OUR STORY

Glendale Fish & Wildlife Area provides quality outdoor recreational opportunities with 8,060 acres of land and more than 1,400 acres of lakes and impoundments.

Acquisition of the land for this property began in 1956 and land purchases were made throughout the 1960s. Several minor purchases were made in the 1970s. The construction of the dam that formed Dogwood Lake began in 1963 and was completed in 1965. The lake was renovated in 1978 and restocked with fish in 1979. The average depth of Dogwood Lake is 8 feet.

Hunting, fishing, camping, trapping, and wildlife watching are popular activities at Glendale FWA.

FUNDING FOR FISH & WILDLIFE

The DNR Division of Fish & Wildlife sells hunting, fishing, and trapping licenses. All revenue is used for managing fish and wildlife resources in Indiana. No license money goes into the state general fund.

The Division also receives money from the federal Sport Fish and Wildlife Restoration programs (sometimes referred to as Dingell-Johnson and Pittman-Robertson funds). The funds are derived from excise taxes levied on sporting arms and ammunition, bows and arrows, fishing equipment and motor boat fuel. The funds are then returned to state fish and wildlife agencies using a formula that in part is based on the number of fishing and hunting license buyers.
