Certified Total Tax Rates by Unit, 2006-2010

Prepared by the Department of Local Government Finance
April 6, 2010

Key Findings

Gross tax rates have increased for some units of government over the past 5 budget years, and especially from budget year 2008 to 2009. This is largely due to the significant reduction in net assessed values from the supplemental homestead deduction starting in budget year 2009. Tax rates are calculated so that a target levy can be raised from the net assessed value; therefore lower net assessed values result in higher tax rates and vice versa. When comparing 2008 to 2009 average total tax rates by unit type, most units' tax rates increased by a double-digit percentage. There are two notable exceptions to this: counties saw a 9.1% reduction, and schools had a 35.9% reduction in their average total tax rate. The state assumption of county welfare levies, school preschool special education, and school general levies was the primary driver of these decreases. In the 87 of 92 counties with certified budgets as of this reporting date, tax rates are mixed from 2009 to 2010; cities show a 3.3% increase, school districts have a 2.8% increase, and counties have a 2.0% increase. Libraries are down 0.6%, and conservancy districts are down 7.4%. Redevelopment commissions are presently showing a 100% decrease from their 2009 average total rate – to date, there are no redevelopment commission tax rates anywhere in the State for pay 2010. Special units are currently showing a decrease of 12.0%; since some of the special taxing units (like airport authorities, solid waste districts, fire protection districts, and consolidated city-county units) are located in counties that do not yet have a certified budget order for 2010, we expect that this figure will change as new information becomes available.

Data and Methodology

Data for this report is taken from the certified tax rates for each taxing unit. No units have been excluded; if a given unit was not active in a particular budget year, its entry reads "Inactive" and any associated percentage change comparison would also read "Inactive". Units in the counties for which we have not yet certified a budget order are indicated as "Not Yet Available". The total gross tax rate is the sum of all certified fund tax rates within the unit and is not adjusted; thus, the figures for counties 2006-2008 include county welfare fund tax rates, and the figures for schools 2006-2008 include the school general fund and preschool special education fund tax rates.

Special units encompass a wide range of units levying property taxes, but that do not necessarily fit under other categories. They include airport authorities, solid waste districts, fire protection districts, public transportation districts, and consolidated city-county units.

To calculate the average total tax rate by unit type, each contributing unit of that type for that budget year was averaged into a single figure by unit type. Thus, the figures for each budget year are calculated using all available units; meaning that a unit going inactive starting in one of the budget years would contribute to the average for those years in which it was active, but not once it dissolved or discontinued. This also means that the averages for 2010 currently are comprised of the 87 certified counties and are subject to change as we certify additional counties. This report will be updated periodically to reflect newly-certified counties, and we expect that the 2010 total tax rate figures, as well as the 2009-2010 percentage change figures, will change.
