ACROSS
1. Archaeologists always _____ their findings!
3. Archaeologists are concerned with the _____ of the past.
4. An archaeological investigation is also called a _____.
6. An ungrooved stone axe is called a _____.
8. A collection of associated artifacts is often called a _____.
9. This animal has been kept as a pet for hundreds of years. (I bet you have one, too!)
13. A _____ is the non-portable evidence of past human behavior.
15. _____ is anthropology’s way of studying the human past.
17. Most archaeology occurs in these settings. (Hint: it’s not where you might think!)
19. A location of past human activity is called an archaeological _____.
21. This material was used to make a wide variety of useful items.
23. Sometimes archaeologists _____ to find evidence of the past.
27. A drawing of a site is called a _____.
29. Many useful objects were also made from _____.

DOWN
2. A site’s permanent reference point is called the _____.
3. Archaeology studies the _____.
5. An archaeological “dig” is called an _____.
7. Sometimes archaeologists find a _____; an area where people lived.
10. Archaeologists always _____ where they find their clues.
11. Sometimes archaeologists find evidence of _____ people played.
12. Looting an archaeological site destroys its _____.
13. Archaeology can be _____!
14. A written document detailing the results of an archaeological investigation.
18. Archaeologists often have to look through lots and lots of _____ to find their clues.
19. Archaeologists often _____ during investigations in order to recover very small clues.
20. Archaeological investigations often provide evidence of long-distance _____.
22. Archaeology can provide evidence of a person’s _____.
23. A durable material used to make a variety of useful tools.
24. A popular method of producing food which is still in use today.

Learn more about archaeology:
WEB: IN.gov/dnr/historic
FACEBOOK: www.facebook.com/INdhpa
EMAIL: dhpa@dnr.in.gov

Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology
402 W. Washington St., Rm. W274
Indianapolis, IN 46204-2739
PHONE: 317-232-1646
ARCHAEOLOGY CROSSWORD

Test your skills as an archaeologist by completing the puzzle!

ACROSS
1. Archaeologists always _____ their findings!
3. Archaeologists are concerned with the _____ of the past.
4. An archaeological investigation is also called a _____.
6. An ungrooved stone axe is called a _____.
8. A collection of associated artifacts is often called a _____.
9. This animal has been kept as a pet for hundreds of years. (I bet you have one, too)
13. A _____ is the non-portable evidence of past human behavior.
15. _____ is anthropology’s way of studying the human past.
17. Most archaeology occurs in these settings. (Hint: it’s not where you might think!)
19. A location of past human activity is called an archaeological _____.
21. This material was used to make a wide variety of useful items.
25. Sometimes archaeologists _____ to find evidence of the past.
27. Many archaeologists use a _____ to dig for clues about the past.
29. A drawing of a site is called a _____.

DOWN
2. A site’s permanent reference point is called the _____.
3. Archaeology studies the _____.
5. An archaeological “dig” is called an _____.
7. Sometimes archaeologists find a _____; an area where people lived.
10. Archaeologists always _____ where they find their clues.
11. Sometimes archaeologists find evidence of _____ people played.
12. Looting an archaeological site destroys its _____.
13. Archaeology can be _____!
14. A written document detailing the results of an archaeological investigation.
18. Archaeologists often have to look through lots and lots of _____ to find their clues.
19. Archaeologists often _____ during investigations in order to recover very small clues.
20. Archaeological investigations often provide evidence of long-distance _____.
22. Archaeology can provide evidence of a person’s _____.
23. A durable material used to make a variety of useful tools.
24. A popular method of producing food which is still in use today.

Learn more about archaeology:
WEB: IN.gov/dnr/historic
FACEBOOK: www.facebook.com/INdhpa
EMAIL: dhpa@dnr.in.gov

Division of Historic Preservation and Archaeology
402 W. Washington St., Rm. W274
Indianapolis, IN 46204-2739
PHONE: 317-232-1646