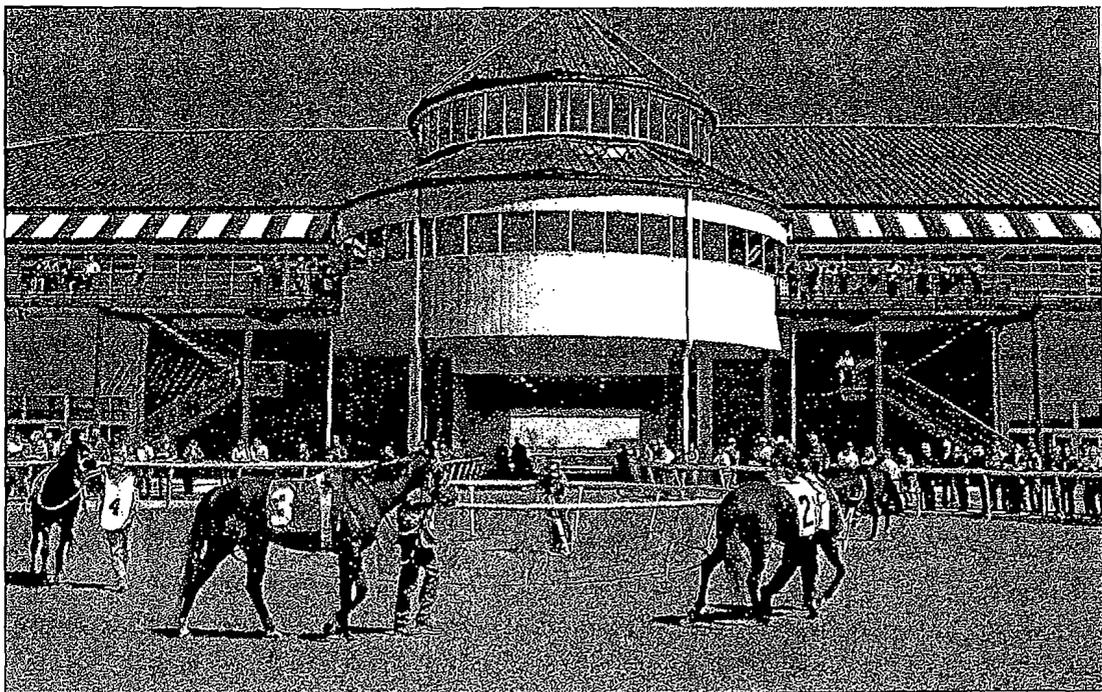

Calling for continued improvement from the state's racing product, the commission approved further guidelines on July 13 that would initiate a 40% purse supplement to Indiana-breds who place first, second, or third in open races, other than claiming races for claiming prices of less than $10,000.

The changes will result in a 209% increase in purses and awards for Indiana-breds who win an open maiden race.

The commission also established four races for Indiana-breds that will each offer $200,000 purses, beginning in 2012.

"There are a lot of good things that are happening in Indiana right now, and that's especially true when you contrast it to the news from other states," Gorajec said. "Both racetracks support the commission's quality of racing initiative, and they're working with the commission in respect to moving the quality of racing forward."

The commission decided to raise the bar as revenue from slot machines began to boost purses in 2007, and as an analysis showed that increases in the amount of money available through the state's Thoroughbred Breed Development program had not resulted in a significant improvement in the quality of Indiana-bred Thoroughbreds.

The new Indiana-bred guidelines were in place as live Thoroughbred racing switched to Hoosier Park on July 30.

The Indiana Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association supported the new guidelines.

"The HBPA board recognized that this is a great opportunity to help put a program in place that will benefit our horsemen and women and, ultimately, the economy of the state," Indiana HBPA President Randy Klopp said.

Hoosier Park meet

The Hoosier summer-fall meet will continue through October 24, with racing Wednesday through Sunday. Post time for Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday racing will be 5:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time and 1 p.m. for weekend racing. The track also will race on Labor Day, September 6, with a 1 p.m. post time.

The biggest day of the meet will be October 2 when Hoosier features the $500,000 Indiana Derby (G2), $200,000 Indiana Oaks (G2), and $100,000 Michael G. Schaefer Mile Stakes.

Most purses for races restricted to Indiana-breds will increase substantially beginning with the start of the Hoosier meet. Maiden special weight races originally scheduled for $24,000 will be increased to $35,000. The changes follow the initiative by the Indiana Horse Racing Commission to improve the quality of Indiana-breds.

Jeff Smith, Hoosier Park's general manager of racing, likes the purse increase for state-breds.

"I am really excited that the commission has approved offering larger purses to all those horsemen participating in the Indiana-bred program," Smith said. @

INDIANA DERBY

Preakness winner coming?

By Michael Pointer
michael.pointer@indystar.com

Bob Baffert had Hoosier Park officials understandably feeling lucky Friday afternoon.

The Hall of Fame trainer told blood horse.com that his Lookin at Lucky — winner of the Preakness and Haskell Invitational and perhaps the top 3-year-old in the country — will run in the $500,000 Grade II Indiana Derby on Oct. 2 if he trains well over the next week.

Lookin at Lucky would be the first winner of a Triple Crown race to run in the Indiana Derby, which has been staged annually since 1995 and is the highlight of the Hoosier Park thoroughbred season.

"We'd love to have him," said Hoosier Park general manager of racing Jeff Smith, noting that day's card already has more than $1 million in purses, a first for Indiana horse racing. "It would add a lot to an already big day."

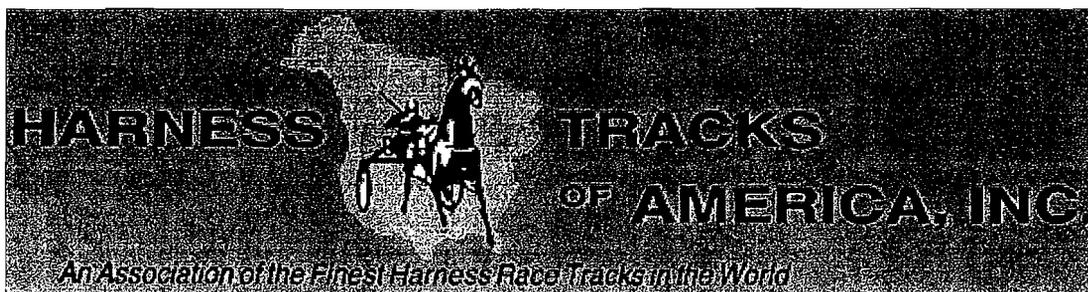

Smith said he had not spoken to Baffert.

Lookin at Lucky figured to run in the prestigious Travers Stakes at Saratoga, N.Y., last month, but he came down with an undisclosed illness after the Haskell and Baffert chose not to enter him.

Baffert told blood horse.com the Indiana Derby would serve as a prep for the Breeders' Cup Classic on Nov. 6 at Churchill Downs in Louisville, Ky.

Baffert also trained Misremembered, the winner of last year's Indiana Derby.

Right mix helps Hoosier stand out

I flew to Indianapolis over the weekend to help celebrate a Hoosier hero and past history, and wound up getting a firsthand glimpse of the future of racing.

Hoosier Park in Anderson, Ind., some 35 miles northeast of Indianapolis, is a dual breed track that offers both harness and Thoroughbred racing. The track has a relatively short history -- it opened in 1994 and was operated by Churchill Downs until it was fully acquired by a Churchill partner, Centaur of Indianapolis, in 2007. Slots at Indiana's two tracks, Hoosier and Indiana Downs, were legalized that same year.

The historical part of the weekend came with the 17th edition of the Dan Patch purse, a $200,000 race honoring the legendary harness racing champion of the first decade of the 1900s.

The future that I mentioned is the increased dependence of racing these days on slot machines. Tracks with them are thriving, those without them are struggling. It is a fact of life not fully enjoyed or endorsed by racing purists and some racing managements, who consider slots demeaning.

That view is not held by Rod Ratcliff, the chairman and CEO of Centaur LLC, Hoosier Park's parent. He is a realist, and although he knows full well that Hoosier's big racino drives his operation, his overall views are quickly made evident by his track's name.

It is Hoosier Park Racing and Casino, not the other way around. The order of names is neither alphabetical nor accidental.

Ratcliff's philosophy from the start has been to promote racing, and he has insisted on positive efforts to integrate the two. His two general managers, former Churchill executive Jeff Smith, who runs racing, and Jim Brown, general manager of gaming, both are personable, knowledgeable, big good-looking guys who interact constantly with their staffs and customers. Both radiate sincere warmth and friendliness, and the entire track staff, from mutuel clerks to clubhouse waiters and waitresses, reflects their efforts.

The integration effort is apparent in the very construction of the racino and its link to the racetrack. It has a restaurant catering to both operations, and its big windows make certain the casino gamblers are aware of the reason for Hoosier Park's existence.

If one is expecting bucolic mediocrity from an operation built on Indiana cornfields, that misconception is altered on entry to either side of the operation.

The restaurants and food courts of Hoosier Park are exceptional, offering menus that offer food that evoke memories of upscale New York restaurants. The reason is not hard to find. Hoosier Park owns its restaurant operation, and has staffed it with a chef who has mastered the art of providing down-home cooking with metropolitan sophistication. My entr e choice, sea bass, was the best I have ever eaten, and the huge desserts give the impression of having been built in the homes of Indiana's best home bakers.

Running one's own operation offers the advantages of full control of both food quality and food cost, and shows in what Hoosier offers.

On the casino side, as smart and stylish as any in Vegas or Atlantic City, technology and state-of-the-art gambling is quickly apparent on entering the big facility, which houses 2,000 slots. A giant electronic blackjack game, with multiple seating surrounding it, deals the cards. At other tables, friendly male and female "dealers" host the electronic action, with animated conversation but nothing more.

What makes all this "the future" of racing is a simple management truth. Entertainment and gambling are the engines that drive racing success in the present order of things. Those who pine for a return to the glories of racing alone, the beauty of the horse and the sport itself, without slot machines have little chance of being satisfied -- except perhaps at Saratoga or Keeneland or Del Mar. And Saratoga and Keeneland are not immune. Saratoga already has a major racino across the street, at its neighboring harness track, and you can be sure Keeneland will have one, or share one, if slots come to Kentucky.

If they do, they and others who might get slots should visit the heartland, as I did, and see how to do it right.

Dean's List

by Dean A. Hoffman

The New Heart of Midwest Racing

Sixteen years ago, many Hoosiers could be excused for not knowing what a pari-mutuel horse race looked like; they'd likely never seen one.

They'd certainly never seen one in Indiana because pari-mutuels didn't come to the state until September 1994, when Hoosier Park opened.

For years Indiana had wandered in the wilderness of modern racing, left behind when other states gladly embraced pari-mutuel wagering and tracks began to sprout in the years after World War II. Indiana clung to its rural roots and raced only at the fairs.

Now Indiana is the heartbeat of Midwest harness racing, and its pulse seemingly growing stronger every year as the sport ebbs in adjacent states. Horsemen who once thought of Indiana as just a "drive-through" state now find themselves Hoosier horsemen by choice.

The money is flowing in Indiana with solid overnight purses and a bountiful stakes program, thanks to slots.

Prior to the past decade, Indiana horsemen had to take flight to find their fortune, often eyeing Chicago or Detroit as places where the track surfaces were paved with gold. Indiana is surrounded by Illinois, Michigan, and Ohio—and the news is not so good in those states.

In late May we learned that hopes for slots in Illinois were kicked back beyond the November elections—and perhaps even further down the road. It's the same situation in Ohio, which has a statewide issue on slots confronting voters in four months.

Michigan's racing fortunes have plummeted rapidly, reflective of the state's dismal overall economy. Now a major race-fixing scandal looms over Michigan harness racing, with prominent horsemen suspended.

Illinois, Ohio and Michigan once beckoned to Hoosier horsemen because of the opportunities they offered. Now we have role reversal. Horsemen in surrounding states have flocked to Indiana.

The breeding scene is undergoing transformation. Every time I read a copy of the Hoosier Horse Review, I see ads for new stallions and think there must be more stallions in Indiana than mares. Obviously, there will be a shakedown period.

I've attended yearling sales at Indianapolis the last three years and seen how the market for Hoosier-sired yearlings has grown. Some yearlings still come into the ring looking rough, but those consignors will learn their lessons when the gavel falls. Many of the higher prices at Indiana auctions have come as a result of horsemen in surrounding states seeking some of the Indiana largesse.

Indiana has a strong racing commission that takes its responsibilities seriously, instead of merely paying lip service to regulation. Break the rules in Indiana and you're going to pay the price. No slaps on the wrists and no suspensions to be taken at your convenience. I admire that approach; others condemn it.

Indiana has led the way in curtailing excessive and abusive whipping, and surely it's in the vanguard of what will become a national trend. I'll never forget the call I got from a veteran driver who told me he'd seen youngsters playing as if they were driving a horse, using the reins instead of the whip.

The money is flowing in Indiana with solid overnight purses and a bountiful stakes program, thanks to slots.

"When I was a kid, I used to beat a bale of straw with a whip, because I saw drivers on the track beating horses in races," he told me. "Now these youngsters are learning that the reins are more important than the whip in driving."

Some people have ridiculed the Indiana whipping rule, just as some horsemen ridiculed the idea of wearing a helmet in a race 50 years ago. Curbing whipping helps racing stay on the right side of animal rights activists. Besides, there is still a winner in every race, isn't there? And picking the winner is still just as challenging.

I'd love to see the traditional Grand Circuit stakes in Indiana revitalized as they sustained Indiana racing for decades; they don't deserve to be treated like the poor country cousins. They should be the pride and joy of Indiana racing.

Indiana Commission Approves Quality of Racing Initiative

The Indiana Horse Racing Commission voted at its July 13, 2010, public meeting to support regulations and policy changes geared to enhance the quality of thoroughbred horses being bred in the Hoosier state.

"I am glad we have been proactive in ensuring that the substantial sums generated by slot machines will result in the best racing product possible," said Commission chairman Sarah McNaught.

The quality of racing initiative was recommended by Joe Gorajec, the Commission's Executive Director and supported by Indiana Downs, Hoosier Park and the Indiana HBPA. The initiative calls for a 40% purse supplement for any Indiana bred placing 1st, 2nd or 3rd in any open race with a claiming price of $10,000 or greater. Previously, an Indiana bred could earn more money in a restricted race than when competing against superior competition in an open race. The Commission has also established four signature races for Indy bred with a $200,000 guaranteed purse. These races will have their inaugural running in 2012.

The new program will begin immediately and be in place for the Hoosier Park race meet which begins July 30, 2010. The early implementation is strongly supported by the Indiana HBPA and will result in a substantial increase in most Indiana bred purses as racing moves to the Anderson, Indiana track.

"We know that participating in a positive dialogue with our regulators and other stakeholders helped make a good proposal even better," said Randy Klopp, President of the Indiana HBPA. "The HBPA board recognized that this is a great opportunity to help put a program in place that will benefit our horsemen and women and, ultimately, the economy of the state."

The Indiana bred quality of racing initiative follows a similar program focused on open racing at tracks in the Hoosier state implemented this spring. Tracks have been given targets by the Commission to increase high quality races (allowance and claiming races $25,000 and up) while decreasing lower quality races (claiming $6,250 and below).

Indiana Bred Purses Substantially Increased

Beginning with the opening of Hoosier Park on July 30, 2010, purses for most Indiana bred restricted races will rise substantially.

At its July 13, 2010 public meeting, the racing commission approved a quality of racing initiative which will result in Indiana bred thoroughbred purses being equal to their open race counterpart. For example, an Indiana bred maiden special weight that was originally scheduled for $24,000 will now be contested at $35,000, an increase of over 45%. Many other race categories will receive similar increases.

The increase is due, in part, to a request by the Indiana HBPA to begin early implementation of the new quality initiative. In a letter to the Commission, the Indiana HBPA President, Randy Klopp, sought to put money into the pockets of those horsemen who have invested large sums of money in the Indiana equine industry.

Joe Gorajec, Executive Director of the Indiana Horse Racing Commission noted that, "This is a win-win situation for the Indiana program participants and the quality of racing."

"I am really excited that the Commission has approved offering larger purses to all those horsemen participating in the Indiana bred program," said Jeff Smith, Hoosier Park's General Manager of Racing.

Indiana Bred Two-Year Old Program Expanded

The Indiana Horse Racing Commission has approved an expansion of the Indiana Thoroughbred Breed Development Program at Hoosier Park. The number of two-year old Indiana Bred races has been increased by nearly 50% for 2010. Hoosier Park's racing secretary now has the ability to program up to 39 Indiana Bred/Sired two year old maiden special weight races.

"After analyzing the foal crop of two-year olds for 2010, we felt like it was necessary to increase the numbers of races in order to provide Indiana Breds adequate opportunities to race," stated Jessica Barnes, Director of Racing and Breed Development for the IHRC.

In addition, a request to include "other than" conditions in the allowance portion of the Indiana Bred Program has been approved. For example the racing secretary now has the option to amend a condition of "non-winners of two" to "non-winners of a race other than maiden, claiming or starter".

Indiana leads, other states should follow

By Bill Finley
Special to ESPN.com

While it may be true that the entire racing industry is trying to deal with integrity and drug issues, some are trying harder than others. Once again, the Indiana Horse Racing Commission is leading the way and, hopefully, leading by example. In its latest attempts to make Indiana racing as clean as possible, it has put in new regulations that will actually make trainer suspensions mean something. Good for them.

It was announced last week that any trainer who receives a drug-related suspension of 15 days or more will not be allowed to transfer the horses in his or her stable to a spouse, family member, assistant or any employee. In Indiana, horses from the stable of a suspended trainer either can't run during the course of the suspension or their owners will have to transfer them to a new trainer. That should make owners think twice about employing the latest miracle-working trainer whose horses somehow mysteriously improve a dozen lengths once coming under their care.

That will prevent the sort of situation that occurs in every other racing state when a trainer is suspended. They turn the horses over to an assistant and run the show by telephone, with the stable humming right along almost as if nothing has happened. It's a ridiculous situation that has made suspensions laughably weak and hardly any deterrent at all.

"From an integrity standpoint, a suspension should mean something; it should mean during the period a person is suspended that person is not participating in any way in the horse racing business," Indiana Horse Racing Commission executive director Joe Gorajec, said. "It's obvious that trainer suspensions have become, in some cases, meaningless because the trainer, especially if he's stabling off the grounds, may not have any change in his or her routine at all. In order to make these suspensions meaningful, I think a regulator needs to assure himself and the industry that a suspended person is actually out of the business during the time they are suspended."

The new regulations regarding trainer suspension is just the latest move on Indiana's part to ensure that racing in that state is as clean as possible. This is a commission that gets it. It understands that horse racing must do more to make sure that the playing field is a level one in which honest horsemen can compete and bettors can wager with confidence.

Indiana has moved toward stiffer penalties for drug positives, while improving backstretch security and enhancing its drug testing methods. That includes pre-race tests for milkshakes. Most importantly, though, is a recently adopted policy that prevents veterinarians from seeing a horse on the day it races. The only exceptions are cases when a horse is ill and when a horse is given a Lasix shot. Even in those cases, the vets are under observation by track security.

"Unfortunately, in horse racing, nothing is 100 percent honest," Gorajec said. "I think the Indiana Horse Racing Commission strives to make it as honest as possible and have the most level playing field. I am pleased with the progress we have made. Having said that, I'm not satisfied. I think we can do more and we will do more. I'd leave it to others to judge how we stand versus other racing jurisdictions, but I'm pleased with where we're at. We can, though do more and I have no doubt we will do more."

Indiana is hardly the center of the horse racing universe but Gorajec and his staff are doing important work. If nothing else, they are proving that racing commissions don't have to roll over and play dead and that getting tough isn't that hard a thing to do.

"Generally speaking, no racing commission, and that includes Indiana, is doing enough to protect the integrity of its racing product," Gorajec said. "Having said that, I think every racing commission should use all of the resources at its disposal to protect the integrity of their horse racing. I am hopeful that between all of the negative press the horse industry has received, combined with the efforts of a few states that are doing something rather unique and, hopefully, successful, that might capture the attention of other regulators and cause them to copy the commissions that are going above and beyond the norm."

The norm isn't good enough anymore. With Indiana having provided a blueprint, other commissions are running out of excuses for their propensity to sit back and do nothing. If Indiana can put some serious teeth into its suspensions, clamp down on wayward vets, test for milkshakes before races, etc., any state can. Indiana is leading. It's time for others to follow.

Many state racing commissioners talk about cracking down on cheaters in our sport. Indiana regulators are taking serious action.

On March 16, the Indiana Horse Racing Commission approved regulations designed to end the "business as usual" activities in the stable of a suspended trainer. The new rule, pushed by the commission's executive director, Joe Gorajec, prevents a trainer banned for more than 15 days from transferring horses in his stable to a family member or employee. It's been the custom in racing for years that trainers who receive a suspension turn their horses over to a spouse or assistant trainer until they are allowed to return. The suspensions, thus, are ineffective as punishment. This new rule will force owners to transfer their horses from the suspended trainer to another barn if they wish to race them during the term of the suspension.

The Indiana rule also gives the commission the discretion to require that horses be stabled on the grounds of a racetrack if their trainer has been suspended. Horses from out of state also may be ruled ineligible to compete in Indiana if they are trained by an employee or family member of a trainer suspended in another jurisdiction.

Indiana regulators are setting the standard for other racing states, and not just through this latest regulation. Stiff penalties, tighter backstretch security, and enhanced drug testing are being used as deterrents to cheaters in Indiana, and a new program, Integrity '06, provides some of the details.

Practicing veterinarians are prohibited from seeing a horse on the day it races, with two exceptions: health emergencies and administration of the anti-bleeding medication Salix. Security personnel are required to observe all Salix shots, including the drawing of the medication from an unopened package.

Integrity '06 also clearly identifies horses on raceday and requires tracks to hire additional security whose sole responsibility is to watch those horses. An additional element of Integrity '06 is blood-gas (or milkshake) testing before a race, allowing stewards to scratch a horse in the event of a higher-than-permitted level.

Over the past year, according to Gorajec, four trainers found to have administered the corticosteroid dexamethasone (a Class 4 drug) on raceday received one-year suspensions, with two of the trainers agreeing not to re-apply for a license before 2010. Two veterinarians were suspended for a year for giving vitamin injections on the day of a race, and Gorajec has recommended a seven-year suspension to a trainer whose horse tested positive for the Class 1 drug mephentermine, a blood-pressure medication.

Indiana is not only tough on licensees that violate its rules. The commission has refused to license 53 applicants in 2005 and '06; 32 of those applicants held licenses from other states.

The horsemen are happy with these get-tough policies, according to the results of a survey conducted by Indiana University on behalf of the commission. According to the survey, 40% of respondents said regulatory efforts in Indiana were either better than average or the best they have experienced. The state's drug-testing program rated high, too, with 48% saying it was the best or better than average compared with other states. Only 14% said Indiana's penalties are too strict, with 46% saying they are about right and 22% saying they are too lenient.

(Complete results of the survey and details about Integrity '06 can be found at <http://www.in.gov/ihrcl/>.)

The commission's latest action, prohibiting the transfer of horses to an employee or family member in the event of a suspension to a trainer, is going to make life more difficult for those individuals who break the rules.

Good for Indiana. When will regulators in other states do more than just talk about cleaning up the sport?

Gorajec's Got Guts

The sins of cheating trainers and their cheating sponsors have so clouded the racing horizon that another sin of our sport—excessive whipping—has slid from public view.

Until recently, that is, when two of the toughest racing officials in North America—executive director Joe Gorajec of the Indiana Racing Commission and his presiding judge Tim Schmitz—took whips into their own hands.

Josh Sutton was the leading driver at both Hoosier Park and Indiana Downs in 2006. He also had multiple whipping offenses in both 2005 and 2006, and was driving on a probationary license as a result.

In the second race at Hoosier Park on May 19, Sutton drove a pacer named Staley Lane. When Sutton returned to the paddock after finishing a slashing fourth, the horse had “severe multiple lacerations,” according to the commission report. Investigation showed a 10-inch “snapper” at the end of Sutton’s whip, four more inches than are allowed. Tim Schmitz notified Gorajec.

Gorajec, tired of repeated violations, set Sutton down for six months and fined him $2,500. But he went a long step further.

Calling Sutton’s actions “an inexcusable act of cruelty,” and saying “the welfare of our horses and the perception and goodwill of our fans demand a significant penalty,” he told Indiana’s leading driver that he must sign an agreement not to apply for a license to race in the state until June 20, 2009—an effective two-year suspension.

The same day Gorajec set down Sutton for savage whipping, a U.S. federal judge in Indianapolis handed Gorajec a rousing victory in another case.

In August 2006, trainer Noel Daley shipped four horses owned by Adam Victor and Son to Indiana Downs for stakes competition. They had paid substantial nominating and sustaining fees, and sizeable shipping fees.

Daley was licensed in New Jersey, Kentucky, Illinois and Ohio, but not in Indiana. He had received a 270-day suspension in New Jersey, and $40,000 in fines for possession of illegal drugs and paraphernalia. When he showed up in Indiana on the day the first Victor horse was to race, Gorajec refused to issue him a license, and the horses were scratched.

Daley and the Victors sued Gorajec and the commission, contending they had acted “summarily and in bad faith” and violated their constitutional rights.

They lost on both counts.

U.S. Judge John Daniel Tinder called the constitutional issue “an odd claim,” saying the commission did not deprive the Victors of property or liberty, the basis of due process action under the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. He ruled that Gorajec had full discretion to deny the license application if the refusal or denial “is in the public interest for the purpose of maintaining proper control over pari-mutuel wagering.”

A few days after the Daley decision was handed down, Gorajec won still another victory for fortitude.

Churchill Downs announced that because of a clause in the contract under which it sold Ellis Park, it could not allow its Arlington or Calder signals to be simulcast to Indiana Downs’ Evansville, Ind., OTB.

Gorajec quickly recommended to his Racing Commission that it bar all Churchill signals from being simulcast

If owners are picking trainers who are routinely fined or suspended for medication infractions, we should reconsider an owner responsibility rule.

anywhere in Indiana unless they were simulcast to all tracks and their OTBs in the state. The commission took action immediately, and Churchill suddenly lifted the ban on signals going to Indiana Downs’ Evansville OTB.

On the subject of owners and their trainers, a significant thought from Ogden Phipps, the patriarchal chairman of Thoroughbred racing’s Jockey Club. “To be quite candid,” he said, “the stewards of the Jockey Club think it’s a disgrace that numerous horses in our sport’s most prominent and highly visible races are routinely trained by people who have repeated medication-related violations. If owners are picking trainers who are routinely fined or suspended for medication infractions, we should reconsider an owner responsibility rule.”

As for whipping, it creates not only pain on a horse, but disgust in the millions who dislike seeing animals abused. Ask Michael Vick. No one knows how many have abandoned racing because they dislike seeing horses whipped.

As for Joe Gorajec, some thought he overreacted. We think he showed guts, and wish there were more like him.

Executive Summary

According to Indiana law, all persons participating in pari-mutuel racing in Indiana are required to be licensed. The Indiana Horse Racing Commission (Commission)'s main focus is the regulation of horsemen participating at Indiana's two pari-mutuel tracks. To determine the horsemen's view of this state agency, the Commission asked Indiana University's School of Public and Environmental Affairs Center for Urban Policy and the Environment (Center) to conduct a survey of the licensed horsemen. This report presents the results of that survey which had a response rate of 35 percent.

Overall Regulatory Effectiveness

Two-thirds of respondents indicated that the effectiveness of the regulatory efforts in Indiana is either excellent or good. When respondents were asked to compare Indiana's regulatory efforts to other states, Indiana fared well with 40 percent indicating that Indiana was better than average or the best, and another 40 percent indicating that Indiana was average.

Experience Obtaining a License

A high percentage (87 percent) of respondents indicated that they had an excellent or good experience obtaining their license. More than half (55 percent) indicated that Indiana was the best or better than average when compared to other states. Almost all (93 percent) indicated that Commission staff was very helpful or somewhat helpful to them when obtaining their license.

Blood Gas Program

More than half (58 percent) thought that Indiana's blood gas program was either very effective or somewhat effective. When asked to compare Indiana's blood gas program to other states, almost half of the respondents (45 percent) thought Indiana was the best or better than average, while another one-third (34 percent) thought Indiana's program was average.

Effectiveness of Equine Drug Testing

Approximately three-fourths of respondents indicated that Indiana's equine drug testing program was either very effective or somewhat effective. When asked to compare Indiana's equine drug testing program to other states, 44 percent thought Indiana was the best or better than average and 40 percent indicated that Indiana was average.

Strictness of Penalties

Almost half (46 percent) think Indiana's penalties for rule violations are about right, with 14 percent indicating they are too strict and 22 percent indicating they are too lenient. When compared to other states, two-thirds (67 percent) indicated Indiana's penalties are about average, with 19 percent indicating Indiana is the strictest and only 5 percent indicating Indiana is the most lenient.

September 20, 2010

Dear Gaming Study Committee members,

The thousands of men and women of the horse racing and breeding industry wish to thank you for your interest in and your efforts to build and improve upon this important Indiana agribusiness.

We live this business every day. Our families and our futures depend on this industry. We know how much employment and economic activity is generated throughout the state every day as a result of the racing and breeding industry. But we recognize that understanding our industry and working to keep it growing and successful is not intuitive.

We know how important your knowledge of the industry will be in optimizing the economic effects of horse racing's share of slots revenues generated at the tracks. We know and are grateful for the legislative support that allowed slots at the tracks in the first place. And we know that you will be working – as we will be working – to ensure that the agribusiness opportunities stimulated by this industry continue to bear fruit for Indiana. We very much appreciate your leadership on issues that so directly affect us.

In the course of the upcoming Gaming Study Committee that will examine regulatory issues affecting the Indiana horse racing and breeding industry, you will hear from a broad sampling of perspectives. Some – a distinct minority of horsemen -- will promote a recommendation that incorporates proposals included in House Resolution 83 during the last legislative session.

We disagree with HR 83, and oppose taking what would be a step backward. The IHRC voted to change the breed development programs in January, 2010. A process has been followed since then that allowed for significant input from all horse associations and individuals. A program has been put in place that reflects input from that process. That program is working.

The elected leaders of the associations listed below, on behalf of thousands of members of our organizations; wish to go on record in support of the current philosophy of quality breed development and racing. We recognize that there is always room for improvement, even in a good program, and look forward to participating in the creation of the best Indiana program possible – one that will truly bring home a winner for Indiana.

RE: Thoroughbred Breed Development Quality of Racing

DATE: June 3, 2010

This letter is a response to the Executive Director, Chairman, and Commissioners of the Indiana Horse Racing Commission in reference to the "Thoroughbred Breed Development Quality of Racing Staff Recommendations" sent to the various stakeholders dated May 25, 2010.

The leadership and board of directors of the Indiana H.B.P.A., Inc. would like to state our position. We express our support for the staff recommendations with preference to scenario #1. We feel that scenario #2 is less desirable due to the proposed reduction of Indiana-bred races.

We respectfully request that the commission initiate these staff recommendations at the beginning of the 2010 race meet at Hoosier Park rather than waiting until the 2011 race meetings. This action would greatly assist the horsemen who have invested large sums of money and time into the Indiana equine industry. This early implementation would also have a more immediate impact on the Indiana economy. Your consideration of this recommendation is greatly appreciated.

Statistics for average racing careers provide a baseline in stallion selection

ONE OF THE established tenets of modern genetics is the concept of regression to the mean. Simply put, the fact that each cast of the genetic dice is governed by the laws of probability means that the offspring is most likely to be closest to the genetic mean than either parent. Thus, even if you mate two Triple Crown winners, you are more likely to get a modest runner than a Triple Crown winner.

But exactly how modest is the average Thoroughbred?

With that question in mind, we went to the Jockey Club's database to procure statistics that effectively would define the racing career of an average Thoroughbred. To produce thoroughly reliable data, we chose to look at an entire decade of foal crops born in North America, and to ensure that all those foals had essentially completed their racing careers, we generated data for all North American foals for the crops of 1991-2000.

Statistics include all racing in the Jockey Club's database, regardless of where the horses raced. Thus, whether a North American foal of 1991, for example, raced in the United States, Japan, or England (or all of the above), its racing career is accounted for in the statistics—if that career, or a portion of it, is included in the Jockey Club's files.

That "if" does acknowledge some incompleteness to the data. While Jockey Club data are complete for all North American racing back to the 1930s, complete data for England, Ireland, and France are available only beginning in '87, and data from other racing countries are incomplete prior to various points in the '90s. Thus, if a horse raced in Australia in 1993 and won a stakes race, most likely it will be counted as a winner and a stakes winner, but it is uncertain whether its number of starts will be accurate or that its earnings will be complete.

Still, the Jockey Club's database is the best in the world, and it gives us the most complete picture of the average North American Thoroughbred available.

The basic results of this inquiry are presented in the left-hand column of the accompanying table—statistics for all North American foals born in 1991-2000.

Of the 354,878 named North American foals in the period, 67.6% started somewhere in the world at some time during their racing careers. That means slightly more than two of every three named foals born in North America in 1991-2000 were sound enough to race at least once.

Only 45.9% of named foals won a race, however, and only 37.1% captured at least two races (repeat winners).

In the decade, 11,962 stakes winners were born, which amounts to 3.4% of the total foals born and 5% of all starters. The percentage of group or graded stakes winners is much smaller—only 0.6% of foals—while the 516 horses that won a Group/Grade 1 race totaled a miniscule 0.2% of the total.

Only 32.2% of named foals started at age two, and only 10.5% won. Percentages of two-year-old stakes winners and group/graded winners are correspondingly low.

Less than 60% of all named foals started at three, which is not too far removed from the overall percentage of starters from foals (67.6%). This indicates that almost all horses sound enough to race are sound enough and developed enough to race by age three. (Some race at two and do not race beyond that age.) After age three, percentage of starters declines.

The average foal, including the 32.4% that failed to start, raced only 14 times in its career. Those sound enough to race had an average career of 21 starts.

With the preponderance of sprint races in this country, it is no surprise the average winning distance was 6.74 furlongs. Winning distance on turf averaged 7.96 furlongs. Both average overall winning distance and average winning distance for turf races are decreasing.

Males had higher average earnings than females, $6,149 higher than the $40,675 average, while females averaged $6,298 lower than the mean.

The best

Users of the THOROUGHBRED TIMES Stallion Directory presumably are not very interested in breeding an average horse. Most breeders aim much higher, attempting to find that perfect stallion that will allow their mare to produce an elite racehorse. The right-hand column in the accompanying table illustrates averages of the foals by the best sires.

For the same 1991-2000 group of foals, data were extracted for offspring of the top 1% of all sires by total progeny earnings during the period. This amounted to 44,100 named foals by 102 sires. This does not include every good horse of the decade, and even the best sires produce more bad than good racehorses, but the data present a fair picture of the career of an average good sire.

Percentages and numbers are higher in every category than for the breed overall. More than three-quarters of foals by the best sires started at least once, and 58.9% of those foals by top sires won, far higher than averages for the breed. Similarly, percentage of repeat winners was 52.3%.

The percentage of stakes winners from foals sired by the top 1% of sires, 7.3%, is more than two times as high as the average for the breed, while percentage of graded stakes winners, 2.3%, is nearly four times as high. The biggest discrepancy in measures of quality is in the number and ratio of Grade/Group 1 winners to foals. The top 1% of sires produced 286 of the 516 Group/Grade 1 winners (55.4%), which represents 0.65% Grade/Group 1 winners from foals.

Offspring of the best stallions also are more sound than average. The 33,211 starters by the top 1% of stallions averaged 22 starts during their careers. Average career starts, including the non-starters, was 16, compared with 14 for the breed. Average winning distance, 7.01 furlongs, also was higher.

By definition, offspring of the best stallions earned significantly more money than the mean, averaging $80,049 per starter, which results in an average Racing Index (RI) of 2.01, compared with the 1.10 average of the breed. So, while it is obvious that prospects for a Thoroughbred picked at random from the total population may not be very promising, it is equally obvious that selecting at least one high-class parent is an effective way of increasing your chances.

The THOROUGHBRED TIMES Stallion Directory has been designed to help the user choose sires that will be among the top 1% of the breed and thus have the best chance of producing high-caliber racehorses. Averages for the breed give the user an idea of just what they are shooting for.—John P. Sparkman

The Intent of the Indiana Bred program for Thoroughbreds

In 1995, the Indiana Horse Racing Commission unanimously accepted the Indiana Bred program as it was designed and presented by Eddie Martin, Tim Sams and Mari George. All three members have been recognized as three of the most successful owner/breeders, not only in Indiana, but nationally as well. Tim Sams is the only Indiana resident to have bred a Kentucky Derby winner (Foolish Pleasure). Eddie Martin is currently ranked as one of the top 200 breeders of money winners in North America and one of the top breeders of two-year olds at the North American Horse sales. Mari George is consistently Indiana's top breeder of Thoroughbreds and Quarter Horses.

The Indiana Bred Program was designed to create a substantial economic impact on the State of Indiana's agribusiness and jobs through breeding, rearing and training of quality thoroughbred horses. Using the economic law of supply and demand as the basis of the program, the committee's objective was to develop demand for Indiana Bred horses at the race track and auction houses. If enough demand for Indiana bred horses was created, the supply of these horses would be met by Indiana breeders on Indiana farms. This is where substantial capital is invested in acreage, barns, facilities and jobs to create a foundation of infrastructure which Indiana did not have at the time. Agricultural goods and services for hay, straw, oats, and corn would positively impact Indiana farmers. Veterinarian and horse shoeing providers would be positively impacted as well.

The demand for quality Indiana bred horses would be achieved through:

- Higher purses for Indiana bred only races than open race purses.
- 20% Owner awards (higher return on investment for owners who buy Indiana bred horses).
- 20% Breeder awards for the breeders who make huge capital investments in a product where 55% of all horses produced NEVER win a race. These awards are only earned by winning horses which promotes quality through competition.
- 10% Stallion owner awards reward stallion owners who invest in quality stallions.

These awards are earned by success as defined on the race track through winning.

ITOBA questions the hostile takeover attempt of the Indiana Bred program by unqualified bureaucrats of the Indiana Horse Racing Commission (IHRC) and Indiana Downs.

Since the Indiana pari-mutuel statute was adopted by the Indiana Legislature in 1989, each racing breed has been represented by a breed development advisory committee authorized by statute. These three member committees are appointed by the governor as follows:

IC4-31-11-4 Members Requirements

Sec. 4. Each development committee consists of three (3) members appointed by the governor. The members of each development committee must be residents of Indiana who are knowledgeable in horse breeding and racing and must include one (1) member who is an owner and one (1) member who is a breeder. No more than two (2) members of each development committee may be members of the same political party.

As added by P.L.341-1989(ss), SEC.2.

Those of us who worked on the passage of pari-mutuel in Indiana know the reason for these requirements. It was to insure that people who really understood our industry were the ones who were recommending policies that would create and grow our industry. Senator Larry Borst, the author of the pari-mutuel statute, did not want unqualified bureaucrats making bad policy. Their purpose is as follows:

IC 4-31-11-9 Recommendations to Commission

Sec. 9. (a) Each development committee may make recommendations to the commission concerning:

- (1) stakes races;
- (2) futurity races;
- (3) races only for horses owned by Indiana residents;
- (4) races only for horses sired by stallions standing in Indiana;

(5) races only for horses foaled in Indiana; or
(6) races for any combination of horses described in subdivision (3), (4), or (5).

Races described in subdivisions (3) through (6) may be for different distances and may be limited by the age, sex, or gait of the horse.

(b) Each development committee may make recommendations to the commission concerning:

- (1) cooperative arrangements with statewide breed associations; and
- (2) distribution of money available in a development fund in order to supplement a purse for a race at a county fair or agricultural exposition in Indiana.

As added by P.L.341-1989(ss), SEC.2.

In 1994, the Indiana Bred program was approved by the IHRC as authored and submitted by the Thoroughbred Development Advisory Committee. The original committee's objective was to develop an economic development program for the state of Indiana by creating demand for Indiana bred horses through four variables.

1. Owners Awards
2. Breeders Awards (In state and out of state)
3. Stallion Owners Awards
4. Restricted races for Indiana bred with above average purses.

As the result of increased demand for Indiana-bred thoroughbreds, Indiana breeders would then meet the demand by increasing the supply of them. Economic studies have shown the breeding industry is where there is significant capital investment in farms, acreage, homes, barns, fence, vehicles equipment, hay, oats, corn, jobs and property taxes. This sector of the industry has high multipliers of economic impact in the state as well. As purse levels increase, the competition to win them would naturally increase the quality of Indiana bred horses and stallions.

In 1996, Maiden Special Weight purses for Indiana bred were $34,000 but there were only 40 days of racing. The increase number of racing days in the following 12 years with little or no increase in the available purse pools diluted Indiana purses to where a Maiden Special Weight purse for Indiana bred was $13,000 in 2008 at Indiana Downs. From 2002 to 2007, yearly efforts by the Indiana Horse Racing and Breeding Coalition to secure slot machines at the race tracks legislation was our industry's top priority.

The goals of the thoroughbred industry were to receive enough increases in revenues to support 120 days of racing per year with a daily open purse distribution of $250,000, as well as providing increases to the Indiana Thoroughbred Development Fund to provide purse supplements for restricted races, and to pay for the awards generated in those races. In the spring of 2007, the slot bill was finally passed and the prospects of achieving the previously stated goals were very realistic.

First Indications of Forced Change by Non-experts

Since the formation of the Thoroughbred Development Advisory Committee in 1994 until the fall of 2008, the process to formulate and implement suggestions concerning all aspects of the Indiana bred program, was very consistent and efficient.

The committee would hold a series of meetings attended by representatives from ITOBA, Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association (HBPA) and each race track and would analyze and discuss the concluded race meets and would identify areas and issues that needed to be tweaked and approved. Once agreed upon in these meetings, the suggestions would be forwarded to the IHRC and be approved at the next IHRC meeting with little exception.

In the fall of 2008, the 14-year process hit a snag. Indiana Downs' general manager came to the breed development committee members and stated that he was given a mandate to improve the quality of the open races at his track by the IHRC executive director and in order to do so, the 14-year funding formula for Indiana-bred restricted races had to be significantly modified.

The 14-year purse funding formula was simple. The base purse funded by the horsemen's purse account was equal to the equivalent open race purse of class and condition. Thoroughbred Development would add a purse supplement on top of the base purse to the desired purse levels established by the committee through forecasted expense budgets.

The Indiana Downs general manager explained he could not increase the quality of the open races as mandated by the IHRC executive director and needed to eliminate the base purse formula all together. This would require Thoroughbred Development to pay for 100 percent of all restricted races for Indiana bred, as well as funding the awards program. Needless to say, this was a huge curve ball received from the Indiana Downs general manager, and breed development did not have the budget to pay for both. A stalemate was at hand.

In January 2009, the IHRC adopted a recommendation from the Indiana Downs general manager establishing a base purse of $6,000 provided by the horsemen's purse account for restricted Indiana-bred races. Under the old formula, the base purse for a maiden special weight, Indiana bred race in 2009 would have been $18,000. To make matters more difficult, the IHRC did not even allow the Thoroughbred Development Advisory Committee's proposal to be reviewed, stating it was received by the IHRC a day late, although it was received the same day as the Indiana Downs' general manager's proposal. It had become clear it was the intent of the IHRC executive director, as well as the Indiana Downs general manager, to bypass the committee if they disagreed with them in the future.

The current advisory members believe it is their job as defined by statute to provide their recommendations as they see fit and not because they were told to. They believe their experience in the industry provides them with the necessary knowledge to make these recommendations and the IHRC can accept them or refuse them, but their proposals should be reviewed, pursuant to statute.

The Attempt to Change Law to Eliminate the Committee by Law

In early January 2010 during the first week of the Indiana General Assembly, a bill was introduced in the senate appropriations committee (Senate bill 001) initiated by the Governor's office on the behalf of the IHRC, that would eliminate all Breed Development Advisory Committees. It was introduced on a committee agenda that was modified after it was filed and posted, which can indicate an effort to hide it and pass it without any testimony against it.

It was discovered by one of our industry lobbyist, and each breed was able to attend the committee hearing and testify against the bill. The committee chair told us that he would allow the bill to pass committee that day, but he asked the horse groups to meet with the sponsor to discuss its amending before a second reading on the Senate floor.

The harness and thoroughbred efforts resulted in the amendment that removed the language that eliminated all breed development advisory committees. This was a huge victory by us because the Senate is controlled by the Governor's party, and this bill came from the Governor's office at the request of the IHRC! When the breeds act collectively, we achieve great things. When we don't, we lose.

Due to this clandestine attempt to eliminate the advisory committee process and give the sole authority to manage the Indiana bred program to unqualified, non-experienced bureaucrats, the thoroughbred industry representatives felt it was necessary to protect the Indiana-bred program by establishing it in Indiana law and not IHRC rules. The House of Representatives approved this language by passing our amendment to SB 405 which was the only germane gaming bill in the 2010 session.

Due to issues relating to the movement of a Gary, Ind. riverboat license, SB 405 was withdrawn by its author and our chance of protecting the Indiana-bred program and restricted purse funding in law was gone. House Representative Terry Goodin, who authored the amendment that was passed in the House, was able to get a House resolution passed that urged the IHRC to adopt the language of amendment 83. This amendment established a formula for funding restricted races by establishing 70 percent of the equivalent open race purse as the base purse and the breed development fund would add supplement to a level that is 20 percent higher than its open race counterpart.

It also modified the awards to pay 20 percent of the total purse for restricted and open races won by Indiana breeds for both owners and breeders' awards. It also mandated each track must card a minimum of two restricted races $10,000 claiming and higher per day. Currently they only have to card one or more. To this date, the IHRC has refused to recognize the elements of House resolution 83.

The January 29 , 2010 IHRC Meeting Debacle

"Déjà Vu all over again," was how one commission lawyer described the Thoroughbred Development recommendation portion of the IHRC agenda that day. According to IHRC staff, the Thoroughbred Advisory Committee did not submit their proposal to the IHRC by the deadline again, but each commissioner did have their proposal in hand. Instead of taking the time to review the proposal and allowing the committee to fully explain their position, the vice chair awkwardly made a motion not to accept the proposal after the Indiana Downs general manager asked them to deny it.

In his motion, the vice chair suggested to adopt the same program in 2010 as the thoroughbreds had in 2009 which was $2.2 million less in funding than in the 2010 committee proposal. This is why restricted Indiana-bred races are $10,000 less in 2010 than the equivalent open race. At the same time, the vice chair asked the IHRC executive director to develop a four-step process that would result in recommended changes in the Indiana bred program for 2011 and future.

ITOBA feels the actions taken at the 1-29 IHRC meeting were ill advised and the impact of their decision was not properly thought out and has resulted in negative effects on the 2010 thoroughbred breeding season and have damaged innocent owners and breeders of Indiana bred horses.

Indiana Bred Program for 2011 and Future

The IHRC executive director has indicated that he is in favor of eliminating the 20 percent owners' awards that currently exist and having restricted Indiana-bred purses at the same level as the equivalent open races. He also advocates a 40 percent purse supplement for Indiana breeds who finish first, second, third in any open race, similar to the Pennsylvania program.

ITOBA has no problem with an open race supplement, but we oppose the elimination of owner's awards. The IHRC's executive director's final proposal is due to be issued the June 1, and a vote on it is due June 29 by the IHRC members. If ITOBA feels the 6-29 IHRC approved Indiana-bred program for 2011 and future does not adequately create increased demand and production of Indiana bred horses, it will more than likely attempt to address it again in the 2011 general assembly.

We have to get this right. If we don't, the legislature believes they have better uses for the $60,000,000 the three breeds receive from the slots for purses and breed development. We believe people with practical experience in our industry are the ones who should make these decisions.

What most people have told me is they believe yearly changes the past two years have resulted in reduced confidence of breeders and owners who have invested in Indiana based on previously established program rules. We totally agree. 🐎

Indiana Horse Racing Commission Votes to Eliminate Owner Awards for Registered Indiana Bred Horses

Rule is effective for the 2010 Hoosier Park meet

On July 13, 2010, the Indiana Horse Racing Commission voted on several changes to the Indiana bred program for thoroughbreds, but the most controversial change is the elimination of the 20 percent owner awards paid to the winning owner of a registered Indiana Bred Horse that wins any race at an Indiana pari-mutuel race track. This award was free of any jockey or trainer commissions to owners.

This award was originally designed to create more demand for Indiana Bred horses by offering greater return on investment potential for perspective owners. More demand for Indiana horses meant increased production of Indiana Bred horses, which ultimately resulted in more economic impact on the state of Indiana. In other words, a crucial part of a comprehensive economic development program developed by experienced commercial breeders appointed by the Governor to the Thoroughbred Breed Development Advisory Committee, as mandated in the Indiana pari-mutuel statute.

In my June 2010 editorial entitled "TTOBA questions the hostile takeover attempt of the Indiana Bred program by unqualified bureaucrats from the IHRC and Indiana Downs", I detailed how the Executive Director of the IHRC and the General Manager of Indiana Downs have been on a mission to bypass the Breed Development Advisory Committee and take over the program even though they are not qualified as defined in the pari-mutuel statute.

The Executive Director designated both tracks as "stakeholders" in the Indiana bred program and relied primarily on them in for input and minimizing the importance of industry groups and the Breed Development Advisory Committee. The problem with the tracks being designated as "stakeholders" in the breed development process is they have a glaring conflict of interest with the breeds.

The General Manager of Indiana Downs held meetings with all breed groups and informed them of Indiana Downs legislative agenda at the beginning of the year. Their primary goal is to reduce the percentage of the slot income horsemen currently receive by 30 percent. They also want to transfer $18 million in gaming tax liability and require the horse breeds to pay it, and want to add table card games paying no commission to the horse breeds. Granting the tracks "stakeholder" status in establishing breed development policy is like having the fox guard the hen house!

This is my opinion and, I may be wrong, but most Indiana owners and breeders strongly agree.

The Executive Director's recommendations are as follows. They were adopted by the Indiana Horse Racing Commission on July 13, 2010, and will become effective with the 2010 Hoosier Park thoroughbred meet:

Purse Levels: Purses for Indiana bred and/or Indiana sired races shall be the same as open race purses (excluding purse supplement on open races). However, subject to available funds, should the number of Indiana bred races for a claiming price of $10,000 or more fall below an average of two per day, the track may provide purse levels greater than open races.

Owner's Awards: Eliminated. Proposed purse supplements on open races exceed owner's awards previously paid.

Breeder's Awards: No change except to standardize formula for restricted races and open races. Awards will be paid on purse supplements.

Stallion Owner Awards: No change except to standardize formula for restricted races and open races. Awards will be paid on purse supplements.

Out-of-State Owner awards: No change.

production of these horses produced on Indiana farms that create jobs and a multitude of other important economic impact areas. This is the reflection of the law of supply and demand which rules in capitalist economies.

Who supported the rule change?

ITOBA and the Thoroughbred Development Advisory Committee appointed by the Governor have gone on record to oppose the rule changes because they feel the changes are not in the best interest of the State of Indiana because the changes reduce the demand for Indiana bred thoroughbreds due to the decrease in the earnings potential. The president of the HBPA of Indiana sent two letters supporting the rule changes but 50 percent of the elected members of their Board of Directors felt the letters violated Indiana statutes regarding actions taken without a formal Board of Directors meeting.

The HBPA of Indiana subsequently held a Board of Directors meeting on July 9 and discussed the two letters sent in June stating their board supported the rule changes.

The IHRC Executive Director, as well as the General Managers of both tracks, was in attendance at the July 9 Board of Directors meeting. Many owners and breeders who attended the "non-closed" portion of the HBPA meeting commented they felt this was a blatant act of intimidation to influence the outcome of a legitimate board vote. Of the ten elected HBPA board of directors, five voted to support the rule changes, three voted against the changes and two abstained to vote.

The majority of the elected HBPA of Indiana Board of Directors privately stated that they prefer the 15 year precedence of purse and award structure but feared potential negative reactions by the IHRC Executive Director and the Indiana Downs General Manager. Seven of the directors as well as the president who voted to support the rule changes or abstained to vote, directly or indirectly occupy 120 stalls at Indiana Downs. The three that voted against the rule change occupied NO stalls at Indiana Downs.

As you know, stalls equal financial life blood for trainers and owners in Indiana due to the limited number of stalls at Indiana Downs.

You decide.

Purse Supplements in Open Races: Initiate a forty percent (40%) purse supplement to be paid by each track with track purse funds generated from pari-mutuel handle. The supplement is to be paid to Indiana horses placing 1st, 2nd and 3rd in open races except races for a claiming price below $10,000. The track may, with the approval of the Commission, elect to increase this purse supplement. This purse supplement replaces owner's awards for Indiana bred horses in open races.

Funding Sources:

Slot funding: As provided in IC § 4-35-7-12, 40% of thoroughbred monies are directed to be used solely for breed development purposes. Under this recommendation, 60% of thoroughbred monies would be utilized by the tracks solely for open race purses.

Pari-mutuel Funds: Purse monies generated from pari-mutuel wagering shall be allocated in proportion to the number of Indiana Bred and open races programmed. For example, if three of a track's nine races are Indiana bred races, one-third of the pari-mutuel generated purse money will be allocated for breed development purposes. The tracks, at their discretion, may utilize open purse money for the purpose of continued funding of Indiana bred races with a claiming price of less than $10,000.

How do these changes affect economic impact to the State of Indiana?

ITOBA believes the IHRC's adoption of these rule changes will result in less income to owners of Indiana bred horses compared to the 15 year precedent of how Indiana bred purses were positioned. The comparison is noted in the table above.

Given the fact the new rules significantly reduce the earnings potential of an Indiana Bred horse, it would be a reasonable assumption the demand for Indiana horses would decline significantly as well. Decline in demand for Indiana Bred horses, therefore would result in the decline in

Indiana Legislature is next step to restore the Indiana-bred program

In the past two editions of the Midwest Thoroughbred, I have tried to detail the chain of events that have led to the elimination of Owners Awards and reduction of overall purses vs. open purses for Indiana-bred horses. To recap these losses, let's focus on what the Indiana-bred program used to provide compared to what it provides now.

1994 through 2009

- Indiana-bred purses higher than open purses (10% higher in 2009)
- 20% Owners Awards
- 20% Breeders Awards
- 10% Stallion Owners Awards (2009)

Effective July 24 2010

- Indiana-bred purses equal to open purses
- 20 % Breeders Awards
- 10% Stallion Owners Awards

The IHRC has led horsemen's groups (Indiana HBPA) to believe the 20% Owners Awards had been "rolled" into purses, and is a "wash" as the selling point. Many horse people contend if they had been rolled into purses, Indiana-bred purses would be higher than open purses by at least 30% (10% higher in 2009 plus the rolled in 20%), but they are only equal to open purses.

To say the 20% Owners Awards are now rolled into the purses are misleading at best, according to many horse people who are familiar with math. According to industry experts, what really transpired is the IHRC reduced the overall funding sources to the Indiana-bred purses, and needed to use breed development monies earmarked for Owners Awards just to keep the Indiana-bred purses equal to the open purses. And this is better for the state of Indiana because...?

House and Senate to hold hearings on Breed Development in September

Representative Terry Goodin (D- Austin, Ind.) and Senator William Steele (R- Bedford, Ind.) will co-chair an interim study committee consisting of six House representatives and six Senators. The committee will hold two hearings (one in September and one in October) concerning the Indiana-bred program for Thoroughbreds, in particular, but will include Standardbreds and Quarter Horses, as well.

As you may know from my June editorial, Representative Goodin was the author of House Resolution 83 that encouraged the IHRC to retain a 20% Owners Award, 20% Breeders Award and a 10% Stallion Owners Award, as well as establishing a purse funding formula for Indiana-bred purses to be 30% higher than open races. This committee will ask for testimony from the IHRC on how the recent reductions in the Indiana-bred program are superior vs. the variables of House Resolution 83 variables for the state of Indiana's economy since the Indiana-bred program was designed to be an economic development program for Indiana.

In November, this committee will publish findings and recommendations that will serve as a legislative guide for potentially drafting a bill that could establish the Indiana bred variables of House Resolution 83 into state law rather than IHRC rule. ITOBA has exhausted every other avenue to keep the best state-bred program in America from being systematically dismantled, and reducing the value of the Indiana-bred program to the Indiana economy.

This effort may be our last and only chance to do so, and preserve the best program in America.

Stay tuned for updates next month in the Midwest Thoroughbred.

Owners Awards

- Create more earnings potential for an owner to buy an Indiana bred horse.
- More earnings potential creates a higher demand for Indiana bred horses.
- Higher demand for Indiana bred horses require a larger supply of Indiana bred horses.
- Indiana breeders will produce more Indiana bred horses, thus stimulating the investment of capital into the State of Indiana. This directly impacts four of the five listed mandates that define the IHRC's stated purpose.

2010 INDIANA FACT BOOK

A statistical guide to the Thoroughbred industry
in Indiana

Prepared by The Jockey Club

Preface

This report has been compiled as an industry service by The Jockey Club with the intent of shedding some statistical light on the Thoroughbred industry in Indiana and, in particular, trends that have evolved over the past two decades.

It contains sections on breeding, racing and auction sales. Statistics within the breeding section and those pertaining to racing performance by foaling year are updated on a regular basis.

Statistics contained herein are provided courtesy of The Jockey Club, The Jockey Club Information Systems Inc. and Equibase Company LLC.

Information pertaining to stallions, mares bred and foal crops are maintained in The Jockey Club's pedigree database and reflect information submitted to the Registry by owners and breeders throughout North America as of the date listed on the page.

Information pertaining to races, purses, starters, starts and field size are maintained in the Equibase Company database as collected and reported by chart-callers at tracks throughout North America.

Information pertaining to the number of weanlings, yearlings and 2-year-olds sold at auction, gross sales, average price and median price are maintained in the equine.com database of The Jockey Club Information Systems.

Although references by The Jockey Club to North America routinely include the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico, for the purposes of this report, North America refers only to the United States and Canada, unless specified otherwise. In addition, since 2005, Canadian purses have been converted to their equivalent amount in U.S. funds.

Many other statistics about the Thoroughbred industry can be found in The Jockey Club's Online Fact Book (jockeyclub.com/factbook.asp) or in the printed edition of the Fact Book, which is published annually in May.

The Jockey Club is dedicated to the improvement of Thoroughbred breeding and racing and serves as the breed registry for North American Thoroughbreds.

2010 KENTUCKY FACT BOOK

A statistical guide to the
Thoroughbred industry
in Kentucky

Prepared by The Jockey Club

Preface

This report has been compiled as an industry service by The Jockey Club with the intent of shedding some statistical light on the Thoroughbred industry in Kentucky and, in particular, trends that have evolved over the past two decades.

It contains sections on breeding, racing and auction sales. Statistics within the breeding section and those pertaining to racing performance by foaling year are updated on a regular basis.

Statistics contained herein are provided courtesy of The Jockey Club, The Jockey Club Information Systems Inc. and Equibase Company LLC.

Information pertaining to stallions, mares bred and foal crops are maintained in The Jockey Club's pedigree database and reflect information submitted to the Registry by owners and breeders throughout North America as of the date listed on the page.

Information pertaining to races, purses, starters, starts and field size are maintained in the Equibase Company database as collected and reported by chart-callers at tracks throughout North America.

Information pertaining to the number of weanlings, yearlings and 2-year-olds sold at auction, gross sales, average price and median price are maintained in the equineline.com database of The Jockey Club Information Systems.

Although references by The Jockey Club to North America routinely include the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico, for the purposes of this report, North America refers only to the United States and Canada, unless specified otherwise. In addition, since 2005, Canadian purses have been converted to their equivalent amount in U.S. funds.

Many other statistics about the Thoroughbred industry can be found in The Jockey Club's Online Fact Book (jockeyclub.com/factbook.asp) or in the printed edition of the Fact Book, which is published annually in May.

The Jockey Club is dedicated to the improvement of Thoroughbred breeding and racing and serves as the breed registry for North American Thoroughbreds.

2010 LOUISIANA FACT BOOK

A statistical guide to the
Thoroughbred industry
in Louisiana

Prepared by The Jockey Club

Preface

This report has been compiled as an industry service by The Jockey Club with the intent of shedding some statistical light on the Thoroughbred industry in Louisiana and, in particular, trends that have evolved over the past two decades.

It contains sections on breeding, racing and auction sales. Statistics within the breeding section and those pertaining to racing performance by foaling year are updated on a regular basis.

Statistics contained herein are provided courtesy of The Jockey Club, The Jockey Club Information Systems Inc. and Equibase Company LLC.

Information pertaining to stallions, mares bred and foal crops are maintained in The Jockey Club's pedigree database and reflect information submitted to the Registry by owners and breeders throughout North America as of the date listed on the page.

Information pertaining to races, purses, starters, starts and field size are maintained in the Equibase Company database as collected and reported by chart-callers at tracks throughout North America.

Information pertaining to the number of weanlings, yearlings and 2-year-olds sold at auction, gross sales, average price and median price are maintained in the equineline.com database of The Jockey Club Information Systems.

Although references by The Jockey Club to North America routinely include the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico, for the purposes of this report, North America refers only to the United States and Canada, unless specified otherwise. In addition, since 2005, Canadian purses have been converted to their equivalent amount in U.S. funds.

Many other statistics about the Thoroughbred industry can be found in The Jockey Club's Online Fact Book (jockeyclub.com/factbook.asp) or in the printed edition of the Fact Book, which is published annually in May.

The Jockey Club is dedicated to the improvement of Thoroughbred breeding and racing and serves as the breed registry for North American Thoroughbreds.

2010 FLORIDA FACT BOOK

A statistical guide to the
Thoroughbred industry
in Florida

Prepared by The Jockey Club

Preface

This report has been compiled as an industry service by The Jockey Club with the intent of shedding some statistical light on the Thoroughbred industry in Florida and, in particular, trends that have evolved over the past two decades.

It contains sections on breeding, racing and auction sales. Statistics within the breeding section and those pertaining to racing performance by foaling year are updated on a regular basis.

Statistics contained herein are provided courtesy of The Jockey Club, The Jockey Club Information Systems Inc. and Equibase Company LLC.

Information pertaining to stallions, mares bred and foal crops are maintained in The Jockey Club's pedigree database and reflect information submitted to the Registry by owners and breeders throughout North America as of the date listed on the page.

Information pertaining to races, purses, starters, starts and field size are maintained in the Equibase Company database as collected and reported by chart-callers at tracks throughout North America.

Information pertaining to the number of weanlings, yearlings and 2-year-olds sold at auction, gross sales, average price and median price are maintained in the equineline.com database of The Jockey Club Information Systems.

Although references by The Jockey Club to North America routinely include the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico, for the purposes of this report, North America refers only to the United States and Canada, unless specified otherwise. In addition, since 2005, Canadian purses have been converted to their equivalent amount in U.S. funds.

Many other statistics about the Thoroughbred industry can be found in The Jockey Club's Online Fact Book (jockeyclub.com/factbook.asp) or in the printed edition of the Fact Book, which is published annually in May.

The Jockey Club is dedicated to the improvement of Thoroughbred breeding and racing and serves as the breed registry for North American Thoroughbreds.
