Position announcement: Director of Home and Community-Based Services

Are you excited about the state's current waiver redesign project and other systems change activities within the Bureau of Developmental Disabilities Services? If so, you may want to consider joining our team as the director of home- and community-based services programs.

The Division of Disability and Rehabilitative Services Bureau of Developmental Disabilities Services is engaged in a significant, transformative change initiative of its Medicaid Home- and Community-Based Services waivers for individuals with intellectual and/or developmental disabilities. This initiative leverages and builds on BDDS' broader efforts to apply the LifeCourse philosophical framework throughout its operations and the overall system of services and supports to better reflect the needs and wants of stakeholders. The director of HCBS programs position plays a pivotal role in helping lead the BDDS waiver redesign.

BDDS is looking for a like-minded, motivated individual to further the vision of this project and operationalize new waiver structures and services in Indiana. The director of HCBS programs will have the opportunity to engage directly with BDDS partners, family and individual stakeholders, providers, and other critical stakeholders about the waiver redesign and ensure they are appropriately educated and informed about the waiver redesign. The director of HCBS will also coordinate ongoing processes associated with HCBS waiver administration.

Minimum requirements for this position include:

- A master's degree is preferred, however candidates with extensive Medicaid and HCBS waiver program knowledge may have the requisite knowledge and experience to qualify.JG
- In addition, the director of HCBS should have a minimum of two years' supervisory experience managing staff working in a human relations, health policy or relevant field.
- The director of HCBS should have a minimum of seven years full-time professional experience in program coordination, project management, development, implementation or related experience.

Salary is negotiable based on experience. For more information and to apply please visit <https://workforindiana.in.gov/>, click 'search all careers' and enter 'Director of Home and Community-Based Services.'
