Gas Tax Holiday

On Sept. 30, 2026, Gov. Mike Braun updated his latest energy emergency declaration and extended the suspension of the collection of Gas Use Tax and Gasoline Excise Tax. In accordance with that executive order, the Indiana Department of Revenue (DOR) won't collect Gas Use Tax or Gasoline Excise Tax from Aug. 7 through Nov. 4, 2026. This suspension of tax runs consecutively with the suspension under Governor Braun's previous executive orders.

Note: Separately, Governor Braun also issued an executive order suspending special fuel restrictions for dyed diesel. Farmers and timber harvesters will now be able to use dyed diesel in any vehicles for hauling farm and timber products on Indiana roads beginning Sept. 30, 2026, through the duration of the energy emergency. The suspension of the dyed diesel restrictions only pertains to farmers and timber harvesters.

More information for consumers, distributors, and retailers is available on the Gasoline Tax webpage.

Indiana storm victims receive tax relief

Some corporate and nonprofit organizations in Indiana have been granted an extension to file their business tax returns due to the severity of storms that began on Aug. 11, 2026. The timeline for returns and payments due by Oct. 15, 2026, has been extended until Feb. 1, 2027. The IRS and DOR are offering tax filing extensions to any area designated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency.

The affected counties include:

State filing extension due Nov. 16

The last quarter of the year is on the horizon. If you requested an extension of time to file your Individual Income Taxes for 2025, the deadline is Nov. 16.

If you were granted a federal extension of time to file (Oct. 15), you were automatically granted an extension of time to file with Indiana. It's important to file on time to avoid late filing penalties. Visit our webpage for more information.
