The family brought the video in and the HWD reviewed it. In the video, CNA 1 was observed entering the resident's room while the resident was in the shower. CNA 1 went through the resident's purse and removed some cash. She held the cash in her hand and flipped through it, as if she were counting it, flicking some bills to the floor in the process. She placed the money remaining in her hand back in to the resident's purse. She then picked up the cash from the floor and turned to exit the room. Prior to exiting the room, she had looked around and noticed the video monitoring device in the room. She looked out in to the hallway and then returned to the room. She went back to the resident's purse and appeared to place the money back in the purse. The resident and her family were unable to verify how much cash was in the resident's purse prior to the incident and the HWD was therefore unable to confirm if any money was actually taken by CNA 1. The HWD had interviewed CNA 1, and the CNA denied any knowledge of the incident and resigned from her position.
