SPECIAL NOTE

Recreational programs. Program schedules are available at the park office or at InterpretiveServices.IN.gov, or through mid-October. Shelters are open throughout the year. Please let wild animals remain wild. Feeding deer is prohibited. Feeding of wild animals can become a nuisance to visitors and a danger to themselves. Please lock up all food and coolers when leaving your vehicle.

TIPPECANOE RIVER STATE PARK

This park offers some of the finest recreational opportunities in the state, featuring a unique natural area. The land, which is generally level, drains toward the Tippecanoe River, which meanders approximately 7 miles along the eastern border of the park.

The park offers a variety of habitats, such as oak forests, pine plantations, prairie habitats, marshes and the river. An occasional small sand dune adds variety to the scenery.

An extensive trail network offers hikers a variety of terrain and vegetation. The 112 campsites include four that are accessible. All sites in the family campground are electric. The Tippecanoe Recreation Building for day-use is available mid-April through mid-October. In the 1860s and 1700s, this was the land of the Potawatomi. The early explorers were French fur traders or “Voyagers” who came from Montreal, Canada. They sought Native American encampments, eager to acquire furs for their trade; both groups plied its waters. Settlement came through the Nineteenth Century, when draining and farming of the lands was taking place. The land was purchased by the government of Indiana in 1933 for use as a wildlife area. It was named Tippecanoe State Park in 1937 when it was transferred to the Indiana Department of Conservation of the state. In 1943, the land was transferred to the Indiana Department of Conservation and named the Tippecanoe River State Park. On Jan. 1, 1959, 4,592 acres were transferred to the DNR Division of Fish and Wildlife and named the TIPPECANOE RIVER STATE PARK.
