About Indiana Virtual

- Indiana Virtual School provides a high quality, technology-based education for students with specific life circumstances which require an alternative learning scenario.
  - Many INVS students enroll during their stay in one of the many Department of Child Services group homes or treatment facilities. Others find the online nature and customized pacing a good fit for their particular life circumstances.
    - Rachel is a teen mother who dropped out of high school during her pregnancy. She has only three semesters of classes left to earn her diploma, but caring for her new baby prevents her from going back to traditional school. She's now working on her classes through Indiana Virtual School, and with the Accelerated Pace Chart, she's on track to graduate a full semester earlier than she would have in a traditional high school.
    - Chase was hanging with the wrong crowd which resulted in being expelled from school his sophomore year. He found a part-time job and initially decided he didn't need to go back to school. A friend shared how INVS was working great for him, and Chase enrolled. Now he's on course to earn his diploma and plans to attend trade school to become a mechanic.
    - Darnell is a promising young athlete, traveling extensively with a team that competes nationwide. Instead of worrying about making up for lost study time, he's able to finish his senior year while on the road. Because of his travel schedule, Darnell may need a little longer to complete his courses and graduate. Since INVS provides him flexibility on how and when he completes his lessons, he's confident that with the help of INVS teachers he'll earn his diploma and continue on to college.
