Re: Student Instructional Expenditure Report for 2007-08 School Year

Attached is the 2007-08 Student Instructional Expenditure report as required by IC 20-42.5-3-5. OMB has computed the ratio of student instructional expenditures to all other expenditures for each school corporation, each education service center region, and the state as a whole. These computations are based upon financial data as submitted by each school corporation, and upon four expenditure categories approved by the Indiana State Board of Education in March 2007.

For purposes of this report, Student Instructional Expenditures are defined as the sum of two categories: 1-Student academic achievement (teacher salaries, principals, speech pathologists, media services, textbooks), and 2-Student instructional support (guidance counselors, nurses, curriculum development, superintendents, school boards, instruction related technology).

Non-Instructional Expenditures are the remaining two categories: 3-Overhead and operational (legal services, business support, maintenance, transportation, food service, athletic coaches, administrative technology), and 4-Nonoperational (school construction, debt, interest, lease rental). A handful of expenditures, such as inter-fund transfers, have been excluded to prevent double-counting.

Overall, the statewide Student Instructional Expenditures ratio in 2007-08 was 60.6%. This figure is lower than the reported 61.4% ratio from the previous 2006-07 year and identical to the 60.6% ratio during the baseline year of 2005-06. The reported ratio from ten years prior in 1997-98 was 62.8%. Out of 329 school corporations and charter schools, 145 had a higher ratio over the previous year.

Before drawing conclusions comparing 2007-08 figures to those of previous years, it should be noted that the chart of accounts for school expenditures was revised effective January 1, 2008. As such, six months of the period of this report was based on the old chart of accounts and the other six months based on the updated chart of accounts. The transition to a new chart of accounts would have caused a shift in the calculation of the category totals, even if the relative size of all expenditures had stayed constant. Some examples:

- Before January 1, 2008, employer-provided benefits (e.g., insurance, retirement, Social Security, etc.) were recorded together, regardless of the type of employee for whom it was expended. Thus, benefits for past years (and the first half of this report) were prorated according to the personnel costs in each category. Records from 2008 forward will be more accurate than previous estimates. It appears that the proration methodology overestimated the actual student instructional ratio.

- Technology expenditures on the pre-2008 chart of accounts were lumped together, whether the services were instruction-related or administrative in nature. Now these different types of expenses are separated into Category 2-Student instructional support (223xx) and Category 3-Overhead and operational (258xx). This delineation means some expenses previously classified as instructional to be non-instructional.
- One new account classified as Category 2-Student instructional support, Supervision of Personnel Services (25710), is the combination of two previously separate accounts, one of which was classified as Category 2-Student instructional support (Staff Services) and another which was classified as Category 3-Overhead and operational (Direction of Central Support Service). This fusion will result in some comparatively minimal expenses previously classified as non-instructional to be instructional.

Other additions to the chart of accounts were handled as follows:

Account #	Description	Category
21610, 21620	Occupational Therapy	2-Student instructional support
21710, 21720	Physical Therapy	2-Student instructional support
22400	Academic Student Assessment	1-Student academic achievement
22900	Other Support Service - Instructional Staff	2-Student instructional support
25790	Other Personnel Services	2-Student instructional support
60800	Self-Insurance Payments	Excluded

Similar to a scale which has been recalibrated, the revised chart of accounts offers a more precise measurement than what was available in the past. Because previous measurements were overstated, it is possible that the actual statewide ratio of student instructional expenditures improved, even though the reported number decreased. (This will continue to be an issue for next year’s report, as it will be the first year with a full twelve months under the updated chart of accounts.)

Thus, there were likely more than 145 school districts who improved the actual ratio of student instructional expenditures. Nonetheless, it is clear that these 145 districts deserve recognition for improvement as their measured ratios increased even with the impact of the chart of accounts changes.

Regardless of the exact percentage of K-12 dollars that are spent in the classroom, OMB stands ready to assist the Indiana Department of Education and local school districts in exploring joint purchasing, shared services, and other opportunities to drive this percentage higher.
