

Session 1

Legal Literacy (1 LEU / Room A)

Catherine Lemmer, Law Librarian from the IUPUI Law Library, will present an overview of legal literacy, how legal topics affect libraries and the many resources that are available.

Genealogy (1LEU / Room B)

Is your library poised to help genealogical researchers learn more about their family history? Staff members from the Indiana State Library Genealogy department will discuss the library's role in genealogy research and explore many different resources available.

The Future of Cataloging (1LEU / Room C)

Join us as Tina Baich, Librarian from Indiana University Purdue University Indianapolis, discusses the future of cataloging, RDA, metadata and the Library of Congress and the upcoming changes that will affect how your technical services department moves the library into the 21st Century.

Session 2

Common Core: How Can Your Library Help? (1 LEU / Room A)

Please join Jill Lyday, Literacy Specialist from the Indiana Department of Education, as she discusses the Common Core and how your library can help schools meet the demands of this changing curriculum.

Certification (1 LEU / Room B)

Emily Schaber, Certification Coordinator for the Indiana State Library, will present a valuable workshop on the do's and don'ts of librarian certification in the state of Indiana. Come find out more information and find out if your library is meeting this challenge.

Financial Literacy (1 LEU / Room C)

Representatives from Indiana Secretary of State Connie Lawson's office will present its Financial Literacy workshop and explain how your library can partner with their office in promotion of events such as Money Smart Week and other financial management workshops.

Session 3

Health Information Literacy (1 LEU / Room A)

Christina Wray, librarian at the Center for Disability Information and Referral at Indiana University, will present a workshop on health literacy and how to help your patrons with their health-related questions.

Adult Literacy (1LEU / Room B)

Join Travis DiNicola, Executive Director of Indy Reads, will speak on how to grow a strong literacy initiative with your library and the local community. He will highlight information from this successful literacy program and answer questions as to how your library might partner to develop a similar program in your own community.

Geographic Information Literacy (1LEU / Room C)

With more information being available online, it is important for patrons to be savvy when it comes to geographic information. Jim Sparks, Indiana Geographic Information Officer, will discuss the importance of understanding these types of systems and highlight types of geospatial information that are available to librarians statewide.

Session 4

E-Government Literacy (1 LEU / Room A)

Indiana State Library subject experts, Katie Springer and Kim Brown-Harden, discuss how librarians can help patrons find government information "you can use"!

Early Literacy: The First Literacy (1LEU / Room B)

Join Suzanne Walker, Children's Services Consultant as she explains the six skills and five practices children must have in their tool kit before they learn how to read. Sound complicated? It's as easy as Talking, Singing, Reading, Writing, and Playing.

Preservation Literacy (1 LEU / Room C)

Libraries play an important role in preserving local cultural history but how do you tackle such a huge topic with limited supplies and budget? Learn more about preservation in libraries and protecting your cultural heritage.
