1	This is an important step in helping people quit smoking. Not letting them use the device inside, we'll just cause them to go outside the 8 ft zone to smoke regular cigarettes.	8/21/2015 11:29 AM
2	Not hugely passionate about the issue one way or the other...but I guess I think the burden of proof is on the government when passing a regulation.	8/20/2015 10:08 AM
3	Dangers of nicotine vapor are not well understood	7/27/2015 7:41 AM
4	I believe they should still be allowed in public, but private business owners can decide to ban them if they wish.	7/20/2015 2:38 PM
5	Due to lack of regulation of product content including nicotine levels, potential poison hazard for small children, and introduction to nicotine addiction in adolescents, ENDS must be included in the Monroe County Tobacco Ordinance.	7/20/2015 1:59 PM
6	It's still a cigarette. And it's still smoking.	7/16/2015 11:42 PM
7	Vaping uses a nicotine liquid which is water based and better for you than smoking tobacco cigarettes.	7/16/2015 3:34 PM
8	The fumes emitted by ENDS have been shown to have a direct impact on the health of people exposed to them. Furthermore, the "e-liquid" has such high concentrations of nicotine and other toxic chemicals that if improperly used, it can be lethal.	7/15/2015 8:06 AM
9	give it a rest, already.	7/15/2015 1:51 AM
10	I believe some of the provisions should be carried over, however regulation in a hotel room, apartment, or vehicle should be eliminated.	7/14/2015 11:34 PM

Monroe County Ordinance "Smoking in Public Places" Chapter 370- Proposed Changes

11	It's not smoke, so no.	7/14/2015 11:33 PM
12	ENDS do not affect anyone except for the person using it. No smoke, only odorless vapor is present. Some people use ENDS to quit smoking instead of gum, patches or drugs.	7/14/2015 4:19 PM
13	They do not emit second-hand smoke in the same sense that cigarettes clearly do, and are odorless.	7/14/2015 3:26 PM
14	Plenty of chemicals in their side-stream smoke. They say "vapor" but don't take account of the particulants. Ethylene Glycol? What a great thing to inhale.	7/14/2015 1:34 PM
15	They pose no health issues!! The vapor is no different than those used in concerts and churches. Nicotine is the only thing delivered. Going to eliminate candy cigarettes next?	7/14/2015 11:56 AM
16	ENDS are not shown to be dangerous to others. There are no harmful fumes, only vapor, released. I would be happy to see their use encouraged as a way to reduce the smoking population.	7/14/2015 11:27 AM
17	It is not smoke.	7/14/2015 11:01 AM

1	I haven't seen a lot of evidence of the dangers of passive smoke from ENDS. Maybe there is evidence, and a stronger public case needs to be made.	8/20/2015 10:08 AM
2	ENDS may be harmful to small children. It is our duty to protect them, but adults should be policing themselves.	7/20/2015 2:38 PM
3	It is very different than smoking. I think regulations for ENDS need to be more relaxed.	7/14/2015 11:34 PM
4	It's not harmful to others. Period	7/14/2015 11:33 PM
5	Until there is scientific evidence that concludes that there are harmful emissions, in quantities large enough to adversely affect the health of those around the emission.	7/14/2015 10:24 PM

6	The vapor from these does not linger like regular cigarette smoke	7/14/2015 12:42 PM

1	Only reduces pulmonary risks but cardiovascular risks persist	7/27/2015 7:41 AM
2	Unsafe due to potential for exploding batteries and second hand chemical exposer.	7/20/2015 1:59 PM
3	Many of us have lung problems or other health problems. Being around any type of emission is harmful.	7/16/2015 11:42 PM
4	Safe	7/16/2015 3:34 PM
5	While the full extent of physical harm that e-cigs may pose is not known, anything that creates or reinforces an addiction to nicotine can't be anything else but unsafe.	7/16/2015 12:19 PM
6	Nicotine toxicity cases have increased in frequency exponentially since the introduction of ENDS into the market here in the U.S.. The "e-liquid" can be lethal if improperly used or if vulnerable individuals are exposed.	7/15/2015 8:06 AM
7	Safer than smoking, but abstinence is best. I am super glad the FDA has laid off this...it might work.	7/14/2015 11:34 PM
8	Just as there are known safe levels of other stimulates(ie. caffeine, ephedrine, Ritalin), nicotine is no exception. Used properly, nicotine can aid in digestion, enhance performance, and many other beneficial medicinal properties. Just like any thing else, if you abuse nicotine, your health may be adversely affected.	7/14/2015 10:24 PM
9	My inclination is to think yes, they are not safe -- it's still nicotine and still addictive -- but I understand the medical community hasn't made any conclusions.	7/14/2015 6:37 PM
10	ENDS do not contain the vast amount of toxic chemicals that cigarettes do.	7/14/2015 4:19 PM
11	I've read the peer reviewed literature	7/14/2015 1:34 PM
12	I have used one for over a year and no side effects. Actually I use it to stay off cigarettes. I quick smoking cigarettes after I bought my e-cig. same with my girlfriend.	7/14/2015 12:42 PM

1	Again, open to evidence. Just haven't seen it...and haven't experienced harm myself from others using ENDS	8/20/2015 10:08 AM
2	Unless in a foot or less distance from the person's mouth blowing out the vapor.	7/20/2015 2:38 PM
3	Aerosols are harmful to those of us with lung and eye problems.	7/16/2015 11:42 PM
4	It is a Water Vapor without any tobacco carcinogen's in it.	7/16/2015 3:34 PM
5	Jury still out, but error should fall on the side of caution and protection of nonusers.	7/16/2015 12:19 PM
6	I prefer not to socialize with or near people who are using tobacco products. Excluding these products from our ordinance sends the wrong message. This is still smoking.	7/15/2015 2:10 PM

8	I get headaches every time people near me use one.	7/15/2015 7:28 AM
9	Probably very minimally, but I am sure studies are being conducted. They should be prohibited in public enclosed places (bars/restaurant/mall), but allowed in hotel rooms, apartments, etc.	7/14/2015 11:34 PM
10	Show me the proof if it is.	7/14/2015 11:33 PM
11	No more than the pollution within the average household, or the city air we breathe does, and most likely much, much less so. Just show me some solid, scientific evidence that states otherwise.	7/14/2015 10:24 PM

12	While long-term effects are not known, the vapor/emissions are at best a nuisance and at worst another source of pollution/toxins.	7/14/2015 6:37 PM
13	Since my spouse started using ENDS in the house 5 years ago, my asthma attacks are almost zero. I have fewer headaches and get colds only once every 2 years. My health is better because he uses ENDS around me.	7/14/2015 4:19 PM
14	I've read the peer reviewed literature	7/14/2015 1:34 PM
15	the vapor doesn't last long enough to be an issue. they will smell the vapor and if they are smoking an e-cig with grape flavor that what people will smell the flavor that's being used.	7/14/2015 12:42 PM
16	Give me a break.	7/14/2015 11:56 AM
17	There are no studies showing them to be harmful. In fact the opposite is true.	7/14/2015 11:27 AM

1	They are promoted as being safe and I believe that is false advertising.	9/9/2015 8:43 AM
2	Yes, but that's beyond the scope of local government .	8/20/2015 3:11 PM
3	The testing is obviously not as thorough as regular cigarettes because ENDS have no been around as long. However, studies are showing that the chemicals are harmful not just to those smoking them but also for secondhand smoke.	8/20/2015 10:32 AM
4	If they are actually harmful, better education.	8/20/2015 10:08 AM
5	Should not be portrayed as a "safe" alternative to cigarettes	7/27/2015 7:41 AM
6	FDA oversight, no marketing to children	7/26/2015 2:17 AM

Monroe County Ordinance "Smoking in Public Places" Chapter 370- Proposed Changes

7	I believe actual facts and research could be quoted instead of conjecture.	7/22/2015 8:14 AM
8	These are a replacement for cigarettes and all policies and laws should be applied to ENDS. People are putting other drugs in the ENDS to get high,so they should be banned.	7/21/2015 7:08 AM
9	Age restrictions for purchasing ENDS products of any type also need to be in place.	7/20/2015 1:59 PM
10	To alert people to their health hazards.	7/16/2015 11:42 PM
11	Ensure that E Cig Liquid that is for sale has been manufactured in the USA and tested.	7/16/2015 3:34 PM
12	Similar advertising and age restrictions that are in place for tobacco products should apply to e-cigs	7/16/2015 12:19 PM
13	In TV advertising it's not clear that these devices deliver cancer causing agents	7/15/2015 2:10 PM
14	Should not be targeting minors	7/15/2015 1:53 PM
15	The FDA needs to regulate ENDS as a drug delivery device, and limit access accordingly. Furthermore, like cigarettes once were, ENDS are being marketed to children. This is unsafe, underhanded, and should be illegal.	7/15/2015 8:06 AM
16	We need federal regs to restrict sale to minors and publicize health risks.	7/15/2015 7:28 AM
17	there needs to be hard research on the effectiveness of such products as a smoking cessation aid.	7/15/2015 1:51 AM
18	I smoked for over 20 years, I was always a considerate smoker, never even smoked in my car. I realize ENDS is not suggested as a cessation method. However it is a route I took, with no problem for over 3 months, I then tried a traditional cigarette, it was awful...I will never go back. I will eventually wean off the E cigs as well.	7/14/2015 11:34 PM
19	Kids will find a way to get nicotine just like they always find a way to get things they shouldn't have. ENDS are too helpful to have them regulated, but education would be a good idea.	7/14/2015 4:19 PM
20	FDA is still "working" on this	7/14/2015 1:34 PM
21	don't make the mascot a cartoon character,	7/14/2015 12:42 PM
22	You must be 18 to purchase!	7/14/2015 12:06 PM
23	minimum age of 18 !!	7/14/2015 11:56 AM
24	I believe preventing their sale to minors is sufficient.	7/14/2015 11:27 AM
