On October 20, 2025, U.S. EPA announced a new regional screening level for lead contaminated soil on residential properties impacted by the Comprehensive Environmental Response Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA) sites and Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) facilities. The updated lead level of 200 mg/kg is effective immediately and supersedes the residential soil published levels in the R2 tables.

More information can be found at Residential Soil Lead Directive for CERCLA Sites and RCRA Hazardous Waste Cleanup Facilities | US EPA. The R2 tables will be updated in early 2026 to reflect the change.
