Indiana State Treasurer Richard Mourdock Realizes $113,736.71 in Year-end Savings

Treasurer of State's Office remits 13.1% of its budget back to the State of Indiana's General Fund

INDIANAPOLIS (July 15, 2010) – Indiana State Treasurer Richard Mourdock announced that his office is returning $113,736.71 or 13.1% of its 2010 fiscal year budget, appropriated by the Indiana General Assembly, back to the state's General Fund.

“Just as the previous fiscal year, I am returning over 11% of my office's budget back to the State of Indiana, which saves Hoosier tax dollars,” exclaimed Treasurer Mourdock. “I continue to have one of the smallest offices, therefore one of the smallest budgets appropriated by the Indiana General Assembly, but it is critically important in these economic conditions to cut spending wherever possible.”
