SUBJECT: Standard Specification Section 213.07
Construction Activities With Vibratory Compaction After Backfill

During production of the 2012 Standard Specifications, a printing error occurred.

Please note that Standard Specifications section 213.07, on line 149, should read as follows:

Construction Activities With Vibratory Compaction After Backfill12

The correct number of blow counts should be 12, not 2 as is currently shown. For any projects affected by this error, personnel should use the correct blow count. Any questions concerning this issue should be directed to the Division of Construction Management.

The above editorial revision will be incorporated into the 2014 Standard Specifications.
