COMMENT

I have previously served as Special Master in Commercial Court.

In terms of litigating eDiscovery matters, I have significant experience in Federal Court dealing with large volume discovery and discovery disputes in two MDLs dealing with everything from email to text to complex relational databases. My experience in the MDLs included European data privacy issues. In state court litigation I have successfully handled issues from digital images, to social media, to preservation and spoliation.

I have spoken or presented on eDiscovery issues for NBI, ICLEF, DTCL, The Knowledge Group, the Evansville Bar Association and A.M. Best. These presentations have often dealt with the concept of proportionality.

My firm has the ability to ingest data into its own review platform with no processing or storage fees if an ex parte review is necessary. We also have conference facilities that could be used to host in-person discovery conferences. We typically use WebEx for videoconferencing.

COMMENT

In addition to my 36 years of experience in business and real estate law, I have served as a certified mediator for the past five years, specializing in business, real estate, and construction disputes. My extensive litigation background encompasses business and real estate cases in state and federal trial and appellate courts, including the Commercial Court, bankruptcy court, the Indiana Court of Appeals, the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals, and the Indiana Supreme Court. Additionally, I have been appointed as a receiver in a foreclosure case involving a medical office complex.

My background also includes sophisticated real estate and corporate transactions, representing clients in multi-state real estate portfolio sales, leasing, financing, business formation, and business sales. My transaction knowledge is enhanced by my experience owning and managing businesses outside of the practice of law. I have developed, leased, and managed my own office building, a mortgage company, and a real estate broker company, and I currently co-own a title insurance company. I am the founder and manager of our law firm. My diverse background in litigation, transactions, and business ownership equips me to add significant value to business and real estate disputes and their resolution. I would be honored to assist the Commercial Courts in any way my experience would warrant.

COMMENT

After 29 years of private practice in civil litigation, I am conducting mediation full-time with Van Winkle Baten Dispute Resolution. I have handled all facets of litigation in a variety of legal areas, including construction, product liability, environmental, coverage, securities, personal injury, toxic tort, and business law. I participated in hundreds of mediation proceedings as an attorney representing clients and have mediated approximately 50 cases/claims as a private mediator over the past 8 years.
