Re: Complimentary training opportunity: The CMS HCBS Rule: It's All About the Person

Date: May 28, 2019

The Division of Disability and Rehabilitative Services, in collaboration with The Arc of Indiana and INARF, is pleased to present, on June 26, 2019, The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services Home and Community-Based Services Rule: It's All About the Person training, featuring Dr. Laura Brackin, Ph.D., president/chief executive officer, Brackin and Associates. This training is designed to provide an overview of the most important components of the CMS HCBS Rule and share strategies providers and case managers can use to embrace the CMS HCBS Rule through opportunities for meaningful experiences, community engagement, and innovative person-centered supports for individuals pursuing their vision of a good life. Dr. Brackin will guide participants through examples and hands-on exercises to demonstrate practical application of concepts in day-to-day supports and programs.

Participants will learn:

- Review of the most important parts of the CMS HCBS Rule
- Common themes and strategies of providers and case managers who have embraced the HCBS Rule
- Examples of what person-centered thinking and services look like (and what they don't look like)
- How to offer choice while mitigating risk
- The definition and purpose of community engagement and "meaningful" day
- How individual interests should be used to create meaningful community connections
