Charlie Kirk was a racist, xenophobic, transphobic, islamophobic, sexist, white nationalist mouthpiece who made millions of dollars inciting hatred in this country.

Whether it was his genocide denial, his transphobic tirades, his pushing for mass deportations, or his normalizing Trumpism for years, the man stood for nothing but hate.

I extend absolutely no empathy for people like that.

In this situation, my empathy is reserved for his children. May they grow up to live in a country that is the total opposite of everything their father envisioned.

May all of our children grow up to live in a country that values their lives enough to take gun violence seriously and reject any person who would try to justify senseless gun-related deaths – especially the deaths of children.

While I don't condone gun violence or distasteful celebrating of his death, I'm not mourning him either. He's not a martyr. He's just a victim of the shit that he endorsed. He was a hateful and shitty person, and the world will be better off without him. I do feel sorry for his family because of the shitty legacy that he left behind him. He wasted his life spreading hate, racism, and bigotry. And anyone using this time to point out the irony of his death is simply poetic. And while everyone's looking for hypocrisy on the left. Look at your own hypocrisy. Where was your rage when schoolchildren were shot yesterday or when the Democratic representative was killed a few months ago. If you weren't mad about those incidents why are you fired up now? This asshole isn't worth your rage. I said what I said.

Things to remember about Charlie Kirk:

- He said it was a "huge mistake" to pass the Civil Rights Act in 1964
- He blamed "Jewish money" for ruining American culture
