RESPONSIBLE ARTIFACT COLLECTING:

The real value of artifacts lies in the information they provide on where, how, and when people lived in the past. Responsible collecting recovers information, not just artifacts. Therefore, it is very important that if artifacts are collected, they be properly collected and recorded. Check out our tips for responsible artifact collecting at IN.gov/dnr/historic/3676.htm.

Did you know Indiana has laws protecting archaeological and human burial sites? Make sure you understand those laws—found at IN.gov/dnr/historic/3676.htm—before you ask permission to go onto someone's property to surface collect for artifacts.
