QMA Testing Update from Ivy Tech Community College

As of Monday, April 18, all QMA and QMA Insulin exams are exclusively administered electronically at Ivy Tech Community College Testing Centers.

Applications and payments will be processed by the office and, upon validation, candidates will immediately receive an email with instructions on how to schedule an appointment at the Ivy Tech campus of their choice for QMA and QMA Insulin exams.

Facilities that already have testing dates on the schedule as of April 14 that include QMA or QMA Insulin exams will administer the exams at the facility unless requested by the facility to move those candidates to this model ahead of the facility testing date.

Retakes: QMA and QMA Insulin individual retest requests will be processed and routed directly to the testing centers for scheduling. QMA and QMA Insulin retest requests submitted as part of a CNA group testing scheduled at a facility will be processed and scheduled as part of the group.

CNA and QMA testing has moved within Ivy Tech Community College from Health Sciences to Statewide Testing Services. You may contact Brian Hamilton, Director of Statewide Testing Services, at bhamilto@ivytech.edu.
