LETTER FROM THE COMMISSIONER

October 1, 2007

The Honorable Mitchell E. Daniels, Jr.
Governor, State of Indiana
State House, Room 206
Indianapolis, Indiana 46204-2797

Dear Governor Daniels:

The following document represents the Indiana Department of Revenue's annual report, covering Fiscal Year 2007 (July 1, 2006 – June 30, 2007), as required by Indiana law.

Fiscal Year 2007 was a continuation of the work we began in 2005, and proved to be a fruitful year in a number of areas we have targeted for improvement. Particularly, we have focused on enforcement and collection efforts, as well as our internal processes. To that end, we have reorganized the Department to reflect seven centers of excellence, reallocated and realigned our workforce to provide more timely, more knowledgeable answers to taxpayers, and have discovered and leveraged more efficient and effective means of collecting on outstanding tax debt owed to the state.

The Department reorganization and improvements in internal and external processes has resulted in the following accomplishments:

- Collected more than $100 million in outstanding and unfiled trust taxes (sales and withholding) through a regular billing process, in which the Department issues tax bills monthly – as opposed to quarterly or semi-annually.
- Collected approximately $22 million in post-amnesty tax debts via the use of contract professional collection agencies.
- Launched mandatory bi-annual renewal of the registered retail merchant certificate.
- Leveraged sanctions, such as garnishments and levies, to encourage payment of outstanding tax debts; this effort has resulted in more than $12 million in collections from these mechanisms alone.
- Gathered qualitative feedback from more than 2,000 taxpayers, which has garnered valuable improvement suggestions for the Department's online filing and payment services.
- Implemented customer-service performance scoring of representatives' handling of taxpayer calls and walk-in customers.
- Expanded online business-tax filing and payment services to accommodate more tax types, such as fuel tax.
- Increased I-File usage by 16 percent over the 2006 filing season.
- Increased overall electronic filing (I-File and e-File combined) by 35 percent over the past two years.
- Increased training to develop more knowledgeable and effective staff.

But there is more to do. In FY 2008, the Department will focus on the following for further improvements and efficiencies:

- Leverage newly created case-management system, which consolidates taxpayer billings, payments, information and actions into one centralized account profile.
- Use statistical evaluation to select audits.
- Send notifications regularly and directly to responsible officers of businesses that are delinquent in paying their taxes.
- Issue customer-satisfaction surveys to taxpayers who have interacted with the Department to determine representatives' knowledge and timeliness in assisting them.

Throughout FY 2008, the Department will remain committed to reshaping the agency in ways that make it more nimble, efficient, effective and more customer focused in resolving issues timely and completely. We believe our efforts continue to demonstrate the type of results that will assist in restoring and preserving Indiana's fiscal health.

Sincerely,

John Eckart
Commissioner

Roger Atkison

Besides creating the Department's time-card system, Family Medical Leave Program tracking database, the Indiana Tax Amnesty dashboard, Atkison (left) most recently created a job ticket system for the public relations division. The database has reduced the number of vendor sign offs from hours to minutes. After receiving the award, Atkison said, "I appreciate having the opportunity to do the things I love to do."

Accomplishments, Initiatives and Improvements

Throughout FY 2007, the Department focused on the policies, practices and processes of its enforcement and collection efforts, and concentrated on internal processes across the agency. A complete reorganization also was implemented, which resulted in the reallocation of employees to operational areas with the greatest need, and a reduction in middle management. Divisions were reduced from 14 to seven, in which areas of expertise were consolidated into these new divisional “centers of excellence.” With new legislation going into effect Jan. 1, 2007, coupled with new and improved internal and external processes, the Department was able to provide Quality That Counts in the following key areas.

Enforcement and collections – Senate Enrolled Act (SEA) 362 went into effect Jan. 1, 2007, bringing with it a number of opportunities to more efficiently and effectively enforce tax filings and payments:

- Tax protests and appeals – As of Jan. 1, 2007, taxpayers in Indiana have only 45 days to protest a tax assessment, and only 90 days, thereafter, to file a case in tax court. This reduces the overall time to appeal a tax billing to one year, compared with the previous timeframe, which allowed the tax appeal to continue on for almost two years before collection efforts could begin.
- Trust taxes – Collection of trust taxes (sales and withholding) has been a primary focus for the Department over the past year. Using a range of tools available to the Department under Indiana law, the Department has collected more than $100 million in delinquent trust taxes.
- Garnishments and levies – These mechanisms have long been available for the Department’s use in collecting from delinquent tax payers. In FY 2007, the Department began to use these methods as a standard collection practice, when all other methods have failed. To date, the Department has collected more than $12 million from levies and garnishments alone.
- Registered retail merchant certificate (RRMC) renewal – SEA 362 requires that all businesses in Indiana that practice retail sales renew their RRMCs every two years. (Prior to the passage of SEA 362, RRMCs were good for the life of the business.) However, in addition to required renewal every two years, businesses also must be current on their sales-tax filings and payments to be able to renew their RRMCs. Letters to revoke RRMCs were issued after the close of FY 2007, but early results are promising, with more than $5 million collected to date in FY 2008.
- Regular billings – Part of the success the Department has experienced in collecting more than $100 million in trust taxes in FY 2007 is due to a new initiative to issue monthly billings to businesses that fall delinquent in their tax filings and payments. This monthly issuance is one of the Department’s efforts to begin collections as early as possible, and to help businesses from becoming seriously delinquent.
- Best information available billings – In the fall of FY 2007, the Department began issuing bills to businesses that were on record with the state, but had not filed trust taxes regularly. Using industry averages for each business type, or where available actual historical experience, estimated bills were issued to bill more than 20,000 businesses throughout Indiana. As a result, more than $9 million was collected in FY 2007 from this initiative alone.

Processes and services – Having the right information to make the best decisions is crucial to achieving efficient and effective operations. Therefore, the Department not only realigned its operations to ensure the right people were in the right jobs in FY 2007, but it also realigned processes (and continues to do so) to ensure it has the best information readily available to make quick and quality decisions, and to provide improved services that deliver results. The following is a list of those initiatives:

- Case management – The Department has consolidated taxpayer issues into individual files within each taxpayer account. This new approach enables the Department to have better, more complete information about taxpayers’ accounts, filings, etc. It also helps to reduce errors, redundancy and time to resolve taxpayer questions.

- Taxpayer feedback – Using formal survey research, the Department gathered feedback from more than 2,000 taxpayers in FY 2007. That information has been used to help determine the satisfaction level with key electronic tools, and to solicit suggestions from taxpayers on how to improve existing online programs.
- INtax – An expansion of online filing and payment services for business taxpayers via the Department’s INtax Web tool has resulted in a significant increase in business-tax collections through this vehicle: $663 million (FY 2007) versus $270 million (FY 2006). In FY 2007, the Department added renewal of the RRMCS to the INtax tool, as well as the payment of fuel tax and printing of tax-filing coupons. Additional services are planned for the near future.
- I-File and electronic filing – Using taxpayer feedback gathered from more than 1,500 taxpayers about the state’s I-File program, improvements to the online tool were made for the FY 2007 filing season. In addition, the Department focused its marketing efforts on 2-D barcode filers, based on feedback from more than 500 individual taxpayers, to deliver an increase in FY 2007 I-Filing of 16 percent. Overall, electronic filing with the Department has increased 35 percent over the past two years, and accounted for more than 50 percent of the state’s overall individual filings at the end of the FY 2007.
- Customer service -- The Department continues to provide training customized for each division’s needs in responding to and resolving taxpayer concerns timely and completely. The training initiatives are receiving positive reviews from the employees, who are now starting to see themselves in a more confident light – and taxpayer feedback indicates that confidence is having a positive impact. Additionally, customer-contact representative calls and interactions are routinely monitored and scored according to new customer-service standards. These evaluations are used to help our representatives become more effective in providing respectful, timely and quality assistance.

Leadership at the Department of Revenue

It takes exceptional leadership to make certain that the vision and goals of the Department are met in a way that consistently delivers Quality That Counts. In 2007, the Department reorganized from 14 divisions to seven – concentrating our efforts into “centers of excellence” to provide the most complete and timely service possible to the taxpayers of Indiana. Our executive team, made up of the commissioner, deputy commissioners and executive-level directors, lead these centers of excellence, and are in constant pursuit of new and better ways to serve Hoosiers.

2006-2007 Quality That Counts Award Recipients

As part of his efforts to recognize and reward employees for quality job performance, Gov. Daniels introduced a spot-bonus program in 2006. This program provides special compensation funding to agencies so that they may recognize and reward employees that help save the state money, work more efficiently, or find new and better ways to operate state government. The Department of Revenue launched the spot bonus in 2006 as one piece of its cultural-change initiative. As part of this cultural change, Revenue employees suggested and selected a theme that describes the new vision and direction of the agency. As a result, Quality That Counts became the new slogan for the Department, and the title name for a number of employee-performance initiatives. Employees that demonstrate Quality That Counts in their daily work and special projects are nominated and, if selected by a peer committee, receive the Quality That Counts Award – a one-time monetary bonus of $100 to $1,000.

The Department recognized the following individuals and teams during FY 2007 with Quality That Counts Awards:

Liz Foga

During the Department's restructure, Human Resource Generalist Liz Foga has been responsible for working with all division leaders to update job descriptions and organizational charts to reflect employee movement. Although these tasks weren't outside of her normal job responsibilities, Foga has put in several 10 hour days, in addition to giving up several Saturdays and Sundays to complete her responsibilities on deadline.

So why does Foga do it? She had the perfect words: "I love what I do, and I love working for all of you."

Department Employee Receives Governor's Public Service Achievement Award

The week of May 16, 2007, was an exciting week for 47 state employees who were presented with the Governor's Public Service Achievement Award – and one Department of Revenue employee was among the group of honorees.

Governor Mitch Daniels honored System Applications Analyst Jack McCrobie for developing a Web services tool for the Streamlined Sales Tax project that saved the Department more than $220,000 in outside costs.

The Web-services tool allows communication between technology systems from across different companies, throughout the United States, that collect and pay Indiana sales tax from online and other interstate sales transactions. This practice is part of the national Streamlined Sales Tax (SST) Agreement, a collective effort of 14 different states (including Indiana) to standardize sales-tax collections across state lines.

"Don't ever imagine that your work goes unnoticed or doesn't have an effect on Hoosiers," said Daniels during the presentation of the third-annual awards recognition event. "When it's done with measurable results, there's really no nobler of calling."

Facing a Tough Challenge

McCrobie's intense effort to provide Quality That Counts in his work is the stuff that the governor is looking for in all state employees.

"Being considered for such an award, as a result of the recommendation from our agency head, gives me a great feeling of pride," said McCrobie.

Despite having no prior experience in Web-service technology, McCrobie spent numerous hours researching technical Web sites and reading more than a dozen books. McCrobie was able to successfully develop and implement the Web services tool by the Department's deadline, and reduced the Department's project cost to $40,000.

"Receiving this award also means a lot to me since it will bring recognition to the Department for some of the work we do," said McCrobie. "I have appreciated the opportunity to work with such a great group of people, and I am now looking forward to the next challenge."

McCrobie was also a recipient of a 2006 Quality That Counts Award.

Jack McCrobie, Kedari Reddy and Alan Bolden

The Department called upon systems application analysts Jack McCrobie (right with Gov. Daniels), Kedari Reddy and Alan Bolden to develop a reliable and secure Web service for the Streamlined Sales Tax (SST) project. After researching the cost, the Department found that an outside vendor would charge $260,000 for this type of service. McCrobie, Reddy and Bolden took on the challenge to create the SST Web service themselves in house. The team successfully completed the task by the Aug. 20, 2006, deadline, resulting in a cost-savings of more than $220,000.

Areas of Recurring Taxpayer Noncompliance

Returns Processing Center (RPC)

The vast majority of returns and forms sent to the Department of Revenue each year are prepared correctly, and the Department has been able to process them using the latest technology available. We receive in excess of 5 million documents to be processed. Some of those items are received with incomplete information or no basic information from the taxpayer. It then becomes the Department's responsibility to make decisions about what to do with the information or money it has received. Department strives each year to process the returns and checks more efficiently and accurately, and in less time.

To do this, the Department needs the mutual cooperation of Indiana taxpayers and their preparers to help identify where they can head off errors before they get to the Department. However, it is only fair to acknowledge that some errors are due to flaws in the Department's activities, such as misreading information.

As part of the Department's cultural change, the agency is committed to identifying and resolving internal flaws that result in filing and processing errors. The Department also is committed to providing improved online services and educating taxpayers to assist in making tax filing easier and more convenient – and as free from error risks as is feasibly possible. The following is a listing of the most common filing errors found in the tax-filing process:

Duplication of filing – Duplicate filing occurs usually when a taxpayer files a return electronically and then sends the Department a paper copy of the return, along with the payment or as an informational return. Once this duplicate filing is identified, an employee to go into the system to mark the second filing as information only to ensure accuracy.

Calculation errors – When a calculation error is detected it will cause the return to be flagged so that an employee must review the return and determine if the error is truly a calculation error, a problem with how the information was interpreted in the data capture process or if the information was placed on an incorrect form line, which may cause the columns on the tax return to total incorrectly. Once the error has been determined, the return will post properly.

Claiming credits incorrectly – It is common for a credit to be claimed when it cannot be substantiated or the proper documentation is not included with the return. This causes the credit to be denied or an employee must contact the taxpayer to provide the information.

Failure to complete a tax return or filing – When returns are received without all of the necessary information, it may generate a letter or telephone call to the taxpayer to determine how to proceed with processing the documents and any associated monies. If there is enough information to post the return, but all the lines have not been completed, then a refund cannot be issued until the required information is received from the taxpayer and processed by the Department. If a taxpayer files a return requesting a refund and fails to provide copies of W-2 forms, the taxpayer can expect to receive the tax return back with a letter requesting these forms before the return can be processed. The Department will not allow any withholding credit until all of the W-2 forms have been received.

Use of non-departmental payment coupons - The Department provides taxpayers with automation-friendly coupons, according to tax type, for many of the taxes due to the state. These coupons are preprinted with information regarding the taxpayer name, account number, tax type and the period for which the coupon is being filed. The information about the taxpayer is included in the scan line at the bottom of the coupon and the automation-friendly equipment used to process the document and money will read the information from the scan line and post the information accordingly. If these coupons are not used correctly, or are used by a taxpayer for another account number, it will cause the return and payment to be posted to the incorrect account. Therefore, if a taxpayer does not have the correct documents for the account printed out of a software package or provided by the Department, the taxpayer will need to contact a taxpayer service representative to have the coupon replaced, or to receive instructions as to how the payment should be processed to insure proper posting.

Post-filing coupons (PFC)

For the past 10 years, the Department has worked with a number of software vendors to allow taxpayers to file individual income tax returns electronically. As a part of effort between the Department and software vendors, taxpayers can file electronically as early in the year as they prefer, yet hold on payment until the filing deadline date. Therefore, the PFC was developed according to Department standards so that automation-friendly coupons may be generated from software packages at home or by the tax preparer. This practice has become widespread during the past 10 years, but with that success has come one distinct problem: the scan line printed from the software not being printed in OCR-A Extended font. This font can be downloaded by the users, or the software vendor can hard code it into the program. However, it is a must for the Department to read the information correctly to ensure accuracy.

IT-9, extension payment vouchers – The Department asks taxpayers not to file these forms if there is no tax due, or if the taxpayer is not sending a payment. The receipt of this form without a payment, or if no payment is due, will not extend the period to file the tax return.

Failure to file the proper application and/or register with the Department – If a taxpayer has not provided the proper information to register a business, then receipt of a check or tax return will result in a representative from the Department making contact with the taxpayer.

Reporting errors – Reporting errors are received on virtually every type of tax return --including, but not limited to, income, sales, fuel, cigarette, and motor carrier tax types. Typical errors include, but are not limited to, the form not being signed, no identifying account number, the wrong form or form revision being used, missing schedules, lack of documentation, duplication of a credit or deduction, failure to calculate county tax. These errors may result in the form being returned to the taxpayer, a representative from the Department contacting the customer, a bill being generated for the amount of perceived tax due and/or the inability to post the return and or payment properly.

Taxpayers served in district offices

Taxpayer assistance is available in all district offices. Each office has a taxpayer assistance supervisor and taxpayer representative who perform taxpayer-service functions, as well as other office-support responsibilities. Each office has at least one field investigator who supports taxpayer assistance and performs collection functions in the district. Contract employees are available throughout the year to support taxpayer assistance.

The Taxpayer Assistance Report - Fiscal Year 2007 (Exhibit A) provides the number of taxpayers assisted (in person and by telephone) and the amount of money collected and assessed in each office through the taxpayer-assistance program. Exhibit A reveals that during fiscal year 2007, district offices assisted 116,777 taxpayers in person and 149,692 taxpayers through telephone contact. Total taxpayers served through the district offices were 266,469. The district office in Merrillville served 15,255 taxpayers in person, the highest number of any district office. The Clarksville district office served 13,893 taxpayers in person, the second highest total.

The Merrillville district office served 19,037 taxpayers by telephone, while the Bloomington district office served 16,903 taxpayers by telephone. This was the highest number of telephone contacts among the district offices, totaling 24-percent of total taxpayer-telephone contacts. The Merrillville district office served a total of 34,292 taxpayers by telephone and walk-in assistance, while Bloomington served 29,563 taxpayers by telephone and walk-in assistance.

Field Auditors Taxpayer Assistance/Special Projects (Exhibit B) provides the number of hours field auditors devoted in the district offices to assist taxpayers and conduct special projects. The exhibit reveals that 3,706 auditor hours were channeled in this direction.

Gross income tax violations

In 2007, the most-violated-gross-income-tax rule is 45 IAC 1.1-2-4. Rule 2-4 defines taxable high-rate income of utilities, display advertising, sale of real estate, rentals and extension of credit. This rule accounted for 25 (or 25 percent) of the violations of gross-income-tax rules in the 2007 study. In 2006, Rule 2-4 accounted for the most violations with 26 (or 17 percent). In 2005, Rule 2-4 accounted for the most violations with 21 (or 14 percent).

Ranking second in gross income tax violations for 2007 were 45 IAC 1.1-2-2 and 45 IAC 1.1-2-5 equally. Rule 2-2 defines taxable low-rate-gross income of retail and wholesale sales, display advertising, dry cleaning and laundry service, rental of water softening equipment, rental of rooms, lodging, booths and similar accommodations and commercial printing. Rule 2-5 defines gross income derived from providing services within Indiana. 20 violations each of Rules 2.2 and 2.5 accounted for 40 percent of all violations of the gross-income-tax rules in the 2007 statistics. In 2006, Rule 2-5 accounted for the second most violations with 19 (or 12 percent). In 2005, Rule 2-2 ranked second accounting for 18 (or 12 percent) violations.

Sales/use tax violations

The most-violated-sales and use-tax rule was 45 IAC 2.2-3-20. Rule 3-20 states that if the seller of tangible-personal property for storage, use or consumption in Indiana fails to collect the appropriate tax, the purchaser of such property must remit tax directly to the Department. This rule produced 860 (or 19 percent) of the sales and use-tax violations in 2007. In 2006, Rule 3-20 accounted for the most violations with 777 (or 18 percent). In 2005, Rule 3-20 accounted for the most violations with 550 (or 17 percent).

The second-most-violated-sales and use-tax rule in 2007 was 45 IAC 2.2-3-4. Rule 3-4 imposes use tax on tangible-personal property, purchased in Indiana, or elsewhere in a retail transaction, and stored, used or otherwise consumed in Indiana unless the Indiana-state-gross-retail tax (sales tax) has been collected at the point of purchase. This rule accounted for 548 (or 12 percent) of sales and use-tax violations. In 2006, Rule 3-4 accounted for the second-most violations with 557 (or 13 percent). In 2005, 45 IAC 2.2-3-4 accounted for the second-most violations with 383 (or 12 percent).

The third-most-violated rule for the 2007 fiscal year was 45 IAC 2.2-5-8. Rule 5-8 clarifies sales and use tax by providing examples of taxable and nontaxable sales of manufacturing machinery, tools and equipment used in direct production and other activities. Failure of taxpayers to comply with this rule accounted for 410 (or 9 percent) of the sales and use-tax violations. In 2006, Rule 5-8 accounted for the third-most violations with 368 (or 9 percent). In 2005, Rule 5-8 also accounted for the third-most violations with 308 (or 9 percent).

Corporate adjusted gross income tax violations

Rule 45 IAC 3.1-1-1 was violated more than any other adjusted-gross-income-tax rule in 2007. Violations of this rule accounted for 168 (or 29 percent) of the total violations in the 2007 study. This rule defines adjusted-gross income for individuals as defined in Section 62 of the Internal Revenue Code. In 2006, Rule 45 IAC 3.1-1-2 accounted for the most violations. This rule defines gross income for Indiana residents filing individual returns as all income defined by Section 61 of the Internal Revenue Code. In 2006, this rule accounted for 82 (or 17 percent) of the violations. In 2005, Rule 1-2 accounted for the most violations with 64 (or 15 percent).

The second-most-violated-adjusted-gross-income rule for 2007 was 45 IAC 3.1-1-2 as defined above. Violations of this rule accounted for 65 or 11 percent of violations. Rules 45 IAC 3.1-1-1 and 45 IAC 3.1-1-97 were equally ranked for second with 68 or 15 percent of the violations in the 2006 study. Rule 1-97 defines withholding agents and their responsibility for remitting tax withheld to Indiana. Rule 1-1 ranked second in the 2005 study accounting for 58 (or 14 percent) of total violations.

The third-most-violated-adjusted-gross-income-tax rule in 2007 was 45 IAC 3.1-1-97. Rule 1-97, defined above, ranked third with 64 (or 11 percent) of the violations in the 2007 study. In 2006, the third most violated adjusted-gross-income-tax rule was 45 IAC 3.1-1-8 as defined above. Violations of this rule accounted for 75 (or 16 percent) of the violations. In 2005, Rule 1-8 accounted for the third most violations with 54 (or 13 percent).

Industry /Business Taxes Most Frequently In Violation

Gross income tax

Taxpayers engaged in information, publishing, telecommunications, finance, rental, insurance, real estate, leasing and professional services group most-frequently violated the gross-income-tax rules for 2007. This group committed 26 violations (or 26 percent) of the total violations. The gross-income-tax rule most-frequently violated by this group of taxpayers is 45 IAC 1.1-2-5, with 9 violations. Rule 2-5 defines services.

The second-largest number of gross-income-tax violations was committed by taxpayers engaged in manufacturing. This group committed 20 violations (or 20 percent) of the total violations for 2007. The most-frequently-violated rules of this group were 45 IAC 1.1-2-2 and 45 IAC 1.1-2-5 (5 violations each). Rule 2-2 defines low-rate income and Rule 2-5 defines service income.

Sales and use tax

For the 2007 reporting period, wholesale, retail and transportation businesses accounted for the most violations. They accounted for 1,175 violations (or 26 percent) of the total sales and use-tax violations. The most-violated rule by these taxpayers was 45 IAC 2.2-3-20 that states if a seller of tangible personal property for storage, use or consumption in Indiana fails to collect the appropriate tax, the purchaser of such property must remit tax directly to the Department.

Manufacturing had the second-most frequency of violations for the 2007 sales and use tax rules. It accounted for 803 of the violations committed, which represented 17 percent of all sales and use tax violations. The rule most frequently violated by this group was 45 IAC 2.2-5-8, which defines the application of sale and use tax to sales of machinery, tools and equipment used in manufacturing.

Adjusted gross income tax

Public transportation with 226 violations was the most-frequent violator of adjusted-gross-income-tax rules. This figure represents 39 percent of the total adjusted-gross-income-tax violations. Adjusted-gross income for individuals, defined by 45 IAC 3.1-1-1, accounted for the most violations in this class.

Manufacturing had the second most frequency of violations for the 2007 adjusted-gross-income-tax rules. It accounted for 79 of the violations committed, which represented 13 percent of all adjusted-gross-income-tax violations. The rule most frequently violated by this group was 45 IAC 3.1-1-97, which defines withholding agents and their responsibility for remitting tax withheld to Indiana.

Special tax violations

Exhibit G provides the special tax assessments and refunds by citation.

Article VIII (citation R800 on Exhibit G) of the International Fuel Tax Agreement (IFTA) was the most frequently violated special tax item in the study. It specifies the taxable event is the consumption of motor fuels in the propulsion of qualified-motor vehicles, except fuel consumed that is exempt from taxation by a jurisdiction. All motor fuel acquired that is normally subject to consumption tax is taxable unless the licensee provides proof to the contrary. Article VIII was violated 264 times and yielded $422,963 in net assessments for the state of Indiana. This represents 27 percent of total violations and 24 percent of net assessments. Article VIII was the most-violated special-tax citation in the 2006 and 2005 studies. The 2006 study had 296 violations ($850,736 net assessments) and 2005 had 235 violations ($327,854 net assessments).

Article X (citation R1000 on Exhibit G) of the IFTA was the second-most-violated section of the special-tax statutes. This Article discusses how taxpayers can obtain credit for tax previously paid on purchases of fuel at the pump. It also lists the records needed to substantiate the refund request. This article was violated 280 times accounting for 25.16 percent of the total violations. These violations resulted in net refunds of $306,823. Article X had the second-most-violations in the 2006 and 2005 special-tax citations. The 2006 study showed 280 violations with $306,823 net refunds, while 2005 showed 221 violations with $162,948 net assessments.

The taxpayer group most frequently in violation of the special-tax statutes and IFTA Articles for 2007 was the wholesale, retail and transportation industries. This group committed 791 violations, accounting for 79 percent of the total violations. Article VIII of the IFTA was most frequently violated by the wholesale, retail and transportation industries. The 2006 statistics showed the wholesale, retail and transportation industries with the most violations, 810 total. The 2005 statistics showed the repair, personal and other services industries with the most violations, 432 total.

Miscellaneous code violations

Exhibit F provides the assessment amounts for the following:

- Financial Institutions Tax
- Tax Administration
- Food and Beverage Tax
- Innkeeper's Tax
- Charity Gaming

A review of the miscellaneous-code-violations data reveals that IC 6-6-9 was violated 75, (39 percent) times in the 2007 study. These violations yielded $466,266 in net assessments. IC 6-6-9 discusses the auto rental excise tax. In the 2006 study, 45 IAC 15-5-1, which discusses issuing notices of assessment, produced 18 violations or 14 percent, of all miscellaneous-code violations. In the 2005 study, 45 IAC 15-9-2, which discusses statute of limitations for refunds, produced 12 (or 14.63 percent) of the violations.

Two miscellaneous code sections were the second-most-violated sections in 2007. These were IC 6-2.3-1-6 and IC 6-2.3-2-1 both which cover utility receipts tax. These two code sections yielded 18 code violations (or 9 percent) resulting in $332,180 in net assessments. 45 IAC 15-4-1 was the second-most-violated rule in

Heather Murrell

Field Investigator Heather Murrell took the initiative in 2006 to assume the additional job duties of two colleagues who were on medical leave. Her efforts also allowed taxpayers to continue to receive efficient service in light of the situation.

this category in 2006. It yielded a total of $195,690 in assessments. Rule 4-1 discusses access to records for examination. Eleven rule violations accounted for 8.59 percent of the total violations in this category. Rule 4-1 was the second-most-violated-miscellaneous rule in the 2005 study accounting for $47,384 in net refunds. The wholesale, retail and transportation industries committed the most-miscellaneous-code violations in 2007 with 88 (or 45 percent). The information, publishing, telecommunications, finance, rental, insurance, real estate, leasing and professional services industries committed the second-most-miscellaneous-code violations in 2007 with 49 (or 25 percent).

The arts, entertainment, recreation, food service and accommodation industries committed the most violations under the miscellaneous citations in 2006 with 28 (or 22 percent). The industry ranked second for the 2006 study was the information, publishing, telecommunications, finance, rental, insurance, real estate, leasing and professional services industries with 26 (or 20 percent) of the violations.

Number of years in the audit period

The audit period averages three years.

Use of Professional Tax Preparation Assistance

The services of professional preparers were used in the preparation of approximately 76 percent of the corporate income tax returns and approximately 12 percent of the sales tax returns. Statistics show that approximately 27 percent of individuals use a professional preparer to complete the returns.

Filing of Appropriate Tax Returns

Rule 45 IAC 3.1-1-92 (Exhibit E) requires qualifying corporations to make estimated tax payments. Taxpayers in violation of this rule either failed to file estimated income tax returns or failed to remit the appropriate amount of tax. For the fiscal years ending in 2004, 2005 and 2006, no activity was recorded. For 2007, assessments and collections resulted in $669,788 in base taxes. The 2003 study indicated eight violations of this rule, resulting in assessments in the amount of $12,863 and refunds totaling $110,617.

Indiana Code 6-8.1-10-2.1 (Exhibit F) revealed no violations during the 2006 study period. Violations in FY 2007 totaled 341, with total penalties of $60,893. This section specifies the penalty to be imposed if a taxpayer fails to file an appropriate return or pay the full amount of tax due. Violations of this section in the 2005 and 2004 studies were zero.

The term includes a transmission in which computer processing applications are used to act on the form, code, or protocol of the content for purposes of transmission regardless of whether the service is referred to as voice over internet protocol services, or is classified by the FCC as enhanced or value added. The term does not include:

She balanced her current workload along with taking on this special project, and spent more than 200 additional hours outside of regular business hours producing the necessary reports needed to verify accuracy.

that is not regularly traded on an established securities market, and in which more than 50% of the voting power or shares are owned or controlled by a single entity.

A qualified patent is a utility patent or a plant patent issued after December 31, 2007 for an invention resulting from a development process conducted in Indiana. The term does not include a design patent. A qualified taxpayer is an individual or corporation with less than 500 employees, or a nonprofit organization, and is domiciled in Indiana. The exemption from income includes licensing fees or other income received for the use of the patent, royalties received for the infringement, receipts from the sale of a qualified patent, or income from the taxpayer's own use of the patent to produce the claimed invention. The total amount of exemptions claimed by a taxpayer in a taxable year may not exceed $5,000,000. The exemption may not be claimed for more than 10 years. For the first 5 years, 50% of the amount of income received from the patent is exempt, and the percentage declines by 10% each year starting in the sixth year that the exemption is claimed. The taxpayer is required to claim the exemption on the qualified taxpayer's state tax return, and shall submit all information that the Department determines is necessary for the determination of the exemption. Annually by December 1, the Department shall provide an evaluation report to the legislative council, the budget committee, and the Indiana economic development corporation indicating the number of taxpayers claiming the exemption, the total of all exemptions claimed, and the North American Industry Classification System code for each taxpayer claiming the exemption including the number of patents for which an exemption was claimed.

The amount that the taxpayer must repay is the lesser of 20% of the total amount of the non-qualified withdrawals made during the taxable year from the account, or the excess of the amount of all credits provided that are claimed by a taxpayer with respect to the taxpayer's contributions to the account for all taxable years beginning after December 31, 2006. Any required repayment will be made on the account owner's annual income tax return for any taxable year in which a non-qualified withdrawal is made.

IC 6-3-4-4.1 (December 16, 2007) provides that if an individual's annual unpaid liability is less than $1,000, the taxpayer is not required to file quarterly estimated payments. The previous amount was $400. A corporation for taxable years beginning after December 15, 2007, is not required to file quarterly estimated payments if its annual unpaid liability is less than $2,500. The previous limitation was $1,000. Corporations required to make quarterly estimated payments are permitted to use the annualized income installment method calculated in the manner provided by Section 6655(e) of the Internal Revenue Code as applied to the corporation's adjusted gross income tax liability. This section also reduces the filing threshold for EFT payments for corporate estimated taxes from $10,000 to $5,000.

This section also provides that the nonresident is not prohibited from being part of the composite return if they have other income from Indiana.

IC 6-3-4-13 (January 1, 2008) requires S corporations that have nonresident shareholders to file a composite return for all nonresident shareholders, and includes the nonresident shareholder even if a nonresident shareholder has other income from Indiana.

Tax Credits

IC 6-3.1-1-3 (January 1, 2007 - Retroactive) adds the Hoosier alternative fuel vehicle manufacturer tax credit to the list of credits where the taxpayer cannot claim multiple tax credits for the same project.

IC 6-3.1-13-27 (July 1, 2007) changes an internal reference within the EDGE tax credit.

IC 6-3.1-24-9 (July 1, 2007) provides that a person providing qualified investment capital may claim the venture capital investment tax credit for investments made before January 1, 2013. The previous law required the investment to be made before January 1, 2009.

IC 6-3.1-27-9.5 (January 1, 2008) provides that the credit created for cellulosic ethanol is not included in the $50,000,000 cap for biodiesel production and blending, and for ethanol production.

IC 6-3.1-28-11 (January 1, 2008) defines the term cellulosic ethanol. This section creates a new tax credit to provide $20,000,000 for all taxable years for all taxpayers a credit for a taxpayer who produces at least 20,000,000 gallons of cellulosic ethanol in a taxable year. The credit may only be applied against the state tax liability attributable to business activity taking place at the Indiana facility at which the cellulosic ethanol was produced.

IC 6-3.1-29-6 (Upon Passage) provides that the coal gasification tax credit includes a facility that is located in Indiana and that converts coal into synthesis gas that can be used as a substitute for natural gas.

IC 6-3.1-29-15 (Upon Passage) provides that the coal gasification tax credit will be awarded for the development of a facility that will serve gas utility consumers, in addition to electric utility consumers that are already allowed for in the statute.

IC 6-3.1-29-20.5 (Upon Passage) provides that all or part of the integrated coal gasification power plant tax credit that a taxpayer is entitled to is assignable to one or more utilities if the assignment has been approved by the utility regulatory commission, and provides for the purchase of electricity or substitute natural gas by the utility from the taxpayer. If the credit is assigned, it must be taken in twenty annual installments. The total amount of credit that may be assigned is the total credit awarded divided by twenty and then multiplied by the percentage of Indiana coal used in the taxpayer's integrated coal gasification power plant.

IC 6-3.1-31 (January 1, 2007 - Retroactive) creates a new tax credit for offering health benefit plans. An employer that did not provide health insurance to his employees prior to January 1, 2007 and makes health insurance available to the employees is entitled to a credit for the first two years in which the taxpayer makes the plan available if the employer provides that participation is at the employee's election, and the employee may have the premiums withheld from his paycheck. The amount of the credit is the lesser of $2,500 or $50 multiplied by the number of employees enrolled in the health benefit plan. A taxpayer will claim the credit on the taxpayer's state tax return, and is required to make health insurance available to the employer's employees for at least two years after the taxable year the employer first offers the health benefit plan.

A small employer is an employer that is actively engaged in business, and has at least two but not more than 100 eligible employees with a majority of them working in Indiana. A small employer is entitled to a tax credit equal to 50% of the costs incurred by the taxpayer during the taxable year for providing a qualified wellness program for the employer's employees during the taxable year. The credit can be carried forward but cannot be carried back or refunded. To receive the credit the employer must provide a copy of the certificate received from the state department of health and claim the credit on the taxpayer's state income tax return. Beginning in 2009 and each odd numbered year thereafter, the Department shall report to the legislative council concerning the use of the credit, and will indicate the number of taxpayers claiming and receiving the credit, reports of abuse of the credit and any other information concerning the use and effectiveness of the credit.

IC 6-3.1-31.5 (January 1, 2008) creates a tax credit equal to the lesser of 20% of the amount of expenditures on energy star heating and cooling equipment incurred by the taxpayer in a taxable year, or $100. A pass through entity is eligible for the credit, and the credit may not exceed the taxpayer's tax liability. There is no carry back, carry forward, or refund of any unused credit. The total amount of tax credits may not exceed $1,000,000 in a state fiscal year.

IC 6-3.1-31.5-13 (January 1, 2008) provides that the energy savings tax credit for energy star heating and cooling equipment may not be awarded to a taxpayer for taxable years beginning after December 31, 2010.

IC 6-3.1-31.9 (January 1, 2007 - Retroactive) creates the Hoosier alternative fuel vehicle manufacturer tax credit. There is a new tax credit that provides an income tax credit of up to 15% of the qualified investment. A qualified investment includes the purchase of new equipment used for telecommunications, production, manufacturing, fabrication, assembly, finishing, distribution, transportation, or logistical distribution equipment. The term also includes computer equipment, costs associated with modernization of equipment and facilities, onsite infrastructure improvements, construction of new manufacturing facilities, retooling existing machinery and equipment, and costs associated with the construction of special purpose buildings that are certified by the Indiana economic development corporation (IEDC) as being eligible for the credit. An alternative fuel vehicle is any vehicle designed to operate using methanol, denatured ethanol, E85, natural gas, liquefied petroleum gas, hydrogen, coal derived liquid fuels, non alcohol fuels derived from biological material, P-Series fuels, or electricity. The IEDC may make credit awards to foster job creation, reduce dependency on foreign oil, and reduce air pollution. A taxpayer may carry forward an unused credit for nine years. A person that proposes a project to manufacture or assemble alternative fuel vehicles may apply to the IEDC before the qualified investment is made. After receipt of the application, the IEDC may enter into an agreement with the applicant. A taxpayer claiming the credit is required to submit a copy of the certificate of verification from the IEDC. If a taxpayer does not comply with the agreement, the Department after notification from the IEDC may make an assessment against the taxpayer up to the amount of previously allowed credits. The IEDC may not award any credits for qualified investments made after December 31, 2012

Taxpayer Service and Education

The Department conducts workshops and seminars throughout the year for various segments of the public. Several seminars are offered to Indiana tax professionals on subjects such as Federal/State e-File and for Purdue and Indiana universities' annual tax schools.

The Department also provides information and tax-training handbooks to Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) volunteers and other groups that provide free tax preparation for disabled and low to moderate-income taxpayers. The materials and instructional seminars cover changes in tax legislation and policies. In addition, workshops are conducted specifically for new and small businesses on topics such as sales and use tax, and about how to get started on the right track with the Indiana Department of Revenue, among other important topics.

Seeking taxpayer input on a mass scale is important for gathering feedback that can be generalized to the larger taxpayer population. The Department continues to seek taxpayer input through surveys, focus groups, Web feedback e-mail and the Department's annual meeting in June.

In addition, the Department's taxpayer services division, alone, assisted the following numbers of taxpayers in FY 2007:

- Telephone Calls: 650,662
