Supervised Group Living is a form of living arrangement where adults with disabilities live together in a group setting with the supervision of staff. SGL programs are designed for adults who require assistance with daily living skills and who may benefit from a structured, supportive environment.

Supervised Group Living is a valuable tool for individuals with disabilities, providing them with the opportunity to live independently while receiving the support they need. The programs are designed to accommodate the needs of each individual, ensuring that they receive the care they require.
