Governor’s Workforce Cabinet Releases Indiana’s Strategic Workforce Plan

(INDIANAPOLIS) — The Governor’s Workforce Cabinet has released Indiana’s Strategic Workforce Plan, A Better Future for Every Hoosier, following a unanimous approval vote at today’s Cabinet meeting. The Plan focuses on ensuring all Hoosiers have equitable opportunities for lifelong learning, increasing personal economic mobility and providing employers the talent to grow and diversify their workforce.

A Better Future for Every Hoosier is Indiana’s first coordinated Strategic Plan for a talent development system aligning early learning, K-12 education, postsecondary education and workforce training. It will be submitted as Indiana’s federal Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) plan by April 1, and the Governor’s Workforce Cabinet built it to serve as Indiana’s guiding document for action over the next five years.

“A Better Future for Every Hoosier represents a collaborative effort among business leaders, lawmakers, state agencies and educators, as well as nonprofit and private partners, to better serve all Hoosiers and provide equitable opportunities for education and training, employment and ultimately upward economic mobility,” said Governor’s Workforce Cabinet Executive Director P.J. McGrew. “We are committed to continuing work with all stakeholders to implement this Plan and see positive outcomes for all Hoosiers as a result.”

The Plan prioritizes shifting the conversation around talent development from programs to people through a unique, innovative approach that centers the needs of identified target populations. Target populations included in the Plan represent groups of Hoosiers who have been identified as needing additional supports from the workforce and social services systems. This human-centered approach allows for the Plan’s strategies to be specific to the needs of each selected target population.

Strategies for Success

Five comprehensive strategies are embedded throughout the plan to improve an individual’s experience interacting with the talent development system and ensure Indiana is maximizing the impact of state and federal investments:
• Data sharing – Improving data sharing will allow for better understanding of who the state serves, where they are being served and how the state serves them.

• Co-enrollment – This strategy will ensure all Hoosiers are served holistically with a data-informed package of services that work together to meet their unique needs.

• Co-location – The plan identifies a number of different ways for entities to improve customer service by strategically locating staff in ways that break down barriers for individuals when they access state services.

• Cross-training – To effectively implement other strategies, the plan recognizes the importance of increasing state, local and front-line staff knowledge of programs and resources across Indiana’s talent development system to better serve Hoosiers.

• Employer engagement – The plan calls for sharing information with Hoosier businesses about the benefits of Indiana’s talent development system and encouraging them to engage with key populations.

Numerous other targeted strategies are included in the Plan to assist individuals, employers, state agencies and other stakeholders who interact with the talent development system as a user or provider of services.

Measuring Progress

A critical component of A Better Future for Every Hoosier is measuring the state’s progress across the talent development system. The Plan indicates a number of different metrics that the Cabinet will be tracking with assistance from other state agencies. The metrics are organized around four themes:

1. Economic Impact
2. Employment Metrics
3. Educational Attainment
4. Student Engagement and Career Preparation

A Better Future for Every Hoosier will now be submitted to the U.S. Department of Labor and US Department of Education in advance of the April 1 submission deadline and can begin to be implemented once federal approval is received.
