Step 2:

Floyd County Government Space Assessment

Given the county's share of occupancy of the building will increase from 84% to 91% of square footage after city offices vacate the 3rd floor, the County Commissioners asked the Building Authority to evaluate the county's immediate and long-term space needs (25 years) of the departments currently occupying space in the City-County Building, Pine View Government Facility, Health Department (currently located at the Baptist Health Floyd hospital), and the M. Lucille Reisz Building.

The following items were developed through the study process:

- Existing facilities and the uses of the spaces within the facilities were documented.
- An existing architectural space program was created.
- An understanding of how well the existing spaces function and accommodate operations.
- A proposed architectural space program to optimize operations and functionality was developed for immediate and future needs.
- Conceptual designs were developed to accommodate the proposed architectural space program.
- Preliminary cost estimates were developed for multiple options and included anticipated hard and soft costs.
