This program receives federal aid in fish and/or wildlife restoration. Under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the U.S. Department of the Interior prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, age, sex or disability. If you believe you have been discriminated against in any program, activity or facility, or if you desire further information, please write to Office of Equal Opportunity, U.S. Department of Interior, Washington, DC 20240.
ADDITIONAL OPPORTUNITIES
• Wildlife watching

The DNR Division of Fish & Wildlife sells hunting, fishing, and trapping licenses. All revenue is used for managing fish and wildlife resources in Indiana. No license money goes into the state general fund. The Division also receives money from the federal Sport Fish and Wildlife Restoration programs (also known as the ‘Pittman-Robertson’ funds). The funds are derived from fuel taxes and are returned to state fish and wildlife agencies using a formula that in part is based on the number of fishing and hunting license buyers.

HISTORICAL統計
In October 2005, with the help of The Nature Conservancy, Ducks Unlimited, Indiana Department of Natural Resources, and many other organizations, IDNR purchased the 8,064-acre property including the 7,200 acres under part of the Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP) and an easement with the Natural Resources Conservation Service. This permanent easement was designed with the assistance of professionals to ensure that the property would be used in a manner consistent with the goals of the WRP and the NRCS, which are to improve wetland habitat and wildlife viewing opportunities for the public. The easement includes provisions to ensure that the property is used in a manner consistent with the goals of the WRP and the NRCS, which are to improve wetland habitat and wildlife viewing opportunities for the public.
