Approved Transition to Teaching Programs

Transition to Teaching is an abbreviated program of pedagogy created by Indiana lawmakers to prepare career professionals with bachelor's degrees to teach elementary education, secondary classes, or all-grade classes. Qualified individuals may enroll as non-degree candidates at institutes of higher education or with approved non-higher education institution entities to pursue a program of courses and experiences to lead to licensure. The programs listed below are approved by the Indiana State Board of Education and are eligible for the Transition to Teaching Scholarship.
