ALJ'S RECOMMENDED ORDER OF DISMISSAL

This matter was opened on a petition for review of denied variance, which was denied by the Fire Prevention and Building Safety Commission (Commission).

On November 2, 2019, the petitioner, by his representative, Edwin L. Rensink, moved to dismiss his petition for review, noting that the violation has been resolved with the City of Indianapolis. Given that the petitioner has moved to withdraw his petition, the ALJ RECOMMENDS THAT THIS MATTER BE DISMISSED.

The undersigned has not been designated as the ultimate authority of the Commission, and therefore this is a recommended, non-final order issued pursuant to Indiana Code § 4-21.5-3-29.

NOTICE OF RIGHT TO OBJECT TO THE ALJ'S RECOMMENDED, NON-FINAL ORDER

The ALJ which issued this recommended order is not the ultimate authority of the Commission, and this is not the final order of the Commission. Pursuant to Indiana Code § 4-21.5-3-29, the Commission or its designee shall issue a final order affirming, modifying, or dissolving the ALJ's recommended order. The Commission or its designee may also remand the matter, with or without instructions, to the ALJ for further proceedings.

To preserve an objection to the ALJ's recommended order for judicial review, you must not be in default under Indiana Code § 4-21.5-3, and must object to the ALJ's recommended order in writing by: (1) identifying the basis of the objection with particularity; and (2) file the objection with the Commission within (18) days after the order is served on you. If the 18th day falls on a Saturday, Sunday, legal holiday, or a day the Commission's officers are closed, then the deadline for your objection would be the first day thereafter that is not a Saturday, Sunday, legal holiday, or day that the Commission's office is closed.

In the absence of an objection, the Commission or its designee will affirm the ALJ's recommended order as its final order, or will serve notice of its intent to review any issue related to the ALJ's recommended order.
