Administrative History

The Indiana Department of Public Instruction is a previous name (1852-1976) of the Indiana Department of Education. The director of the department is still termed the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The department is charged with:

IC 20-19-3-4

Duties of department; suspension and expulsion statistics Sec. 4. (a) The department shall:

- (1) perform the duties required by statute;
- (2) implement the policies and procedures established by the state board;
- (3) conduct analytical research to assist the state board in determining the state's educational policy;
- (4) compile statistics concerning the ethnicity, gender, and disability status of students in Indiana schools, including statistics for all information that the department receives from school corporations on enrollment, number of suspensions, and number of expulsions; and
- (5) provide technical assistance to school corporations.

IC 20. [Indiana Code. Title 20.] 2013 Code. Retrieved 2014/08/05. <http://www.in.gov/legislative/ic/archive/2013/ic/2013/title20/>
